

GENERAL CHANGE IN CABINET MEMBERS

Cortelyou Probable Successor to Shaw as Secretary of Treasury.

METCALF FOR HEAD OF NAVY

When Bonaparte Succeeds Moody as Attorney-General, Metcalf Replaces Him, Garfield Succeeds Metcalf.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(Special.)—It is gossip here today that Charles J. Bonaparte, who has been named to fill the vacancy as head of the Navy Department caused by the resignation of Paul Morton, will eventually be given the post of Attorney-General Moody. Certain other changes will be made in the Cabinet. One of these changes will be the retirement of Mr. Moody. Secretary Victor H. Metcalf will then go to the Navy Department. Mr. Metcalf is beyond doubt the hardest and most conscientious worker in the Cabinet. Fearful of losing Mr. Metcalf, the President has decided that the Navy Department would be the post for him. The vacancy thus caused in the Department of Commerce and Labor will give the President a chance to call into his Cabinet James R. Garfield, who will be given the commerce and labor portfolio.

Shaw Will Resign. It has been announced by Secretary Shaw that he will not remain in the Cabinet beyond February 1. This vacancy probably will be filled by Mr. Cortelyou. The postoffice portfolio will be offered to Colonel Harry S. New, of Indiana, now chairman of the National Republican committee, a staunch Taft adherent, and a man who has done yeoman service for the party during the last three National campaigns.

Is Bonaparte a Democrat?

Since the announcement was made that Charles Bonaparte, of Baltimore, would succeed Morton as Secretary of the Navy, the question has been asked: Was Bonaparte ever a Democrat? The question has not been definitely answered, although it was asserted that he voted for Cleveland and at other times had voted the Democratic ticket in state and municipal elections. He had been extremely independent in politics and is an ardent anti-imperialist. The news of Bonaparte's selection has created the greatest antipathy among Maryland Republican leaders.

CALLS IT BAPTISM OF FIRE

King Alfonso Reviews Troops and Talks of Bombthrowing.

PARIS, June 3.—The spectacular feats of King Alfonso's visit to Paris closed today with the review at Vincennes during beautiful weather and in the presence of throngs of women dressed in bright summer costumes, which lent additional brilliancy to the scene. The presence of President Loubet, the Cabinet Ministers, the highest officers of the army and navy in full uniform, and the military and naval bands, made every detail of the review a grand spectacle. King Alfonso, mounted and wearing the uniform of a Spanish Captain-General, was the central figure. The King was greeted with continued popular enthusiasm going and coming from the review. Later, responding to a toast at the Elysee Palace, the King paid a glowing tribute to the French army, adding: "I cannot forget that your President and I have together escaped a peril which nowadays menaces the lives of all chiefs of state, and in the midst of your brave cuirassiers that we received our baptism of fire."

Plotter is of Noble Birth

Romantic Career of Man Who Sought Alfonso's Life.

PARIS, June 3.—Charles Malato, who is accused by the French police of organizing a plot to assassinate King Alfonso of Spain, and who has been arrested on this charge, is well known in political and literary circles. The prisoner belongs to an ancient and noble Neapolitan family. His grandfather, Count Malato, was commander-in-chief of the army of the last King of Naples. He had the rank of Field Marshal, and suppressed the popular insurrection against the dynasty with vigor. The Field Marshal's son, Charles' father, took the side of the Commune in Paris and was banished for life to the penal settlement of New Caledonia, where Charles was born. After the general amnesty extended to the condemned anarchists and communists, Charles and his father, who is now over 90 years of age, came to Paris. At that time Charles Malato collaborated with Henri Rochefort, but they disagreed on the Dreyfus case, Malato taking the side of the condemned Captain. Rochefort, who has since then received his articles, which are considered remarkable for their polished literary style.

DUKE SUES FOR DIVORCE

Millionaire Tobacco Merchant Finally Serves Process on Wife.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Brodie L. Duke, the millionaire tobacco merchant, has begun proceedings in a suit for absolute divorce from his wife, Charles F. Andrews, countess of Duke, admitted this afternoon that the process served in his employ who had been looking for Mrs. Duke for three weeks to serve the paper upon her, had succeeded in finding her. It is reported that with his decision to begin the suit, the relatives of Mr. Duke abandoned the proceedings to have him declared incapable of directing his own affairs.

