"When I release these defendants." remarked Judge Hogue, "I want it understood that in the future severs punishment shall be meted out to violators of this law. This will let the public know that people must purchase their own theater tickets; that they cannot employ any person to do it for them, as that would be a violation of the law."

"I won't permit any man to come into my office and tell me I'm a criminal," said G. W. Collins, manager for the Almsely Mills, when he appeared before Judge Hogue yesterday morning, charged with obstructing streets at Fifteenth and Outside

They were seen later in their parlors at the Hobart Curtis, and one is immediately impressed by their earnest-ness, seal and ability to discuss public questions. Mrs. Stevens is a Maine woman, is enthusiastic when she speaks of pro-hibition in her mative state, and has been president of the National W. C. T. U. since 1897. Miss Gordon's specialty is cause we believe canteens worked unspeakable harm to our soldlers. It placed them amid temptation. Let army officers object to what has been accomplished by law in this matter—but are army officers who drink liquor competent judges? Why should mothers not be more competent than they, women who have had real experience in training their sons? Give the anti-canteen law a sone? Give the anti-canteen law a fair trial before condemning it, and watch results. About prohibition in Maine? Well, prohibition does prohibit, just as as the law against stealing deters those who would steal. Maine is prosper-ous under prohibition, and we have more money in our banks than states possessing great population. We don't spend our money on the saloon, but we deposit it in banks. This Portland of yours is a beautiful city from the scenic point of view, but it would be more beautiful still were there no liquor saloons in it. Before I left home I entertained a woman friend from Chicago, and after driving her about my Portland, she said: I envy you your town. I'm a mother and on. money in our banks than states possessyou your town. I'm a mother, and on thinking about my boys I wish we lived here where there are no saloons, and where we don't see drunkards. I live, as ou know, in Chicago. Yes, it is possible o prosper under prohibition."

City Offenders Before Municipal Judge Hogue.

Scalping of theater tickets is under the afford to pay $100 a quarter for a license such person cannot deal in tickets as a speculation. Such is the order of Mu-nicipal Judge Hogue, delivered during yesterday's session of the court, when the cases of Fred and Sam Goldberg and prisoners before Judge Hogue.

Abe Levitch were decided. The Goldberg boys, charged with "scalping," came into court yesterday and ecaiding, came into court yesterony and entered a pien of guility, through A Walter Wolfe, their counsel. They were released upon their promise never to repeat what occurred during a scramble for seats at the Marquam Grand, when "The Red Feather" was selling. A fight ensued which landed the Goldbergs, Levitch and Sam and Harry Lappmann as prisoners before Judge Hogue.

The Lappmann boys falled to return to court one week ago yesterday, as they were ordered to do, and when they apwere ordered to do, and when they appeared before Judge Hogue this time they faced charges themselves of selling tickets without a license. When questioned by Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald, they said they remained away from court because told to do so by their father, who was ill. Their cases were continued one week, at which time their father will be

"Well, Harry," said Collins, "that is just the truth of the matter—we've got to use the streets or quit."

The reference to Judge Hogue as "Harry" caused a laugh in the courtroom, in which event the court indulged.
"How would it do for you to engage a lawyer and ascertain what is legal for you to do, and what is not?" asked Judge Hogue of Collins. "I think that would save you considerable trouble."

This was done and the case continued until next Friday.

The reference to Judge Hogue as the robbery was the boldest that has been committed in months. At the time the thieves entered the shop the proprietor was in the barber-shop, next door, which was filled with Japanese.

Shortly before 11 o'clock last night Zui locked up his establishment and went into the barber-shop adjoining for a shave. He was gone about an hour. When he returned the door of

"We are to assist in the opening of antional W. C. T. U. convention, in which the whole country is interested, opens at Los Angeles, Cal., October T., and lasts one week. This Portland conference has no authority delegated similar to that enjoyed by the National organization. We are here to confer regarding temperance work, as to our coming National convention, and to hear reports concerning the W. C. T. U. exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The latter will fully filusirate our methods of work by means of literature, photographs, object lessons, etc. Scientific temperance instruction will also be remembered."

"What is your position in regard, to the army canteen?"

"Antil-canteen," quickly replied the president of the National W. C. T. U. "We will not recede from the sposition we have already taken in that direction, because we believe canteens worked unspeakable harm to our soldlers. It placed them amid temptation. Let army offi-

Quality the Standard of Value

In our criterion of value quality comes first. We hold that piece of merchandise as absolutely valueless which does not give sterling service in the test of actual use. But along with this striving for quality we constantly endeavor to make our prices as low as possible and our steadfast policy of many sales at small profits always enables us to quote extremely advantageous prices on every dependable grade of goods. Today's announcement is but a partial reflex of the welcome things that await your coming.
