THEY CENSURE RABBI ABBEY

Members of Congregation Condemn Attack on Dr. Wise.

The great mass of the membership of the different Hebrew congregations in this city resent the attack made last Friday night in the Nevah Zedeck Talmud Torah building on Sixth and Hall streets, by Rev. Adolph Abbey against Dr. Stephen S. Wise, pastor of the Temple Beth Israel. It now appears that Rabbi Abbey's words of censure were listened to with ill-concealed displeasure by the congregation present, and that he escaped in time from the church to save himself from assault.

Dr. Wise is charged with killing a Socialist during the disturbances here in December last.

Dr. J. Shapo, who recently arrived from Chicago, was present. Rabbi Abbey asked permission of the officers to say a few words to the congregation before he left. But we refused, as he is a man who stirs up trouble and indulges in too much personality when he preaches. In spite of all we could do to prevent him, Rabbi Abbey gave an address bristling with abuse and personalities, and abusing Dr. S. S. Wise, our very good friend. We hold Dr. Wise in the very highest respect. Well, our people were very indignant at Rabbi Abbey, and if the address had not been delivered in church, some of those present would certainly have ejected Abbey from the place. But we hold our church too sacred for a disturbance. As a matter of fact, Abbey rushed from the church as soon as he had delivered his discourse, and we could not find him. He saved himself from harm. We questioned the truth of what he said, and his opinion are certainly not ours. Yes, we are glad to have a good friend, but we understand he is to study law. Our new rabbi, Dr. Shapo, has made an excellent impression. He is about 25 years old, was born in Russia and has been in Chicago about three years before he came to this city.

When one of Rabbi Abbey's friends was told what was stated in the foregoing interview, this friend said: "Rabbi Abbey cannot be seen tonight. He is glad he is rid of the Nevah Zedeck congregation. Now he will have peace. He is a man who is misunderstood."

GOSE TRAP-DOORS

Court Will Enforce Sidewalk Ordinances.

CASES BEFORE JUDGE HOGUE

Proprietors of Several Businesses Declare That They Will Be Unable to Conduct Them and Comply With the Law.

Strict enforcement of the city ordinance governing streets and sidewalks is the subject because of the case of Joseph A. Hogue, proprietor of the Dirigo saloon, Seventh and Washington streets. He was before the court on a charge of keeping the trapdoor to his basement, on some, it may even drive some out of business in certain quarters, but, he said, civic improvement demands that it be observed.

Judge Hogue was moved to his statements because of the case of Joseph A. Sears, proprietor of the Dirigo saloon, Seventh and Washington streets. He was before the court on a charge of keeping the trapdoor to his basement, on some, it may even drive some out of business in certain quarters, but, he said, civic improvement demands that it be observed.

"Your Honor," said Sears, "if I cannot have those doors open I will have to go out of business. I have to serve lunch out through them as there is no way to get into the basement on the inside. I have had the doors open, it is true, but I must have them open, in order to do business."

"There are no exceptions in the ordinance," Mr. Sears' was the reply of Judge Hogue. "It doesn't specify any particular business, and it doesn't mean, and that is what it means. I do not make the laws, but I am on this bench to pass judgment upon them, and when I find a man guilty I have to act in accordance with the law."

"Why can't you have stairs cut into your basement from the inside?" asked Attorney Crouch.

"Well, I can't get it done," said Sears. "Then you had better rent another place," suggested Crouch.

Judge Hogue finally advised Sears to employ an attorney to have the case for him, inasmuch as it so deeply involves his business interests, and the case was continued until Wednesday.

E. B. Jayne was charged with a violation of the ordinance, it being alleged by the prosecution, and admitted by him, that he left a pile of gravel and tar-paper in front of a new building at Fifth and Stark streets. An effort was made to shift the blame to a man who was said to have been engaged to clear the street, but Judge Hogue said he must hold control of the sidewalk, and the defendant $5. The minimum penalty was imposed, as it was shown that since his arrest Jayne caused the debris to be hauled away.

H. F. Rittman, who was arrested by Mounted Patrolman Croxford, explained that he thought as long as it was necessary for him to use the sidewalk on the sidewalk, he was entitled to do so. He runs a bakery at Russell street and Mississippi avenue and said he used the door as a great deal. His case, however, being agreed he must keep the doors closed.