The millionaire on December 19, 1904, married Miss Alice Webb, after a brief courtship. As soon as the family heard of this marriage they secured an order from Justice Truax, ordering Brodie L. Duke committed as an insane person. When Duke was arrested his wife made a scene in the hotel. Mrs. Duke at once employed counsel and a three-cornered fight followed. The personal history of Alice Webb and her association with Brodie L. Duke in promoting vast tobacco enterprises alleged to have been in Texas, was brought to light and Mrs. Duke's former adventures were made a subject of comment by all sides to the controversy. After Duke was released from the asylum by Judge Gaylor, Mrs. Duke requested efforts to see him, but failed. She was followed by detectives in all her travels, and they have kept her husband's attorney fully posted. According to their story she went first to Chicago, then to Milwaukee, and after that returned to Chicago early last month.

Judge Gilbert Knows of No Dissatisfaction Over De Haven.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—United States Circuit Judge Gilbert, now in this city, sitting in the Circuit Court of Appeals, has received no word from Washington regarding the assignment of District Judge De Haven to try the land fraud cases in Oregon. Dispatches from the capital yesterday stated that the Attorney-General had asked an explanation from Judge Gilbert regarding the assignment of De Haven. Judge Gilbert gave out the following statement relative to the controversy: "I have not heard of any dissatisfaction on the part of any of the Government officers with the assignment of Judge De Haven to hold court in Oregon. The Attorney-General has not communicated with me on the subject, nor has he telegraphed me. The assignment of Judges to hold court outside of their own district is a matter that rests entirely with the Judges of the courts. TOKIO, June 3.—(7:30 P. M.)—The governor of Hiroshima province telegraphs that the earthquake which took place on June 2 killed six people, wounded 79 and destroyed 32 houses in Hiroshima and Ujima. The reports from other affected districts are incomplete, but it is believed that the loss of life and the destruction of property has been comparatively slight. The first shock of the earthquake destroyed the telegraph system which, besides making it impossible to communicate with the earthquake district, cut off Tokio from western Japan and the rest of the world, which created an impression that some great disaster had taken place.

FUGITIVES IN MANILA

Their funnels, however, are riddled by large and small shells. Several large shells pierced them amidships and a number of guns were dismounted. "All the Russian officers interviewed say that a large number of submarines caused confusion and defeat. Rear-Admiral Enquist has called his arrival to the Emperor of Russia. The battleship Oleg and cruiser Cincinnati are guarding the Russian ship. No official action as to their disposition has been taken yet."

MAY INTERN SHIPS AT MANILA

President and Cabinet Officers Consider Treatment of Russians.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—An important conference was held at the White House late this afternoon, the participants besides the President being Secretary Morton and Attorney-General Moody. It related to the arrival today at Manila of the Russian cruisers Aurora, Oleg and Jemtechug, and to the disposition to be made of them. It was determined to await fuller information concerning the vessels before a decision was reached. All three of the cruisers took part in the naval battle in the Coran Straits a week ago. Two of them, the Oleg and Jemtechug, were supposed to have been sunk by the Japanese fleet. The three ships were damaged, but were able to proceed under their own steam. Rear-Admiral Train, in command of the United States squadron, now at Manila, having heard rumors of the sighting of Russian warships near the island of Luzon, made an investigation with his squadron and discovered the damaged cruisers making their way into port.

RUSSIAN ARMY IMPROVES.

Liniévitch Disciplines Men Whom Kuroparkin Demoralized.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 4.—According to advices received from Manchuria by the War Office and reliable newspapers, indications point to a wholesale change of disciplinary methods in the Russian army at the front. The War Office has received a communication stating that while the demoralization of the army by Kuroparkin may be beyond remedy, the Russian army under General Liniévitch has started in raising the morale of the army to such an extent that its pitiful remnants are in a better position today to withstand the Japanese attack than Japan than was the whole army of Liao Yang. One of the greatest abuses was wiped out by General Liniévitch when he reorganized his staff of medical examiners. The members of the staff had the right to permit any officer to return to Russia or to be relieved by granting him a leave. It is stated that hundreds of soldiers escaped the dangers of battle by bribing these examiners, and the result was that the Russian army was constantly changing commanders, to the great detriment of discipline. In a sweeping order General Liniévitch has decreed that all those reported sick must remain with the army under the care of the ambulance corps, and that they may leave the service only by permission of their regimental commander.

"The Russian vessels present in the recent battle which were not sunk or captured, and which are unaccounted for, are the protected cruisers Oleg, Aurora, Izumrud and Almaz, three transports, two torpedo-boat destroyers and one tugboat. During the battle the Oleg and Aurora were within range of our Third and Fourth squadrons and were on fire. They may have escaped, but it will take time to restore their fighting power."

Admiral Yamamoto also sent a general letter to the wounded Russian officers and men expressing the hope that their suffering would soon be ended and that they would speedily recover.

FORTS TOOK PART IN BATTLE

Tsu Island Guns Credited With Sinking Oslabia.

