Because of the name and fame of Seattle, the management of the Lewis and Clark Exposition has decided to give an entire week to the people of Seattle. During that week, which begins tomorrow and will be known as "Seattle Week," thousands of people from Seattle will come to Portland and the Exposition, to take part in the impressive ceremonies, and to indulge in various "high jinks." Wagner's famous band of 40 pieces will be one of the features of the week. To have the honor of representing the city at the Exposition during the week, the society leaders have vied with each other with a charming grace, and after much deliberation, and as has been stated with much trepidation, several representative women of Seattle have been selected. Mrs. Edmund Bowden, one of the leaders of Seattle society, will act as hostess-in-chief, and will be assisted by Mrs. Elisha P. Ferry, Mrs. Will E. Humphrey, Mrs. George W. Braden, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. J. E. Chilberg, Mrs. Samuel LeRoy Crawford, Mrs. George W. Braden, Mrs. W. A. Foster, Mrs. W. B. Judah, Mrs. George Kittling, Mrs. N. H. Laitner, Mrs. Homer Hill, Mrs. John B. McGowan, and Mrs. A. B. Stewart. These ladies will preside on Monday.

Hostesses for Several Days. On Tuesday the same women will act as hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Amos Brown, Mrs. J. J. Doherty, Mrs. L. S. Hawley, Mrs. Albert A. Schram, Mrs. Park W. Stewart, Mrs. William Dixon, Mrs. William Lake, Mrs. F. E. Peles, Mrs. W. W. Fenderson, Mrs. Albert J. Miller, of Ballard; Mrs. W. D. Brown, of Columbia City; Mrs. Mabel Risendorp, of Kent; Miss Margaret Furry, of Seaside; Mrs. Etta M. Langston, of South Park; Mrs. Amos Brown, of West Seattle, and Mrs. L. H. Pauley, of Auburn.

The following matrons, together with those already named, will assist in the following: Mrs. Homer Hill, Mrs. R. A. Ballinger, Mrs. Samuel H. Piles and Mrs. G. Yerkes. Seattle's Social Climax. At it will be on the last day of Seattle week that the social climax will be held. On that day two receptions will be held, at which all the hostesses will be present. In the evening a formal reception will be given to the officials of the city of Portland and of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and to their wives and friends. Mrs. Samuel H. Piles, Mrs. Will E. Humphrey and Mrs. R. A. Ballinger will be among those who will receive at this function. Among the debutantes who will assist in the social duties of the week are the Misses Harriet Ballance, Hazel Braden, Helen Brown, Charlotte Carmichael, Imogene Carragher, Ruth Cooper, Lucy E. Barrett, Mabel Chilberg, Dorothy Dean, Edna Denny, Geraldine Doherty, Lois Hart, Katie Horn, Ann Murray, Mary Kittlinger, Margaret Loveloy, Lil-Moon, Rebecca P. Moore, Ellen MacLellan, Alice Nevil, Bernice Post, Donahelp, Ruth Schram, Sophia Skinner, Mrs. Tiffany, Mrs. C. C. Brown, Mrs. M. J. Mason, Florence Woodcock, of Seattle; Miss Lina Pauley, of Auburn; the Misses Rosa DeKoss and Myrtle Park, of Ballard, and the Misses Elmer Schausman and Ella Skene, of South Park.

Following is the programme for each day: Monday—Reception to the ladies of Portland and of the Exposition, from 3 to 5 o'clock; selections by the Seattle String Quartet, and musical selections by Miss Clara Lewys, the noted singer of Seattle. Alaska and Commercial Day. Tuesday—Alaska and Commercial Day: Reception to the members of the commercial bodies of Portland and of Seattle, and to the representatives of Alaska. In the afternoon a musicale will be given, with the Administration Band in attendance. The feature of this reception will be a reading by Mrs. Beatrice McClure, the famous elocutionist of Seattle, who will recite Owen Meredith's "Aur Italiane," accompanied on the piano by Miss Catherine Potvin. Miss Lewys will render several solos, and the Seattle String Quartet will also give musical selections. Wednesday, School and College day—Professor and Mrs. Albert Gale, of Seattle, will give two musical illustrations on curious instruments of given the members of the National Educational Association, in convention at the Exposition, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Thursday, King County day—The Cities of California, Washington and Oregon Will Take Part in a Festival of Song at the Exposition Today.

ADMISSIONS, 21,200. The admissions department reported last night that 21,200 visitors passed through the gates at the Lewis and Clark Exposition yesterday. This makes the total attendance to date 1,457,740. This insures the figures reaching the million and a half mark by the first of next month.

Few conventions or special events have brought so many Pacific Coast people to Portland and the Exposition as has the Norwegian Sangerforbund. Last evening a conservative estimate of 3000 was placed on the number of people from Coast points, who are here to attend the singing-see in the Auditorium tonight, and to take part in the reunion which the Norwegian people will enjoy until Monday morning, when most of them will return to their home towns.

