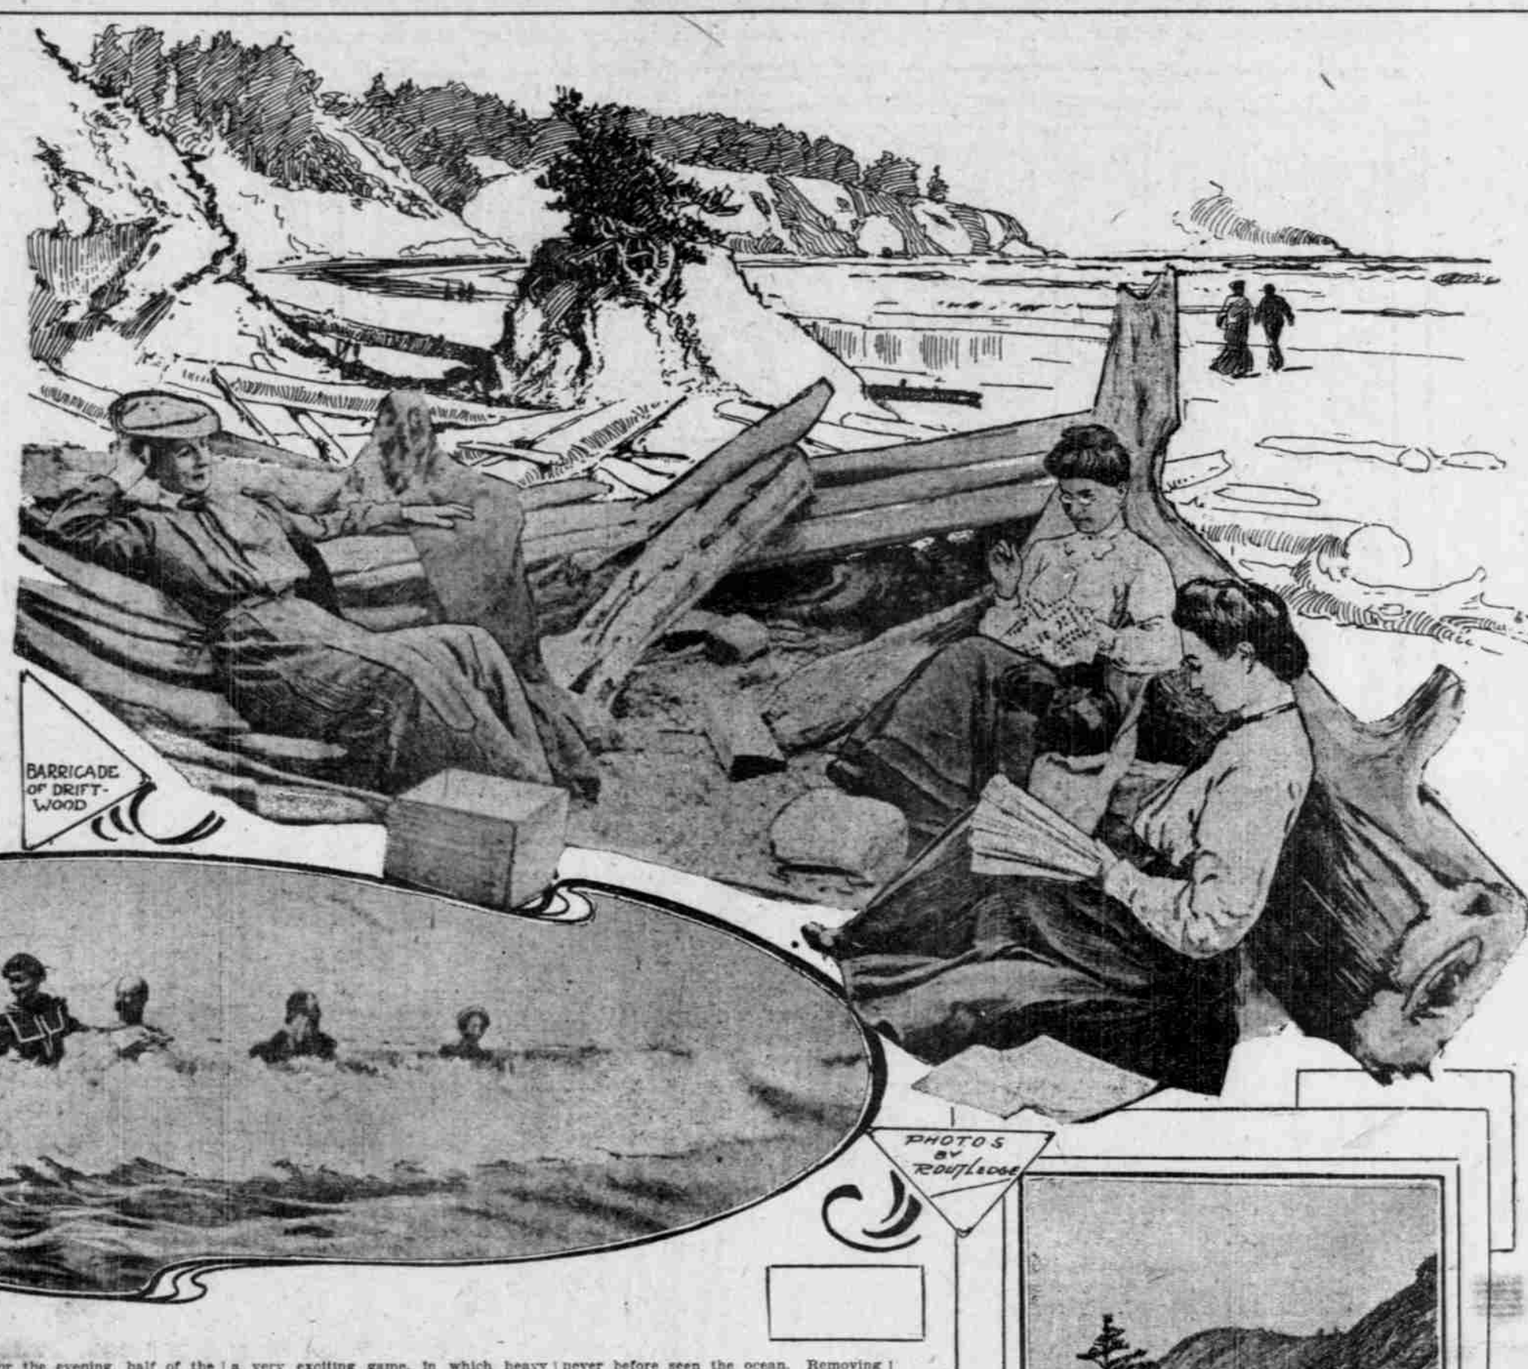
ZENITH OF THE SOCIAL SEASON AT NORTH COAST BEACHES

NORTH BEACH, Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The past week has been one of unusual activity among the social circles here, the number of parties, excursions and entertainments of various sorts being almost without precedent. At no time this year has the beach been half so well patronized as now, and at no time previous has the crowd been half so well organized. The beach is crowded with strollers and loungers throughout the entire day, and is illuminated for miles at night by countless bonfires. Every available conveyance is now in constant use, carrying merry picnic parties here and there; the dances are crowded every dance night, and the many little devices known to the landlords and hostesses of the hotels and boarding-houses for furnishing amusement to their guests are being brought into use and are greatly appreciated. In spite of the fog, which has made some of the mornings somewhat disagreeable, the weather, as a whole, has been charming, the air being cool and exhilarating most of the time. Taking all things into consideration, the season now seems to be rapidly approaching its zenith, and it is probable that the next two weeks will be exceedingly lively ones at all the resorts, as everyone is anxious to have all the fun possible before the crowd abandons the beach, which usually happens about the first of September.



GLIMPSE of HEADLANDS NORTH from CANBY.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnston, of Portland, have returned home, after enjoying a two weeks' outing with Mrs. Joseph H. Penney at Long Beach.

Mrs. Joseph H. Penney entertained a party of beachers at North Head the beginning of the week. All enjoyed themselves very much.

A large excursion to North Head took place last Friday. Taking plenty of luncheon, the party spent the entire day until late in the afternoon roaming around this pleasant picnic ground, when they returned to their homes well pleased with the day's amusement. Those participating were: Mrs. T. Wood, Mrs. E. E. Manheim, Mrs. Duch, Miss G. Lipman, Miss Evelyn Cohen, Miss Duch, Miss Minnie Cohen, Mrs. William Stark, Miss Lucile Palmer, Miss Lela Goddard, Mrs. Palmer, Miss Margaret Palmer, Miss Stark, Miss Moar and Burton Lipman.

