

THE past week has been a quiet one socially. Nearly everyone has been resting and getting breath for the brilliant functions of "opening week," which will be inaugurated by tomorrow evening's reception at the American Inn.

The reception given by Mrs. R. Lee Barnes on Tuesday in honor of Dr. Mackenzie's bride was a notable event. The arrival of Mrs. John R. Thurston at the Portland and of the Du Mond at the home of Mrs. Henry Jones, and the announcement that Miss Helen Cannon will visit Portland during the summer, have been matters of interest. But the Exposition opening has, after all, absorbed chief attention. It may even be hinted that the ladies have been over-seeing the "finishing touches" to their gowns, which, the knowing say, are to eclipse any ever seen here.

Then there have been details for entertaining to attend to by those who are to be hostesses during the opening week. Mrs. H. W. Goode, who has been moving and getting settled in her beautiful new home at the corner of Twentieth and Flanders streets, has been making preparations for the entertainment of Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks and young Mr. Fairbanks, who will be her guests for a week or more. They will arrive on Wednesday, and will be the first guests in President Goode's new home.

Mrs. Theodore Wilcox has been planning for the entertainment of Speaker and Miss Cannon. Apropos of the entertaining that Portland women will be called on to do in a semi-public manner this summer, that is, as ladies of the official Exposition family, it is a matter for congratulation that Portland can make such a showing of unusually charming women. As for personal beauty, it goes without saying that no city in the country can claim more handsome women. But it is even a prouder claim that Portland women have good taste, fine feeling and that kindness of heart which is the surest patent of good breeding.

Dr. Mackenzie has arranged to entertain extensively at that time. Mrs. Mackenzie will prove a delightful addition to local society. She has a very gracious manner and "savoir faire" acquired in her travels at home and an extensive residence abroad. Mrs. Barnes was assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. C. Alsworth and Thomas Kerr and Misses Carrie Flanders and Nellie Williams. Mrs. Allen Lewis and Mrs. N. E. Ayer dispensed punch and Mrs. John Shepard, Mrs. Walter Burrell, Mrs. Theodore Wilcox and Miss Edna Palling poured tea. The dining-room was radiant with masses of pink roses and beautiful silver. A number of functions in Mrs. Mackenzie's honor are planned for the coming week, but they are dependent upon Dr. Mackenzie's ability to accept, and he will be very busy all week with Exposition matters.

For the reception following the banquet a thousand invitations have been issued. State and foreign commissioners and distinguished visitors in the city from other states are included in this number. For the first time the official Exposition family will be gathered to extend Exposition hospitality. The receiving line will be a dignified and imposing one. At its head will stand Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, special representatives of the President of the United States. President and Mrs. Goode, of the Exposition, will be next in line. Following them will be Speaker Cannon and Miss Cannon, the directors of the Exposition and their ladies, and Colonel and Mrs. Steever. This, at least, is the present plan, although some changes may be made during the week. The directors and their wives are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Fleischner, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie.

The reception will be held in the pavilion at the right of the New York State building. This is 160x30 feet in dimension and will give generous space for the hundreds of people who will throng the reception. A selected orchestra will furnish music for the dinner, and an inn's band will be stationed at the Auditorium, to make joyful the reception.

Hon. Joseph Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Cannon, Hon. James A. Tawney and Mrs. Tawney, Hon. Chas. L. Bartlett and Mrs. Bartlett, Hon. Joseph W. Babcock and Mrs. Babcock, Hon. H. C. Loudenslager and Mrs. Loudenslager, Hon. J. A. Beidler and Mrs. Beidler, Hon. William A. Rodenberg and Mrs. Rodenberg, Hon. James A. Hemenway and Mrs. Hemenway, Hon. Joseph C. Sibley and Mrs. Sibley, Hon. George S. Legare and Mrs. Legare, Hon. H. C. Adams and Mrs. Adams, Hon. George N. Southwick, Hon. Robert L. Henry, Hon. John H. Small, Hon. James McAndrews, Hon. Courtney W. Hamlin, Hon. Lucius N. Littauer, Hon. Alex. McDowell, Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Henry Casson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, W. H. Beyer, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, Hon. Frank B. Lyon, Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives; Hon. L. W. Busbey, Representative.

