KILLED BY HIS

Nevada Rancher Shot Down in a San Francisco Apartment-House.

REVOLVER IN HIS HAND

Captain W. W. Stephenson Breaks Open Door to Room Occupied by His Runaway Spouse and Chillion Bowen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 5.—(Special.)—Captain W. W. Stephenson, a Ne wads ranch owner, was shot and killed this morning in apartments at 101514 Lar-kin street, by Chillion Bowen. Stephenson had come from Washoe, Nev., early today and come from Washoe, Nev., early today and calling at his wife's rooms had found Bowen occupying the same apartment with his wife, Lury Florence Stephenson. Stephenson kicked in the door, but hefore he had gone many steps he was shot twice by Bowen and fell dead. The women had the thickness wife and mather of four an, his faithless wife and mother of four children, says:

"I love Mr. Bowen more than my husand. That's why we were together."

Bowen, who is also a Nevada rancher now occupies a cell at the City Prison, He, with the woman, Lucy Florence Stephenson, was taken into custody at 1015% Larkin street, the scene of the crime, soon after 920 o'clock this morn-ing by Policeman M. J. O'Sullivan, They were taken to the City Hall Station, there turned over to Detectives Mulcabey and Matheson, and were later transferred to the City Prison.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock this morning that W. W. Stephenson was shot down by the man who wrecked his home, Chillion Bowen. Bowen and Mrs. Stephen-son, were living at 1015th Larkin street, and the wronged husband located them there, although they were living under the assumed names of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson. As soon as he found their room he rapped upon the door and demanded

Bears Her Husband's Voice.

Mrs. Stephenson answered his call and asked who was there. As soon as she heard his voice she knew it was her husband, and turning to the man at her side, whispered;

"Ob, it is Will. What shall we do?" Bowen attempted to quiet her. He got out of bed, went to a dresser in the room and secured his revolver. Then he turned to the woman and told her he was ready. She called to her husband again, who was still clamoring for admission, and when she asked him to wait a moment, he threw himself against the door and the lock broke with a crash. Grasping his revolver, which was con-cealed in his inside coat pocket, Stephenson strode into the room. He did not see Bowen at first. The room was dark and the armed man whom he was seeking stood partially concealed behind the open door. He turned, however, to look for him, and as he did so. Bowen fired pointblank at his head at short range.

Reaches for His Weapon.

The bullet struck Stephenson in the chin and staggered him. He turned partially around to face the man who had shot him, but before he could get his weapon from his pocket Bowen jumped behind him and fired another shot in the back Meanwhile the faithless wife, who had been screaming loudly for jumped out of bed, and her bushand fell dead at her feet.

After the shooting, Bowen cooly placed the revolver back in the bureau drawer and said to the woman that he would go out and find an officer and give himself up. She besought him not to leave her alone with the dead man, and he decided to await the coming of the police.

The wait was not a long one. Policeman O'Sullivan heard the shooting and was at the room door just a few minutes after the man fell dead. Bowen told him quickly what had happened. He secured the revolver with which he had done the shooting and handed it to the policeman and then submitted to arrest without any The woman was taken to prison n, but she said she would have gone whether the police wanted her or not. The man she loved was still alive and and she would stay with him to the Woman Is Very Nervous.

Mrs. Stephenson was extremely nervous when questioned about her relations with Bowen and the murder of her hus-band, but wanted it understood that this nervousness was due entirely to the fact that she was still suffering from the effects of a surgical operation.
"My husband fell dead at my feet, killed by the man I love," she said, "and I feel that he got what he deserved. He would have killed Chillion had he been able to get his gun first, and I think any man has a right to defend his life. Bowen and myself were together because I love him and he loves me. I never denied, even to my husband, that I was in love with Bowen, and it was my intention to secure a divorce and marry him just as soon as we got back to Nevada.

'My husband was unkind, too. He never allowed me to have any pleasure, and I could not live without love. I married my husband eight years ago. My name before marriage was Lucy Florence Clark. We have four children, Gertrude, Edgar, Angus and Baby Willard, and they were at our home in Nevada the last I heard of them. They are fatherless, but they are better off, for he was just as unkind to them as he was to me.

Driven Away by Husband.

I met Chillion Bowen during December last, when he came to our place. He lived there until my husband drove him away. My husband wanted me to send him away, but I would not do it. He said he would kill him if he ever saw us together, and I did not resim the man's roing for I knew my husband would going, for I knew my husband would shoot. It is true that I wrote Chillion letters. I wrote because I loved him, and asked him to accompany me here. I did not want to be alone in the city and thought it best to have some one near me who understood me and could sympathize with me in my sickness.

"We took the name of Mr. and Mrs.
Wilson, knowing that we could not be together unless we lived as man and wife. We were in bed when my husband rapped on the door this morning. I recognized his voice and told him I would unlock the door in a few minutes, but he would not wait for me to dress. He broke the door down and was trying to get his revolver out of his pocket when Chillion shot him. I believe he would have killed us both had be been given. have killed us both had he been given an

MATCH SETS HOUSE AFIRE

Pendleton Woman Tries to Fight Single-Handed and Loses.

PENDLETON, Or., Aug. 5.—(Special.)—A residence and household effects valued at about £500 were destroyed tonight by fire. The building belonged to Clinton Brown, but was occupied by Ben Senseny, who is now in Idaho, his wife living alone in the house.

