City of Portland Makes a Wonderful Showing at the Exposition.

One of the most successful airship flights ever made was effected at the Exposition grounds yesterday afternoon when a new craft called "City of Portland" followed an indirect course over the fair grounds and returned to a point within 20 feet of the starting place. While many witnessed the flight there were thousands at the fair who missed the spectacle, as the airship was not able to take the air on schedule time and was up less than 20 minutes.

The successful airship, like the Angelus and California Arrow, is the invention of Captain T. K. Baldwin, of Los Angeles. It is about half the size of the Angelus and the plan, appearance and operating methods are identical with the large vessel. The "City of Portland" was constructed on the Exposition grounds. A small force of men has been at work on it for the past two weeks. Captain Baldwin built it because he was not entirely satisfied with the Angelus, which made a number of partially successful flights and one or two complete failures.

Satisfied With Showing.

With yesterday's showing the captain says he is satisfied. He says he will send the vessel up again for what will be the most successful flight ever made by an airship. He says that during the next week or ten days he will establish that his airship is as dirigible as a ship on the ocean.

When the "City of Portland" went up for its trial trip yesterday afternoon the wind was blowing at the rate of six miles an hour. The flags about the Exposition were standing straight out from their poles. The wind was from the north and as the ship soared into space it took the wind in its teeth and commenced bucking. There was a momentary struggle for mastery and the wind lost out as the airship glided slowly and gracefully forward to the odd tune of a buzzing propeller. The buzz of an airship propeller, by the way, is a sound unto itself. There are no fitting similes whereby to characterize the sound, but it is no doubt very much the same noise that would be produced by an ocean steamer's propeller if lifted out of the water.

Boy Aeronaut in Control.

Lincoln Beechey, the boy aeronaut, was in control, and not once did he let his motor stop on him. He headed his vehicle of the air in the direction of the Government building. Half way over Guild's Lake he altered his course and described a half-circle. Then he pointed the vessel toward the Exposition grounds and the great towers of the Government building. The slow downward he had been making against the wind was replaced by a speed of seven or eight miles an hour, as he turned about and came down with a breeze, his motor buzzing merrily. The vessel headed for its quarters and came down as decorously as if on a track of steel.

The success of the flight has awakened the confidence of inventor Baldwin that he will yet make a thoroughly satisfactory and successful series of flights such as have never before been made in the history of the world. In the matter of speed, time in air and a few minor details, yesterday's flight could be improved upon. Weather, however, was another flight will be made Wednesday.

MACCABEE DAY AT FAIR.

Exercises, Drills and Initiation Next Thursday.

"Maccabee day" will be observed on Thursday, August 24, exercises of a public nature taking place in the Auditorium at 1:30 P. M. in which Governor Chamberlain, Mayor Lane, President Goode and representatives of the Sir Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees will participate. At the conclusion of the exercises, drills will be given on the plaza in front of the Oregon building by Seattle Division No. 1, of the Uniform Rank, and by the celebrated United Guards of St. Louis Mo., who are the leading drill team of the Lady Maccabees in the United States. At the Auditorium, at 8 P. M., 499 candidates will be initiated, the stereotypical work of the order being presented for the first time on the Pacific Coast under the auspices of the city tents. At the same time a general reception to both orders will be given by the city tents to all visiting and local Maccabees in the Pavilion Annex to the New York State building.

Large delegations will be in attendance from Astoria, Clatskanie, Westport and other Columbia River points, also from Washington, Benton, Clackamas and other counties in Oregon; as well as from Seattle, Tacoma, Walla Walla and other Washington centers of Maccabee interest.

WANTS GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

Chairman of Newsboys Desires Him at Exposition Day.

Otto Prag, president of the Newsboys' Union, is not satisfied with a response which he received from Governor Chamberlain in answer to a request which he sent to the Governor, asking him to deliver an address to the newsboys at their celebration at the Exposition on September 5. Governor Chamberlain in his letter of reply to Mr. Prag states that he has an engagement on September 4 and is not certain that he can spare two days in succession from his executive duties. He will cheerfully welcome the newsboys if he can, but if not, will designate President Jefferson Myers or some other member of the State Commission at the Fair to represent him.

Mr. Prag has prepared an elaborate address which he will himself deliver, and he is not pleased with the idea that "Our George" will not be present to listen to and profit by it. So he answered the letter of the Governor with a telegram reading as follows: "There is only one Governor, George E. Chamberlain." Governor Chamberlain, at last accounts, had not answered the telegram.

AUTO PARADE AT THE FAIR

M. E. T. CLUB HOLDS LIVELY CELEBRATION.

Quaint Japanese Parasols are Carried While Rattles Make a Merry Din.