Portland society folk, who knew the Duchess Rochefoucauld (Mittie Mitchell) as a girl, have been much interested to learn something of the Countess Spotteswood-Mackin, which name she is having such an unpleasant experience just now. The Countess was, before her marriage, Miss Sallie Byron, of St. Louis, daughter of a former Mayor of that city. After the death of her husband, a New York politician, Mrs. Mackin, as she then was, went abroad. She became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church and a very liberal contributor to church charities. During a residence in Rome one Winter, she was offered by the late Pope Leo XIII the title of Countess of the "church." This she accepted, paying a generous amount for the honor. She had already prefixed Spotteswood—a family name—to her married name, and had been called Mrs. Spotteswood-Mackin. She now began printing her newly acquired title on her calling cards. Countess Mackin has a wide acquaintance with cardinals and other dignitaries of the church, and has entertained four cardinals at a single dinner. She spends most of her time either in Rome or in Paris, and is patroness of many charities. Her Paris house, over which the present difficulty has arisen, is a handsome brownstone front. Last Summer, Countess Mackin was in St. Louis for several months and was present at many social functions of the exposition.

Dr. Mackenzie has arranged to entertain extensively at that time. Mrs. Mackenzie will prove a delightful addition to local society. She has a very gracious manner and "savoir faire" acquired in her travels at home and an extensive residence abroad. Mrs. Barnes was assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. C. Alsworth and Thomas Kerr and Misses Carrie Flanders and Nellie Williams. Mrs. Allen Lewis and Mrs. N. E. Ayer dispensed punch and Mrs. John Shepard, Mrs. Walter Burrell, Mrs. Theodore Wilcox and Miss Edna Palling poured tea. The dining-room was radiant with masses of pink roses and beautiful silver. A number of functions in Mrs. Mackenzie's honor are planned for the coming week, but they are dependent upon Dr. Mackenzie's ability to accept, and he will be very busy all week with Exposition matters.

For the reception following the banquet a thousand invitations have been issued. State and foreign commissioners and distinguished visitors in the city from other states are included in this number. For the first time the official Exposition family will be gathered to extend Exposition hospitality. The receiving line will be a dignified and imposing one. At its head will stand Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, special representatives of the President of the United States. President and Mrs. Goode, of the Exposition, will be next in line. Following them will be Speaker Cannon and Miss Cannon, the directors of the Exposition and their ladies, and Colonel and Mrs. Steever. This, at least, is the present plan, although some changes may be made during the week. The directors and their wives are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Fleischner, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie.

The reception will be held in the pavilion at the right of the New York State building. This is 160x30 feet in dimension and will give generous space for the hundreds of people who will throng the reception. A selected orchestra will furnish music for the dinner, and an inn's band will be stationed at the Auditorium, to make joyful the reception.

Hon. Joseph Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Cannon, Hon. James A. Tawney and Mrs. Tawney, Hon. Chas. L. Bartlett and Mrs. Bartlett, Hon. Joseph W. Babcock and Mrs. Babcock, Hon. H. C. Loudenslager and Mrs. Loudenslager, Hon. J. A. Beidler and Mrs. Beidler, Hon. William A. Rodenberg and Mrs. Rodenberg, Hon. James A. Hemenway and Mrs. Hemenway, Hon. Joseph C. Sibley and Mrs. Sibley, Hon. George S. Legare and Mrs. Legare, Hon. H. C. Adams and Mrs. Adams, Hon. George N. Southwick, Hon. Robert L. Henry, Hon. John H. Small, Hon. James McAndrews, Hon. Courtney W. Hamlin, Hon. Lucius N. Littauer, Hon. Alex. McDowell, Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Henry Casson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, W. H. Beyer, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, Hon. Frank B. Lyon, Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives; Hon. L. W. Busbey, Representative.

