MARSHALL HOLDS THE FORT

Ex-Schoolteacher and Two Male Companions Leave Choice Claim on Armed Orders of Alleged Subordinate of Kribs.

STEVENSON, Wash., April 22 .- (Special.)-Wnen Edward Marshall raised his trusty Winchester to his shoulder. leveled it at the heads of Miss Birdle McCarty and George Howland, driving them from a cabin claimed by himself and them on a "squatter's" section in the Big Basin, he little dreamed he would be arrested and placed under bonds to keep the peace. This was what followed his sensational caper, for immediately upon the return of the couple to this place, they secured a warrant for the arrest of Marshall. He was before Judge Carr today, and was held under bonds of $300.

Marshall is in possession of the cabin, and says he will put up a fight for the claim as well. For a long time there has been had blood between him and the other claimants, and it has been expected for weeks that trouble would be the outcome.

Marshall is said to be holding the claim under instructions from Frederick A. Kribs, of land fraud fame at Portland. This and other land in the Big Basin is to be opened for settle-ment in 60 days, and intense feeling prevails. The sections are choice ones. being valuable for timber and home-

Yesterday Miss Birdie McCarty, ac-companied by Howland and another man, went to the cabin claimed by them and Marshall. The latter was found to be in possession. He appeared at the door of the little log hut, and was in a surly mood when he caught sight of his opponents.

Words passed between Marshall and the visitors, and Marshall hald hold of his rifle. He raised it to his shoulder and, it is alleged, pulled back the trig-ger. He ordered the trio off the claim. threatening them with instant death if they tarried. They went, returning to this place, where they secured a warrant for Marshall's arrest.

Birdle McCarty is well known in Portland: Several months ago, she was prominently before the public in the role of prosecutrix. She charged J. D. Heryford, a wealthy cattleman, with breach of promise. A sensational case was made out in court, and she was awarded large damages by a jury in the Federal Court. Judge C. B. Bellinger rederal Court. Judge C. B. Bellinger later cut down the sum, stating the amount given her by the jury was excessive. She accepted his decision. She was a school teacher.

FIRE CAME FROM SLASHING

Clackamas Farmer Must Pay for Damage to His Neighbors.

OREGON CITY, Or., April 22.-(Special.) -In returning a verdict for $350 for the plaintiff in the State Circuit Court here today in the case of Lucy A. Cubbage vs. Michael Keisecker, a jury holds that a settler shall be held responsible for dam-ages resulting to other property by reason of the setting out of a fire which is ne-glected and spreads to adjoining prop-erty. This is the first trial of the kind that has been held in this county. It was stubbornly contested by both sides, and its consideration occupied two days

The fire complained of was started last August, plaintiff alleging that the defend-ant neglected to properly guard the same, and because of which it spread to plaintiff's premises and destroyed her home and outbuildings, together with growing ness that the alleged farmer was absent from that part of the county at the time of the destructive fire. The scene of the fire was at Dover. A similar sult, in which another farmer's property was also destroyed by the same fire, is pending against Keisecker, in which $500 damages are also asked. It is likely that the case decided today will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Attempt at Hold-Up at San Francisco

Results in Murder. SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.-(Spe ial.)-A hold-up and desperate buttle in the grocery saloon of John C. Brutt, on the corner of Second and Brannan streets, in which Thomas Reilly, an innocent customer of the house, was killed, was the culmination of a reign of terror that has awen over the immediate neighborhood with-in the last month. Three hold-ups, one death and a number of small robberies is the record for 30 days, in which the criminals have worked ever bolder and polder, to the point of taking human

All the customers of Brutt's saloon had departed and the proprietor was about to close up, when a man wearing a slouch hat and a black silk handkerchief over the lower part of his face entered.

He was surprised to discover that there was another fusillade coming through the bamboo swinging door leading into the grocery and then he heard Reilly drop and the man ran through the grocery and into the street, presumably with his ally. Brutt says he fired twice, though there are three empty shells in his re-volver, and the robbers three times. There was not a word spoken during the encounter and only the sharp re-ports and the crash of a broken door behind the bar. When Brutt raised himself from be hind the bar after the robbers had left, he saw Reilly lying face down-ward on the floor as he rushed through into the store to sound his police whis-tie. When he came back into the saloon again Reilly was dying, one bullet through his breast about two inches above the nipple and with another bullet wound in his mouth. He expired ten minutes later, and it is not known yet whether he was killed accidentally with a stray shot from Brutt's revolver, in which line of fire he was, or whether he was shot in cold blood by one of the footpads.

The autopsy held this morning leaves the question still in doubt, for the bullet extracted from his chest was a 38-caliber from a Smith & Wesson shell. Plan Is Declared Illegal.

OLYMPIA. Wash., April 32 -- (Special.)-The scope of the new law prohibiting life insurance companies giv-ing rebates to other than authorized agents was the subject of an opinion prepared in the Attorney-General sof-fice today. The Attorney-General solds that the "advisory commission" plan, as heretofore presented by some life insurance companies, would be contrary to the law. This plan is the offering to prominent individuals in each town, as an inducement to sell them insur-ance, an appointment on a district or city advisory board, which is supposed to be called upon to advise the company as to future risks.

The plan is to give the members of this board a commission on future business in that locality, which commissions are credited on their premiums.

Japanese Are Not Welcome.

UKIAH. Cal., April 22—(Special)—The white population of Round Valley was thrown into a fearful state of excitement last week by the importation of a crew of Japanese by the American Hop & Bar-ley Company to work in its fields, and a petition was quickly circulated asking the company to discharge the Orientals. As the petition received no attention, a mass meeting was called to rid the valley of cheap labor, and committees were ap-pointed to take such steps as should be icemed necessary.

The manager of the company concluded that it was time to do something and that it was time to do something and averted the trouble by discharging the Japanese. They landed in this city today.