Another dilightful trip to North Head was enjoyed Saturday by a party from the Salt Air, who went in a large wagon, took a nicely prepared lunch, and spent a most pleasant day. Those in the party were: Miss Lillian Bogle, Miss Jean Cornett, Miss M. Evelyn Hurley, Miss Jessie L. Hurley, Miss Marian Miller, Wesley Reed, Mr. and Miss Miller and Mrs. Scott.

The second party of the Juvenile Court Club has arrived and is now in camp near Sea View. Reports from the camp indicate that all of the youngsters are having a splendid time and thus far the organization has proved a great success. Fresh fish is furnished the camp every day by William Graham, who also took the boys on his launch to the Sand Island seining grounds last Thursday. Wednesday was spent in a long drive on the beach, which was very much enjoyed. Merchants of Portland are continually sending loads of watermelons and oranges, the people of Ilwaco and the beach are extending every courtesy, and all possible is being done to make the trip a memorable one to the fortunate boys participating in it.

Entertainments.

The guests of the Salt Air enjoyed a very pleasant sacred concert Sunday evening. Miss Evelyn Hurley, recently from New York, sang several songs and the Excelsior sextet composed of Misses Hurley, Beatty, Bogle, Miller, Mrs. Pope and Earl Latourette, rendered a number of selections which added much to the entertainment. Miss Jean Cornett, of North Yakima, was the accompanist, in which capacity she showed great efficiency.

A charming open-air party was given on the spacious porch of the Rustic Cottage last Monday evening in honor of Miss Sela Goddard of Portland. The piazza was illuminated by a mass of Chinese lanterns which gave the place a brilliant appearance, and Fantan, the evening's game, was enjoyed until late, when refreshments were served. Those present were: Miss Lela Goddard, Mrs. Tim Wood, Miss Tudie Schacht, Louise Hagner, Ethel Sharp, Mrs. Miller, Lucille Palmer, Evelyne Cohn, Minnie Cohn, Ethel Cohn, Mrs. Ted Wood, Horace Fenton, Chester Struble, Sanford Rosenfeld, Lin Buck, Frank Buck, Sloane Hackney and Al Hackney.

Thursday evening, an entertainment suggestive of originality took place at the Hackney Cottage. The affair was strictly a young ladies' party, and as dancing was to furnish the principal amusement for the evening, half of the young ladies came in men's attire, the rest wearing bathing-suits, that they might share in the evening's merriment. Mrs. Schacht furnished music for the occasion, which was declared a great success by those participating, all outsiders being denied admittance. Those present were: Lucille Palmer, Evelyn Cohn, Jessie Hurly, Bertha Botefuhr, Sarah Duch, Eva Jenkins, Rose Schacht, Tudie Schacht, Minnie Cohn, Mrs. Ted Wood, Margaret Palmer, Lela Goddard, Ethel Sharp, Gertie Lipman, Lou Prunder, Edith Gray, Louise Hagner, Bertha Schacht, Helen Gray and Mildred Raab.

Tuesday evening, a pleasant musicale took place at the Salt Air, the guests of the house as well as their outside friends from Sea View and Long Beach being present. After being delightfully entertained by the numerous artists present, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served when the party adjourned. The programme consisted of: Piano duets by Mrs. and Tudie Schacht and Mr. Ross, Jr., and Miss Ross; vocal solos by Miss Edwina Mastick, Mr. P. H. Ross, Miss Tudie Schacht, Miss M. Evelyn Hurley and Mr. Ross, Jr.; piano solos by Miss Jean Cornett, Miss Louise Hagner, Miss Evelyn Ross and Miss Lillian Gardner, and readings by Mrs. McFarland and Miss Cora Mastick.

Sea View Specialties.

For the past week a crowd known as the Wig-Wam Tribe of Sea View has been making things lively. Tuesday, the operations commenced when, in the evening, after an afternoon's work with a team hauling driftwood, a huge bonfire was started which proved one of the largest ever seen on the beach. All of the guests of the Hackney Cottage and most of their neighboring friends were present and after a pleasant social evening, they sang familiar songs, after which refreshments of fruit, candy, peanuts and cake were served on the beach, when the party dispersed.

