There were 14 growers present, and Chairman Krebs announced that "as many more had" declared their intention of becoming members of the corporation.

Several growers expressed themselves as in favor of the plan, but no agreements were signed. When asked if any were opposed to it, no one responded, though in a brief speech James Winstanley said he doubts whether the plan is practicable. His fear was that outsiders would supply the market, leaving the corporation

PRIENDS URGE HIM TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR AND SENATOR.

Ex-Chief Executive of Oregon Has Not Yet Decided Which Candidacy

He Will Take Up.

SALEM, Or., July 15.-(Special.)-Ex-Governor T. T. Geer will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor or United States Senator. He is not now a candidate, and has not said that he will be, but friends in every part of the state have been urg-ing him to enter the race for one place or the other, and those who have talked with him say it is certain his name will be on the primary ticket next Spring.

It is said that the pressure is so strong that he cannot well refuse to become a candidate, and the only question is whether he shall yield to the arguments of those who want him to be a candidate for the Governorship or those who urge him to try for the Senatorship.
Through the direct primary, Geer's friends declare, the ex-Governor can secure the nomination for either place. They say that no man can poll more votes for either place than he, and, since a piurality will nominate, he will have an easy run. For the Gov-ernorship the men most frequently mentioned are: Dr. James Withy-combe, of Corvallis; C. A. Johns, of Baker City, L. R. Webster, of Port-land; Henry E. Ankeny, of Eugene, and E. L. Smith, of Hood River. Geer's friends aver that if any one of these men should enter the race at the pri-mary election, Geer could win, and his plurality would be increased if two or three of those mentioned should be in the race. Because there is likely to be a number of aspirants for the Governorship, and the greater the number the more the opposition will be divided, some of Geer's friends urge him to go after that place on the Republican

But there are others, and probably a larger number, who desire to see him run for the Senatorship. They tell him that if he tries for the Governorhim that if he tries for the Governor-ship and wins the nomination in the primaries, he will still have the fight to make against Chamberlain at the general election. While if he runs for the Senatorship his contest will be over when the primaries close. They say that under the new primary law members of the Legislature will be pledged to support the Republican candidate who receives the largest pledged to support the Republican candidate who receives the largest popular vote and that the man who wins in the primaries is sure of election when the Legislature meets.

It is said that Geer's personal inclination would be to run for the nomination for the Governorship, for that nomination would open up a red-hot stump-speaking campaign against Chamberlain, a contest that Geer would enjoy, but the ex-Governor will probably disregard his personal inclinations and follow the advice that seems best supported by reason when the time comes to announce his candidacy, whether it be for the Governorship or the Senstorship.

Smith was one of the most active mem-bers of the last House of Representatives, and was the recognized leader of the op-position side of the House. Early in the last session the Republican members displayed an inclination to treat Smith as a joke, but after he had shown his ability in debate they took him seriously and always listened when he spoke.

Smith is an aggressive man, an interesting speaker and a student of public que tions. If he goes into the contest, as he now contemplates doing, it is certain that he will make the campaign a lively one. He was the advocate of a number of very radical measures in the last Leg-islature, which measures the Republicans think were so radical as to make Smith an uneafe lawmaker, but the Democrats think his legislative record will meet as proval from the people