Portland society folk, who knew the Duchess Rochefoucauld (Mittie Mitchell) as a girl, have been much interested to learn something of the Countess Spotteswood-Mackin, which name she is having such an unpleasant experience just now. The Countess was, before her marriage, Miss Sallie Byron, of St. Louis, daughter of a former Mayor of that city. After the death of her husband, a New York politician, Mrs. Mackin, as she then was, went abroad. She became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church and a very liberal contributor to church charities. During a residence in Rome one Winter, she was offered by the late Pope Leo XIII the title of Countess of the "church." This she accepted, paying a generous amount for the honor. She had already prefixed Spotteswood—a family name—to her married name, and had been called Mrs. Spotteswood-Mackin. She now began printing her newly acquired title on her calling cards. Countess Mackin has a wide acquaintance with cardinals and other dignitaries of the church, and has entertained four cardinals at a single dinner. She spends most of her time either in Rome or in Paris, and is patroness of many charities. Her Paris house, over which the present difficulty has arisen, is a handsome brownstone front. Last Summer, Countess Mackin was in St. Louis for several months and was present at many social functions of the exposition.

Dr. Mackenzie has arranged to entertain extensively at that time. Mrs. Mackenzie will prove a delightful addition to local society. She has a very gracious manner and "savoir faire" acquired in her travels at home and an extensive residence abroad. Mrs. Barnes was assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. C. Alsworth and Thomas Kerr and Misses Carrie Flanders and Nellie Williams. Mrs. Allen Lewis and Mrs. N. E. Ayer dispensed punch and Mrs. John Shepard, Mrs. Walter Burrell, Mrs. Theodore Wilcox and Miss Edna Palling poured tea. The dining-room was radiant with masses of pink roses and beautiful silver. A number of functions in Mrs. Mackenzie's honor are planned for the coming week, but they are dependent upon Dr. Mackenzie's ability to accept, and he will be very busy all week with Exposition matters.

For the reception following the banquet a thousand invitations have been issued. State and foreign commissioners and distinguished visitors in the city from other states are included in this number. For the first time the official Exposition family will be gathered to extend Exposition hospitality. The receiving line will be a dignified and imposing one. At its head will stand Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, special representatives of the President of the United States. President and Mrs. Goode, of the Exposition, will be next in line. Following them will be Speaker Cannon and Miss Cannon, the directors of the Exposition and their ladies, and Colonel and Mrs. Steever. This, at least, is the present plan, although some changes may be made during the week. The directors and their wives are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Fleischner, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie.

The reception will be held in the pavilion at the right of the New York State building. This is 160x30 feet in dimension and will give generous space for the hundreds of people who will throng the reception. A selected orchestra will furnish music for the dinner, and an inn's band will be stationed at the Auditorium, to make joyful the reception.

Hon. Joseph Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Cannon, Hon. James A. Tawney and Mrs. Tawney, Hon. Chas. L. Bartlett and Mrs. Bartlett, Hon. Joseph W. Babcock and Mrs. Babcock, Hon. H. C. Loudenslager and Mrs. Loudenslager, Hon. J. A. Beidler and Mrs. Beidler, Hon. William A. Rodenberg and Mrs. Rodenberg, Hon. James A. Hemenway and Mrs. Hemenway, Hon. Joseph C. Sibley and Mrs. Sibley, Hon. George S. Legare and Mrs. Legare, Hon. H. C. Adams and Mrs. Adams, Hon. George N. Southwick, Hon. Robert L. Henry, Hon. John H. Small, Hon. James McAndrews, Hon. Courtney W. Hamlin, Hon. Lucius N. Littauer, Hon. Alex. McDowell, Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Henry Casson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, W. H. Beyer, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, Hon. Frank B. Lyon, Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives; Hon. L. W. Busbey, Representative.

Portland society folk, who knew the Duchess Rochefoucauld (Mittie Mitchell) as a girl, have been much interested to learn something of the Countess Spotteswood-Mackin, which name she is having such an unpleasant experience just now. The Countess was, before her marriage, Miss Sallie Byron, of St. Louis, daughter of a former Mayor of that city. After the death of her husband, a New York politician, Mrs. Mackin, as she then was, went abroad. She became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church and a very liberal contributor to church charities. During a residence in Rome one Winter, she was offered by the late Pope Leo XIII the title of Countess of the "church." This she accepted, paying a generous amount for the honor. She had already prefixed Spotteswood—a family name—to her married name, and had been called Mrs. Spotteswood-Mackin. She now began printing her newly acquired title on her calling cards. Countess Mackin has a wide acquaintance with cardinals and other dignitaries of the church, and has entertained four cardinals at a single dinner. She spends most of her time either in Rome or in Paris, and is patroness of many charities. Her Paris house, over which the present difficulty has arisen, is a handsome brownstone front. Last Summer, Countess Mackin was in St. Louis for several months and was present at many social functions of the exposition.

