Excellent Prospects in Umatilla.

PENDLETON, Or., July 8 .- (Special.)-Although the past week in Umatilla County has been terribly hot, and today the temperature rose to the 100 mark, it is believed that the wheat crop will not be materially damaged.

In the northern part of the county the crops were frozen out in the early Spring and were resown, and here ites the only danger. If hot winds spring up within the next ten days it will probably mean the loss of the major portion of the Spring wheat, but Fall wheat is believed be out of danger at this time.

Wheat-raisers are unanimous in their belief that the crops this harvest will be excellent, if hot winds do not strike Umatilla County within the next ten days.

Prospects Were Never Better.

MOSCOW, Idaho, July &-(Special.)-In Letah County, Idaho, where the conditions are an index in nearly all the grain-producing region of Northern Idaho, the prospects are better for bumper crops than for many years. No hot wind has blown, and the temperature this afternoon has not risen above & degrees. The last heavy rain of a week ago was followed by cool weather, and the nights are cool, with heavy dews.

Farmers from remote sections also report all kinds of crops looking fine. Four different grain-buyers this evening say the yield in Latah County this year will average 40 bushels to the acre. Professor French, of the Idaho University agricultural experiment station, says he never saw such good prospects for all kinds of grain and hay

Close to the Record for Heat.

ASTORIA, Or., July & -(Special.)-This was by far the hottest day of the season and it lacked but little of being a record-breaker. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer in the local Weather Bu-reau registered 34 degrees, and at North Head the mercury reached 56 degrees. A light east wind was blowing nearly all day, making the atmosphere most dis-agreeable. This evening the wind changed to the north and the air is cool and

The hottest day in Astoria of which there is any official record was on June 7, 1965, when the maximum temperature was 97 degrees.

Hot Weather Is Welcomed.

WILBUR, Wash., July 8 .- (Special.)-Although today has been the hottest of the Summer, no damage has resulted to the growing wheat crop in this big wheat section of Lincoln County. It is the con-sensus of opinion among farmers interviewed this evening that there is too much moisture in the ground for any injury to the crop. They say this hot weather is just what they want.

Mercury Runs High at Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 8 .- (Special.)-Today's heat record established a new record for Oregon City in recent years. In the shade thermometers in different parts of the city registered the ground has been fastened securely the ground has been fastened securely enough to trust local improvements in Workmen, because of the oppressiveness of the heat, suspended work on a brick building on Main street shortly after the noon hour, a thermometer at the scene of the work reaching 128 degrees.

Expect a Bumper Crop.

WENATCHEE, Wash., July 8 .- (Special.)-In this vicinity, the center of the grain district along the Great Northern line in Central Washington, the wheat has not been materially damaged by the hot weather. The crop is ripening rapidly and owing to the plenteous moisture at the roots the heat has not had serious consequence. Farmers in this section are preparing to harvest a bumper crop.

Cool Breeze at Night.

SALEM, Or., July 8 .- (Special.)-This was an exceedingly hot day in Salem, the thermometers registering from 99 to 101 in the shade. Hopgrowers welcomed the heat, because it kills young hop lice and prevents the spread of the vermin. Tonight there is a light breeze blowing from the south, indicating cooler weather and perhaps rain.

Sun Kills the Hop Lice.

GERVAIS, Or., July 8.-(Special.)-To-day was by far the hottest day experienced here in years. The thermometer in the shade showed 98 to 100, while in the sun it was 114. The heat all came in gushes of hot air waves. There were of sunstroke. Hop lice are fading away fast.

Gardens Wilt at Forest Grove. FOREST GROVE, Or., July 8.-(Special)-This has been the hottest day of the year so far, thermometers showing 57 at 3 o'clock. Gardens have a wilted appearance, but it is not believed that any serious damage has been done.

We have ourselves known of an instance in which a lawyer secured the postponement of a trial for a term because he got up in the courtroom on the morning of the second day and told the judge that a juror in the case has spoken to him. The judge said such conduct was very reprehensible and sent the case over without making inquiry into the nature of the conversa-tion. If he had he would have learned that it consisted of "Good evening. That is an interesting case of yours." remark made in entire ignorance that was improper by a man who was in the habit of making up his mind himself, and who would never have toler-ated any discussion of the merits of the care by the lawyer or by anybody else outside of the courtroom.

objects to the gentleman who smokes. It is the rowdy and hog who is the nuisance. The "smart Aleck" who is regardless of the rights of woman, into whose face he blows his smoke, should be denounced by all decent men, as our wives, daughters and mothers, when when alone, have no defense against that hog. A woman gets into the smokers' seat be-cause she is nervously hurried into the first seat that comes to her. If she sits next to a gentleman he will not have to ask anyone what he should do, if his smoke blows into her face. Any old kind of cheap perfume is nicer than an old pipe or cigarette smoke blown through a diseased nose. The nonsmoker should not have to look out for the smoker. It is the smoker's place to see that he does not befoul the air that others breatne.

The Blon's back was turned to me, but I could clearly see the droop of the shoulders as he swallowed the lumps of meat. I was already half way—my hand was slowly pushing the rifle another yard ahead, when my ear, tight-pressed to the ground, heard a faint noise, followed by a sharp hiss. A paff-adder raised its villainous squat head from the dust, looked into my face with flashing eyes and quivering tongue and suikily crawled away. Startled I had quickly drawn backs my head, but, seeing it depart, had immediately again lowered it behind my outstretched arm. The Bon, however, had caught the movement and instantly turned towards me.

The sun played full upon his face, and I could plainly see the wrinkles on his nose and the blood-fleeked silme dripping from his jowl. He took half a dozen steps towards me and then to my astonishment returned and resumed his meal. Again I crept forward till at last that patch hid him from my view.

I promptly rose to my feet, and bending low, glided randfully towards the grass. Fifty yards—40—30—70—ten. like mid-witched on the trigger-guard. My heart stood still in the last stutening of a frantite output for the scene. A grand, sad face peeped round the corner of the grass.