NAGASAKI, June 3.—Survivors' statements show that the Japanese maneuvered a portion of the Russian fleet under the guns of the forts on Tsu Island, which sank the battleship Oslabia. On Saturday night, owing to the freezing torpedo attacks and the fact that the Russian vessels did not carry any lights, the fleet was much separated and became incapable of acting in concert. The only order which did not reach Vladivostok, the Russians were short of ammunition, and their marksmanship was indifferent.

ADMIRALS ARE IN CONFERENCE

Enquist Wants Fourteen Days to Repair and Coal Ships.

MANILA, June 4.—(11 A. M.)—Rear-Admiral Train and Enquist are now conferring in reference to the Russian warships which arrived here yesterday. According to an unofficial report, Rear-Admiral Enquist wants 14 days to repair, coal and provision his vessels. It is stated further that he claims that the ships are unworthy and are damaged beyond the water line. Rear-Admiral Train will probably appoint a board to investigate the condition of the Russian vessels. Both he and Rear-Admiral Enquist are working in harmony. Thirty-four of the most seriously wounded Russian sailors were placed in the naval hospital at Cavite today. Rear-Admiral Enquist left the scene of the fighting before the battle was finished and he did not learn the details until he arrived here.

MAY SAVE NEBOGATOFF'S SCALP

Exhaustion of Ammunition Good Excuse for Surrender.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—The statement that the ammunition on board Rear-Admiral Nebogatoff's ships was exhausted when he surrendered, was received with some relief, this being one of the conditions under which the Japanese port, where wounded Russians are allowed to surrender, a commander is allowed to surrender; the other conditions being was forming the destroyer flotilla divided into two squadrons. The Japanese continued the search for Russian ships throughout the night, and in the morning discovered two torpedo-boat destroyers. One of them steamed away, but the other was unable to do so. Upon approaching the latter, the Japanese discerned a white flag flying from the foremast and the Red Cross flag astern. She proved to be the Bedovi, with Admiral Rojostevsky and his staff on board. The Bedovi signaled that her engines were damaged and that she was short of coal and water.

An armed guard was sent on board the Bedovi to receive her surrender. The Russians requested the Japanese not to remove Admiral Rojostevsky and the other officers on account of their wounds and the Japanese complied, with the understanding that the guard would execute Rojostevsky in the event of delay leading to a meeting with Russian ships, thus running the danger of his recapture. The Sazanami ran a line to the Bedovi and began towing her. The Japanese fleet, in the morning the Sazanami met the Japanese cruiser Akashi, which conveyed the two destroyers to Sasebo. During the trip the destroyers encountered heavy rain and the Japanese were awash during part of the time.

I took three bottles of Peruna and found myself gaining very quickly in every way. "I also had catarrh in my head, which has been entirely cured. I thank Peruna for the health I am enjoying."

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

DYSPEPSIA is a term that has long been in use. It is intended to include all disturbances of the digestive organs. If the stomach is inflamed and digestion ceases, it is called dyspepsia. If the saliva fails to perform its function in the stomach, it is called dyspepsia. If the glands of the stomach dry up, and no longer secrete the pepsic juices, it is called dyspepsia. Catarrh of the stomach is called dyspepsia. It is really a form of dyspepsia.

How Catarrh Affects Digestion.

When catarrh attacks the mucous membrane of the stomach, the glands that secrete the gastric juices are destroyed. The gastric juice is rendered inert and perverted in its action.

No one can have a healthy stomach or anything like a healthy digestion so long as they have catarrh of the stomach.

It is useless to try to remedy dyspepsia caused by catarrh of the stomach by taking pepsin powders or other dyspepsia remedies.

A Rational Treatment.

The first thing that must be done is to remove the catarrh, when the dyspepsia symptoms will disappear. The stomach that is free from catarrhal congestion will do its work properly.

Pe-ru-na, the Correct Remedy.

Peruna has become famous as a dyspepsia medicine only because it cures catarrh of the stomach. So many cases of dyspepsia, flatulent catarrh of the stomach that the two diseases are becoming confused in the minds of many people.

Not a Dyspepsia Remedy.

In the ordinary sense, Peruna is not a dyspepsia remedy. It cures thousands of cases of dyspepsia by curing catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the liver and catarrh of all the digestive organs.

Whenever any one is troubled with dyspepsia any length of time, catarrh of the digestive organs may be suspected.

Do Not Waste Valuable Time.

There is no use in wasting time with other remedies. Peruna reaches the spot at once and removes the cause. Its cures are permanent, as it removes the cause.

Not a Cure-All.

Peruna is not a cure-all. It cures one disease—that disease is catarrh. However, catarrh makes itself known by such varied symptoms, that its various forms appear to the unprofessional as so many different diseases. Catarrh is catarrh, no matter in which part of the body it locates itself. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.