Dr. Mackenzie has arranged to entertain extensively at that time. Mrs. Mackenzie will prove a delightful addition to local society. She has a very gracious manner and "savoir faire" acquired in her travels at home and an extensive residence abroad. Mrs. Barnes was assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. C. Alsworth and Thomas Kerr and Misses Carrie Flanders and Nellie Williams. Mrs. Allen Lewis and Mrs. N. E. Ayer dispensed punch and Mrs. John Shepard, Mrs. Walter Burrell, Mrs. Theodore Wilcox and Miss Edna Palling poured tea. The dining-room was radiant with masses of pink roses and beautiful silver. A number of functions in Mrs. Mackenzie's honor are planned for the coming week, but they are dependent upon Dr. Mackenzie's ability to accept, and he will be very busy all week with Exposition matters.

For the reception following the banquet a thousand invitations have been issued. State and foreign commissioners and distinguished visitors in the city from other states are included in this number. For the first time the official Exposition family will be gathered to extend Exposition hospitality. The receiving line will be a dignified and imposing one. At its head will stand Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, special representatives of the President of the United States. President and Mrs. Goode, of the Exposition, will be next in line. Following them will be Speaker Cannon and Miss Cannon, the directors of the Exposition and their ladies, and Colonel and Mrs. Steever. This, at least, is the present plan, although some changes may be made during the week. The directors and their wives are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Fleischner, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mackenzie.

The reception will be held in the pavilion at the right of the New York State building. This is 160x30 feet in dimension and will give generous space for the hundreds of people who will throng the reception. A selected orchestra will furnish music for the dinner, and an inn's band will be stationed at the Auditorium, to make joyful the reception.

Hon. Joseph Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Cannon, Hon. James A. Tawney and Mrs. Tawney, Hon. Chas. L. Bartlett and Mrs. Bartlett, Hon. Joseph W. Babcock and Mrs. Babcock, Hon. H. C. Loudenslager and Mrs. Loudenslager, Hon. J. A. Beidler and Mrs. Beidler, Hon. William A. Rodenberg and Mrs. Rodenberg, Hon. James A. Hemenway and Mrs. Hemenway, Hon. Joseph C. Sibley and Mrs. Sibley, Hon. George S. Legare and Mrs. Legare, Hon. H. C. Adams and Mrs. Adams, Hon. George N. Southwick, Hon. Robert L. Henry, Hon. John H. Small, Hon. James McAndrews, Hon. Courtney W. Hamlin, Hon. Lucius N. Littauer, Hon. Alex. McDowell, Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Henry Casson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, W. H. Beyer, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, Hon. Frank B. Lyon, Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives; Hon. L. W. Busbey, Representative.

Portland society folk, who knew the Duchess Rochefoucauld (Mittie Mitchell) as a girl, have been much interested to learn something of the Countess Spotteswood-Mackin, which name she is having such an unpleasant experience just now. The Countess was, before her marriage, Miss Sallie Byron, of St. Louis, daughter of a former Mayor of that city. After the death of her husband, a New York politician, Mrs. Mackin, as she then was, went abroad. She became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church and a very liberal contributor to church charities. During a residence in Rome one Winter, she was offered by the late Pope Leo XIII the title of Countess of the "church." This she accepted, paying a generous amount for the honor. She had already prefixed Spotteswood—a family name—to her married name, and had been called Mrs. Spotteswood-Mackin. She now began printing her newly acquired title on her calling cards. Countess Mackin has a wide acquaintance with cardinals and other dignitaries of the church, and has entertained four cardinals at a single dinner. She spends most of her time either in Rome or in Paris, and is patroness of many charities. Her Paris house, over which the present difficulty has arisen, is a handsome brownstone front. Last Summer, Countess Mackin was in St. Louis for several months and was present at many social functions of the exposition.

