As these complaints are being prepared under the personal supervision of the District Attorney, with the bestowal of particular attention to the specific adulterant which each offender is accused of using the Health Board feels confident of securing a conviction on every count. There will not be, say those in charge of this presecution, any such wholesale escape from legal penalties as was enjoyed by the E cream sellers arraigned some weeks ago, and speedily released on a claim of technical flaws in the formal charge. mal charge.

In every butcher-shop which the Health Board has named as containing adulter-ated meat, a total of 55 the heard's chief inspector. Dr. W. C. Hassler, or one of inspector. IF. W. C. Hasser, or one of his subordinates not only secured a sam-ple, since declared unfit to eat under the test of chemical analysis, but seized as well exactly 65 cans, or "shakers," containing the adulterant most in favor with the respective proprietors. In several cases these polsons were not restricted to merely one, many dealers being found with two in active use, while a certain specialist in kosher meat is said to have used three.

The principal adulterant employed seems to have been sulphates, another name for sulphurous acid, a real poison and an extremely dangerous one. Others on the list of mischlef were boracic acid, where a pound of meat so treated contained four or five more grains than a physi-cian's maximum dose; formaldehyde, which paralyzes the action of the gastric juices, and coal tar tipe, serving to keep exposed meat fresh in color, even after exposure has tainted it, but compounded in aniline constituents from which the directive organs revolt. stive organs revolt.

AUGUST GEBER KILLED TWO SONS OF HIS BENEFACTOR.

Effort Had Been Made to Prove Him Insane,

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1-(Special)-Aged August Geber, convicted of the murder of young Charles Hartman, must pay the death penalty for his crime. He been waiting sentence since January last, and every effort was made to estab-lish his mental incompetency, but experts declared that he was sane, and in Judge Dunne's department of the Supreme Court this morning the death sentence was pronounced. The date of his execution will be fixed at the expiration of the usual 30 days allowed condemned murderers.

The crime of Geber was one of an in-crate. He murdered Charles Hartman grate. He murdered the sons of his and George Hartman, Jr., sons of his and George Hartman, Jr., sons of his friend and benefactor; attempted to mur-der George Hartman, Sr., their father, and his aged wife, and made a desperate effort to shoot Policeman Jack Tyrell, the arresting officer, who for his part in the arrest of the criminal was awarded a medal by the Police Commissioners. It was on Sunday morning, July 10, 1904, that Geber killed the Hartman boys. He was occupying a small cottage at the rear of the Hartman family residence, 213 Third street, and had been fed and sheltered by the members of the Hartman family for mouths. Mrs. Hartman was afraid of him, and it was at her re-quest that on the evening previous Hart-man senior told him he would have to seek a new dor The morning of the shooting Mrs. Hart-man sent her son Charles to take the old man his breakfast. The boy was met at the door by Geber, who shot him dead. George Hartman, Jr., attracted by the shooting, ran to the assistance of his brother, and Geber killed him. The murderous man then drove Hartman, Sr.,

an dhis wife from the premises and would have killed them had Policeman Tyrell not arrived upon the scene. When Geber saw the officer he retreated to his cabin and locked the door, threatening to shoot any man who attempted to effect an entrance. Despite his threat and the fact that he was armed, Tyrell battered down the door, and after a desperate struggle succeeded in dis-arming Geber and placing handcuffs on him. After being taken to prison Geber said his only regret was that he did not kill the whole family.

When sentence was passed this morning it was thought that he might create a scene, but his only comment on the action of the court was to call the attention of Judge Dunne to the fact that he was rather hard of hearing and re-questing that he should speak a little

VONEY'S ADMINISTRATION RESTAURANT

FAIR'S MOST POPULAR EATING HOUSE

Visitors to the Lewis and Clark Exposition need not burden themselves with lunch baskets or entertain fears of being robbed as long as there is such a popular and popular-priced eating-house as Voney's Administration Restaurant on the grounds. This is the conclusion come to by all Fair visitors since the opening. The prices here are practically the same as in the city, while the service is the best.

Voney's Administration Restaurant might be termed a branch of Matthew Voney's St. Louis establishment, famed for being the best reasonable-priced restaurant in the metropolis of the Southwest. It is Mr. Voney's purpose to make his restaurant mean to this Exposition what the Voney quick-Meal Restaurant meant to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. There, though handleapped by a poor location, Mr. Voney's restaurant won the highest popularity and became noted for excellence of cuisine and the rapid efficiency of its service rendered at surprisingly reasonable prices.

At the Fair here, Mr. Voney has a most excellent location, between the Administration and Oregon buildings, and visitors will find it the most convenient eating-house on the xround. With the Exposition officials, Voney's has already become popular, and justly so, as the table and service are all that could be desired.

Mr. Voney is a caterer of is years' restaurant experience, and has ever beer a success, since he has made it his endesvor to give his patrous the best obtainable at the smallest margin of profit, and is a most excellent judge of food supplies.

Mr. Walker, business manager, is a gentleman of broad business, hotel and restaurant experience.

It is the aim of the management to give their patrons the most polite service obtainable at the Exposition, and in furthering this end their patrons will confer a favor by reporting any insattention on the part of employes. No alcoholic liquers are served, but the menu will be found to contain a full line of soft drinks of excellent quality. The kitchen has been planned for the management and replance co