The affairs of the day were planned by the M. E. T. Club. Festivities opened at 2 o'clock with a big parade which moved across the Exposition from the Government building to the Machinery palace. There were several hundred people in the parade. The foremost part of the parade was made up of the Administration Band and automobiles carrying Exposition and M. E. T. officials. All carried quaint Japanese parasols and rattles. Each rattle sounded like a 100-horse power engine with a broken piston rod under full steam. When they were all in action, the sound was what might be expected from a drove of 2,000,000 locusts, each the size of the Forestry palace. W. R. Neff served as grand marshal and with his assistants, J. A. Farmer and Burke Richards, produced an attractive parade. All the principal exhibitors of the building in question had banners in line, toted by employees.

The parade ended up at the Machinery, Electricity and Transportation building, where the interior was turned over to visitors. Everyone was made welcome, and a spirit of jollity and good fellowship reigned until long past the closing hour. Light refreshments were served.

needed anything that had been said regarding his oratorical powers. He was given a hearty ovation, both upon his being introduced to the audience and at the conclusion of his address. He said in part:

"In behalf of the State of New York which I represent, I thank you for the welcome you have given us, and the hospitality we have received at your hands. Despite the miles that separate them, New York sends congratulations to Oregon on its achievement of producing this Exposition. Others, perhaps, have been larger and more brilliant, but in the general scope of the work, covered in little space, this far surpasses them all. It is particularly important in the great part which it is laying towards developing the commerce of this great Northwest with the Orient. Such a commerce must be of vast benefit to the Northwest, but also to the whole country."

In the afternoon open house was held at the New York building, the public being tendered an elaborate reception. As nearly as can be ascertained, fully 2000 people were received at the New York building yesterday. States New Yorkers were particularly conspicuous. Punch and other light refreshments were served to all who called at the building.

NEBRASKA DAY AT FAIR

ALL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR CELEBRATION.

Two Hundred Former Citizens Register at State Headquarters Daily.

It Is Reported

A portion of the official party to participate in the Nebraska day exercises at the Exposition tomorrow, appeared yesterday when Commissioners W. F. Warner and H. G. Stuedt, C. W. Kaley, who introduced and championed the bill in the last Legislature appropriating the money for a Nebraska exhibit at Portland, and Miss Claire Funkh of Lincoln, one of Nebraska's most charming young ladies, arrived in the city.

Governor John H. Mickey, and his two sons, will arrive this morning, while Commissioner George L. Loomis and Mrs. Loomis, Secretary of State and Mrs. A. Galusha, Commissioner of Public Lands, H. M. Eaton, ex-Senator, Detroit, Mich., H. T. Clark, ex-Congressman, George E. Dorsey, Professor H. H. Nicholson, of the State University, and many other prominent Nebraskans, are now in the city.

Nearly 200 Nebraskans are registering at the Nebraska pavilion each day, and with the large attendance of former Nebraskans now living in Portland and along the Pacific Coast, an unusually large crowd will participate in the exercises.

The Nebraska Society of Portland has joined with the Nebraska Commission in the plans to make this day an unusually attractive one. At 10 o'clock tomorrow all Nebraskans will be given badges at the state pavilion in the Agriculture building. At 11 o'clock Governor Mickey and the commissioners will pay their respects to President Goode, of the Exposition, and at noon the Exposition authorities will give a reception to the Governor, the officials and the official party at the New York building. The exercises of the day will be held at the Exposition Auditorium, at 3 o'clock, and will consist of addresses by President Goode, President Warner, of the Nebraska Commission, Governor Mickey and Commissioner George L. Loomis, and of music furnished specially by the Administration Band and members of the Nebraska Society of Portland and Oregon.

From 4 to 6 o'clock a general reception and special exhibition of the moving pictures illustrating Nebraska's resources will be given in the state pavilion in the Agriculture palace. Here an opportunity will be given to meet the Governor of Nebraska and his official party.

While many invitations have been sent to former Nebraskans living in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California, the exercises and reception will be free to the public, and all will be made welcome at the Nebraska pavilion, and at the state's exercises throughout the day.

THE FARMER REAPS what he has previously sown. The humble, well-to-do farmer, who has been successful in his work, has been sown by his habits of carelessness in eating, sleeping and exercising. Keep well! If you can and when you need a little help in keeping well use Nature's remedies, that do not roughly stimulate but gently quicken the action of Nature's functions in a natural way. Nature's laboratory furnishes the following plants which enter into the manufacture of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

If in doubt as to your trouble or need of little advice, write to my trouble and I will send you a free copy of my book, "The Golden Medical Discovery," which will tell you all you need to know about your trouble and how to cure it. I have used the Golden Medical Discovery, and it has cured me of my trouble. I am now well and strong, and I am able to do my work as usual, feeling better than for years.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's "The Golden Medical Discovery." A splendid 100-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy of it, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only. To Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N