Not content with this hilarity, a dance was decided upon for the following evening, and Wednesday night saw the Hackney Cottage bedecked with Chinese lanterns and thronged with young folks as a consequence, the dance taking place in the large dining-room which is admirably suited for the purpose. Delicious punch was served throughout the evening and the famous kitchen handout took place at the conclusion of the evening's amusement. Those composing the Wig-Wam Tribe are: Chief Red Cloud, Mr. Sanford Rosenfeld; chaplain, W. E. Staeger; captain, L. F. Buck; lieutenant, F. L. Buck; chief rain-in-the-face, Al Hackney; chief detective, H. E. Gray; chief engineer, Charles Cook; manager, W. F. Krumbein, and Fire Ranger Bethel.

Art Terpischorean en Masque.

An elaborate mask ball took place at The Breakers Monday night. The affair was one of the largest social events of the season in the number of guests, and the improvised costumes of the dancers were the sources of much merriment throughout the evening. Perhaps the most unique costume was that of Myron Aronson, whose make-up as a blonde young lady was made highly amusing by a wig made of unstranded rope which, at a little distance, presented a very realistic appearance. The call was opened by a grand march, in which all participated. After this, dancing was indulged in by those whose costumes would permit the exercise, the prize being given to James Rosenfeld, alias Miss James, and Miss Enid Rothchild, alias Baby Blue. Among the many clever make-ups were the following: Mother Goose, Theo. F. Rothchild; Sis Hopkins, Mrs. Irwin; Kate Smith, Arthur Rosenfeld; Schoolboy, Delphine Rosenfeld; French maid, Miss Helen Rosenfeld; Cowboy, Janette Boyer; Sis Hopkins, Mayme Dunn and also Alice Forbes; Bowery girl, Julia Aronson; Japanese lady, Tessie Preston; country boy, Ruth Rosenfeld; society girl, Amy Rosenhaupt; and bathing girl, Mabel Wall.

Cross Bats on Beach Sands.

In order to show people that nothing is neglected at the beach, a baseball game was arranged Sunday. The teams participating were the East Portland and Ft. Columbia, the East Portland aggregation winning by a score of 11 to 10, after a very exciting game, in which heavy batting was the principal feature. The competing teams were composed of: East Portland—A. Puryear, J. Callahaw, A. Knight, J. Parrott, F. Knight, E. Hottengoth, A. Austin, B. Newell and W. Jordan. Ft. Columbia—W. Cristgnsen, H. CLATSOP BEACH.

Although the resorts here have been crowded to their utmost during the past week, the number of social events taking place is surprisingly small. The Kansas delegation to the Exposition visited the beach Wednesday, and made things lively for a day, as much interest and amusement was occasioned by these people from the "inland empire," most of whom had never before seen the ocean. Removing their shoes and stockings, almost the entire party indulged in wading, and some even tasted the water to make sure if it were really salty, while the child-like glee with which they regarded the great expanse of water brought smiles to the old-timers present.

The weather has been ideal, the sun being warm and bright most of the time. This fact, together with the absence of wind, has brought hundreds out upon the beach during the long Summer afternoons and evenings, and the atmosphere of rest and laziness is delightful to all fortunate enough to be here to appreciate it.

Gearhart Park.

Another huge bonfire similar to the one of the previous week took place at Gearhart last Wednesday evening. Again were the cottages aroused by a dinner bell and the noise of fireworks, and again everyone turned out to witness the great spectacle of a burning pile of driftwood, 30 feet or more in height. As before, the orchestra played on the beach, and hot candy was distributed among the crowd for pulling. Mr. Rose expects to make these fires weekly affairs, now that his first efforts have proved so highly successful.

The first dance of the season here took place last Saturday evening in the dining-room of Kruse's Beach Hotel. Practically all of the young people of the park were present, as were many of their elders, and the entertainment met with such approval that it has been decided to continue these dances every Saturday during the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Kate Briedwell, a well-known soprano of Salt Lake, gave a delightful concert at Kruse's Beach Hotel last Monday. In addition to this, several selections were rendered by the hotel orchestra, which added much toward making the evening a success.

Personal Mention.

Master Jack Mitchell, grandson of Senator Mitchell, is spending the Summer as a guest of Mrs. Kruse.