Lewis E. McComas, Senator and Mrs. J. W. Daniel, Senator and Mrs. J. H. McCrory, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Mrs. D. M. Ramsdell, Mr. Pence, Mr. Flashback, Mr. John J. McGrain, Senator W. P. Dillingham.

The reception to be given tomorrow evening to mark the formal opening of the American Inn will be largely attended by Portland society folk. Two thousand invitations have been issued. Among the ladies in the receiving line will be Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mrs. Theodore Wilcox, Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mrs. William Mackenzie, Mrs. Gammon, Mrs. Cornell, Mrs. J. Frank Watson, Mrs. Allen Lewis, Mrs. Walter Burrell, Mrs. H. W. Goode. An part of the building will be open for inspection.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Lane Stewart, of Manila, P. I., were guests at the Portland this past week on their way to Lincoln, Neb., where they will spend a vacation of several months duration with Mrs. Stewart's parents. Mr. Stewart is one of the popular in government officials in our island capital, and his charming wife left a host of friends, who will welcome her back to Manila in September. Their departure was accompanied by the first time at an opportune hour.

Representative Sherman, Southwick and Littauer, of New York, who will be in Portland this week as members of the House party delegated to the Exposition opening, will be entertained at the New York State building, and will also Miss Ladd, daughter of Commissioner Pratt, a very handsome girl; Commissioner Pratt, A. Brown, of New York, and Mrs. Brown, also Mrs. Brown, Sr., and Commissioner Utman.

Miss Helen Cannon, who will be the guest of Mrs. Theodore Wilcox during the coming week, has had long experience in Washington social affairs. She is a handsome, statuesque woman and a great favorite at the National Capital, not only in Congressional circles, but among diplomats and foreign ministers. She presides over her father's house with much dignity.

A most delightful dinner was given on Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Taylor, at their charming home on Hawthorne avenue in honor of Major and Mrs. H. C. Cabell. Covers were laid for ten. The guests were Major and Mrs. Henry C. Cabell, Mrs. J. E. Montgomery, Miss May Montgomery, Miss Hazel Dolph, Mr. Berg, Mr. Peter Kerr and M. Zeggio, of Italy.

Mr. William H. Michael, Hon. H. A. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, Mr. John C. Scofield, Colonel Cecil Clay and Miss Clay, Mr. Merritt O. Chance and Mrs. Chance, Mr. B. F. Peters and Mrs. Peters, Mr. Edward M. Dawson and Mrs. Dawson, Mr. S. R. Burch and Mrs. Burch, Mr. C. H. Hastings and Mrs. Hastings, Mr. William M. Geddes.

In Governor Gooding's party there will be, besides his staff, Mrs. Gooding and Miss Gooding, Mrs. McBlaney and Mrs. Vickers, the latter the wife of Adjutant-General Vickers, of Idaho.

Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd gave a theater party last evening in honor of Miss Bennett, of Tacoma, who has been the guest of Miss Charlotte Whalley during the past week.

Telegrams were awarded to Mrs. C. A. Coburn and Mrs. G. A. Morison. Mrs. R. C. Taylor read James Whitcomb Riley's poem, "Thinkin' Back." Mrs. William L. Charles W. Cottle, M. Marshall pleased everyone by playing two piano selections, "The Blue Bird" and "The Grief 'Bridal Procession'."

Each one present was then called on to tell either the happiest event of her childhood or an interesting experience in her life, which proved a very pleasant and entertaining diversion.

Miss M. Evelyn Hunt, who has recently returned from three years' study in New York City, sang with fine expression "The Restless River" and "Three Roses Red" and for an encore gave "On the Shore."

Light refreshments were served at small tables. The guests were: Mrs. John M. Hodges, Mrs. Irving W. Pratt, Mrs. Harriet Lyle Venable, Mrs. P. A. Chamberlain, Natchez, Miss: Mrs. George B. Chamberlain, Mrs. Frederick Egger, Mrs. G. W. Knight, Mrs. L. E. Jenkins, Mrs. Charles H. Gaylord, Mrs. A. Stalger, Mrs. David B. Gray, Mrs. Catherine McNary, Miss Anna McNary, Mrs. A. D. Walker, Mrs. Charles W. Cottle, Mrs. C. A. Coburn, Mrs. W. P. Jones, Mrs. Carrie W. Benner, Mrs. George M. Parker, Mrs. M. C. George, Mrs. John B. Cleland, Mrs. M. C. Lewis, Mrs. Phoebe Kinsey, Burlington, Cal.; Mrs. J. C. Lucker, Mrs. William Morton, Mrs. G. A. Morison, Miss Larrabee, Miss Leona Larrabee, Mrs. R. C. Taylor, Mrs. R. White, Mrs. M. M. Brannan, Mrs. W. M. Calk, Mrs. E. Little and Mrs. E. F. Osburn.