About 10:30 o'clock Mrs. Senseny, intending to retire, lighted a bedroom lamp, throwing the match upon the floor near a lounge, which immediately caught fire, and which quickly spread to other articles in the room. Mrs. Sensony became excited and attempted to put the fire out by her-self, forgetting to turn in an alarm, and in fact, the department was not called until neighbors saw the flames issuing from the windows. Nothing was saved from the conflagra tion and only the frame of the building stands. Mr. Brown is in Baker City, and it cannot be learned whether there is in-surance on the house.

COLLINS ARGUES ON OATH.

Repeats Before Victoria Court the Affidavit.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 5 .- George D. Collins, fighting extradition for perjury before Judge Lampman, continued his argument today on a motion for dismissal, contending the Superior Court at San Francisco had no jurisdiction to try the action for maintenance in which the alleged libel was made. He argued at much length against the jurisdiction of the court, and held that the alleged false onth was null in consequence, Collins also contended the cath had not been properly administered. He took the affidavit, which was alleged to have been falsely made to Notary Henry already signed, and held up his right hand, saying, "I swear that is true,"

This action he held was a self-adminis tration of the oath, which was not valid, The argument will be concluded by Col-lins on Monday.

GERVAIS, Or., Aug. 5 .- (Special.) -- With handkerchiefs hiding their faces, three highwaymen entered Joe Becker's saloon his evening at 10:20 o'clock, robbed and seat men in the place, secured several nundred dollars and escaped.

There were three men in the barroom when the desperadoes entered. A gruff word of command, emphasized by a display of revolvers, caused a quick eleva-tion of hands, and the victims were turned with their faces to the wall. First the till was rifled and $550, secured from this source. Then the pockets and cloth-ing of the men with raised rands was carefully inspected. Charley Wompole was relieved of $17.50.

WELL-KNOWN OREGON PIONEER OF 1859.

The Late Mrs. Huldah A. Brown.

CORVALLIS, Or., Aug. 5.-(Special.) -Huldah A. Brown, a well-known Oregon ploneer of 1850, widow of the late S. K. Brown, one of the original settlers of Philomath, was buried today at Buena Vieta. The funeral occurred yesterday afternoon in Correased was born in Warren County. Missouri, July 25, 1824. In 1850, with her parents, she crossed the pinins to Oregon and settled near independence. A year later she was married to Dr. Z. Davis, who died in 1878. In 1880 she was married to Brown, of Philomath, who died in 1893. Mrs. Brown died after a lingering illness at the home of S. P. Becker's gold watch attracted the eye of the collectors, and they took that, as well as a very handsomely mounted revolver he happened to have in his pocket s a protection against thieves. Everything was done swiftly, but in a business-like manner by the robbers. Scarcely a word was spoken, while everything of value in coin was being takes from its lawful owners. As the victims were somewhat excited over the incident, they cannot give a very clear description of the men who robbed them. They seem to agree, however, that the hold-up men were about 5 feet 7 inches tail, about 150 pounds weight, youthful in appearance, and that they looked enough alike to be brothers.

The town is full of threshers and other farm inborers, in for the Saturday-night entertainment, and the robbers were quickly lost in the crowd outside when they emerged from the salcon.

TIDELAND BLOCK IS SOLD.

St. Paul Road Said to Be Purchaser at Scattle. SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 5.-The Postintelligencer tomorrow will say:

J. A. Paine, said to be representing the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, has secured options on all of the block 335, Seattle tidelands, owned by H. H. Dear-born & Co., and Edgar Ames. The property adjoins the several blocks purchased by Mr. Paine and George S. McLaren in the name of J. T. Woodward, a year ago last June, when tidelands in Seattle, ag-gregating $350,000 in value were sold in ne week and nearly two miles of Tacoma tidelands were purchased simultaneously. Block 255 is the key to the terminal situation in Senttle. It adjoins the property of the Puget Sound Electric Rallway, known as the "Inter-urban," and is located next to three other blocks owned y the mysterious principals of Mr. Paine. Mr. Paine declines to divulge the names Mr. Faine declines to druige the names of his principals, or to say whether or not they are the same as were represent-ed by him in the buying movement more than a year ago. The block was the sub-ject of considerable negotiation at that time, but for some unknown reason the deal falled of consummation.

It is one of the most valuable properties of its kind in the city, and is said to be worth about $150,000. The period of the option has not been made public, but it is known that certain conditions are attached that admit of an extension, should the original time expire by limi-

Stanford Antiques Will Be Declined by University Authorities.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The Exam-ner says: Thomas Welton Stanford, of Melbourne, brother of the late Senator Stanford, has offered to donate to Stan-ford University an almost priceless col-lection of antiques, which he says were collected for him from Egyptian tombs by the astral body of a blacksmith myswho took but 20 seconds for the round trip from Egypt to Australia. The name of the blacksmith medium, or mahatma, s C. Bailey, and it is said that some of the leading scientists in the world believe in his work as a communer with the inhabitants of the astral world, and with his sbillity to perform seeming miracles. Dr. Jordan, however, has made it clear that his collection, the list of which includes many articles of great value as antiquities, will not be accepted, basing his objection on the openly avowed method of its collection.