On Wednesday evening, May 24, the Brotherhood of St. Paul, of Grace M. E. Church gave its third annual banquet to their gentlemen friends in the social parlors of the church. Covers were laid for 80, and the tables presented a most inviting appearance. The color scheme was red and white, the colors of the brotherhood. After the menu had been served, the president, Mr. Alex. M. Jeffress, made an address of welcome and was followed by Mr. John Corklin, who proposed the toast, "The Methodist Congress." Bishop Moore, who has just returned from attending Eastern conferences, responded, saying that he hoped for great success, and desired to enlist the hearty co-operation of all present in the forthcoming congress. Judge J. C. Moreland proposed the toast, "Brotherhood," to which Mr. John R. James responded. Dr. E. C. Frost then introduced Mr. John Pridoux, the organist and poet-laureate of the Brotherhood, who read an original

THE WOMAN'S STORE
SILVERFIELD'S
Fourth and Morrison

Latest Hats

The New Suits

$1 Undermuslins 63c
Misses' Wear Less

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY TUESDAY—DECORATION DAY

THE WOMAN'S STORE SILVERFIELD'S FOURTH AND MORRISON

Latest Hats

Nothing new and desirable in the world of millinery but can be readily found here in the greatest variety. This year especially every lady wishes her headgear to be as fashionable as that of her Eastern visitors, and this is where our excellent, up-to-date stock comes in, as every hat is the very latest. We daily receive many express packages from the Eastern style centers. Madame Brook, who has charge of our department, came direct from one of the largest millinery establishments of Chicago, will be pleased to give you the benefit of her knowledge concerning any changes in trimmings, etc.

The New Suits

The grand showing we are making of beautiful new suits for the Spring and Summer season fully demonstrates that our stock is as large and complete as any in the city. We have every late style and pattern of material in light-weight wool suits. Fine Taffeta silk shirtwaist suits of every desirable shade. Beautiful linen suits for Summer wear. Visit our department and examine the handsome suits on exhibition. Prices range from $15.00 to $175.00.

$1 Undermuslins 63c

Our most popular Undermuslins, beautifully made and finished with clusters of tucks, embroidery and lace insertion, no skimping of material in any of these garments; underwear never before sold for less than $1.00. 63c

Misses' Wear Less

Our entire line of Misses' Wash Dresses, handsome and serviceable garments of linen lawn, fancy ginghams and percales, of all desirable colors, and all the very latest styles. All Wash Dresses at a discount of 25%

WE STORE, CLEAN, REPAIR AND REMODEL FUR GARMENTS

We have a complete plant for the storing of fur garments during the Summer months, and also do re-modeling and repairing at reduced rates. We pay the very highest prices for raw fur.

MARRIED AT SELLWOOD WEDNESDAY

MR. AND MRS. J. H. TRYON.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Foster, 925 Umatic avenue, Sellwood, Or., when their daughter, Harriette Cynthia, was married to J. H. Tryon. The bride was beautiful in a handsome gown of cream tulle, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. She is one of the most popular young ladies of Sellwood. Mr. Tryon is a well-known commission man of Portland. The bridesmaids were Miss Laura Emerson, who wore a gown of champagne silk, and Miss Gussie Keim, whose gown was made of cream tulle. The best men were Martin Larsen and A. Klingbell. The ring-bearer was little Miss Emily Simmons, 1 year old. After a charming feast almost to rival the bride, many beautiful and valuable presents were received. The bridal bouquet was caught by Emma Blanchard. The house was decorated with roses, ferns and evergreens, and the ceremony was performed under a canopy of ferns and locust. Mr. and Mrs. Tryon will be at home to their friends at 160 New East Sixth street, after June 15.