So unexpectedly large was the attendance from outside points that a committee was sent out last night to withdraw Auditorium tickets which had been set apart for local distribution. It was the idea of the committee in charge that those who had come from a distance to hear the singing-see should be given every opportunity to get inside the Auditorium, which will undoubtedly be crowded to the doors.

In all there are 12 singing clubs, aggregating 250 singers. The clubs vary in membership from 15 to 25 singers. The Astoria club has 45 members. All

BRYAN INVITED TO THE FAIR. The following telegram was sent to William Jennings Bryan yesterday by President Goode: Portland, Or., Aug. 26, 1905.—Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.: On behalf of Lewis and Clark Centennial management I take pleasure in extending you a hearty invitation to visit this Exposition. We should like to schedule a special day in your honor and give banquet accordingly. Please wire if agreeable, designating date for these functions. H. W. GOODE. President Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition.

These voices will be heard in choruses tonight and between the choruses, the competition of the various clubs will occur. The contest will be close as the reward is the Sangerforbund cup. The Seattle club now holds that trophy and will work hard to retain it. The clubs which will take part in the contest are from San Francisco, Eureka, Barlow, Cal.; Tacoma, Seattle, Everett, Astoria, Ballard, Parkland, Wash., and Portland. Two club halls from Ballard.

A grand rehearsal was held at Arion Hall yesterday afternoon. There were 225 singers and they spent the afternoon drilling. The rehearsal was in charge of Professor Carlo Asperati, of Tacoma. Arion Hall is being used as Aquatic Floats Will Join in Procession on Guild's Lake Forming a Beautiful Oriental Floral Pageant.

FIREMEN'S DAY AT THE FAIR. Veteran Volunteers of San Francisco in Attendance.

The feature of Firemen's day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition yesterday was the presence of 79 members of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, of San Francisco. In the morning the veterans gave a parade on the grounds. They were all attired in red shirts and blue trousers, and presented a very striking appearance.

The members of the association assembled at the main gates of the Exposition about 11 o'clock in the morning. They were met by the Administration band, and the Exposition Fire Department. They marched through the grounds for fully 15 minutes. At times they were heartily cheered by the visitors on the grounds. No exercises were held.

The members of the association are men who belonged to the old volunteer fire departments of San Francisco, which were replaced many years ago by a paid department. When the paid department was inaugurated, most of the members of the San Francisco volunteer organization severed all connection in this line. Some of them, however, have been members of paid departments for years. The members of the association on this Coast have been making trips to various points of interest along the Pacific Coast. This year they naturally selected Portland. It was the idea of the committee in charge that those who had come from a distance to hear the singing-see should be given every opportunity to get inside the Auditorium, which will undoubtedly be crowded to the doors.

Yesterday was Eagles' day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, but while there were several thousand members of this order at the Fair no exercises were held. The order was probably last night at the Exposition, but at night they took the trail by storm. As a result the trail was probably closed for some time at any time since the Exposition has been open.

Nebraska Exhibits. Free moving picture exhibition. Nebraska Pavilion, Agricultural Palace.

Dr. Broughter Returns. Rev. J. W. Whitcomb Broughter, the minister at the White Temple, will be in his pulpit today for the first time in five weeks. He has been on an extended trip to California, where he delivered a series of lectures and addresses at various Bible assemblies. He preaches in Oakland and Stockton and spent a few days on a large ranch near the latter city. For the last week he has been at Gearhart, Oregon, with his family, enjoying the seashore and playing golf. He has returned to his work greatly invigorated and will preach tonight on the subject "Was Jesus Christ a Christian?" This sermon is a sequel to Dr. Josiah Strong's great sermon of last Sunday. At the morning service at the White Temple Dr. C. A. Moody will tell the story of his recent trip to Europe, with special reference to the Baptist World Congress he attended in London.

President Shonts' Yacht Burns. MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 26.—The yacht Marguerite, owned by President Shonts of the Panama Commission, was destroyed by fire at Carabelle, Fla., last night.

EDUCATIONAL CONGRESS NEXT

Prominent Educators of the Nation Will Convene in Portland.

PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK

Noted Authorities and the Topics Upon Which They Will Lecture at the Big Gathering in the Auditorium.

Tomorrow brings the opening of the Educational Congress at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. This important congress ranks among the first of all the congresses and conferences of the Exposition. It will continue through the week.

Many of the country's greatest authorities upon educational subjects, as well as active educators, will be in attendance. Papers that will be read by them cover many phases of educational work, and the interchange of views should result in inestimable benefit.

Prominent Educators Here. Prominent among those who will participate in the Congress are: W. T. Harris, United States Commissioner of Education; Dr. A. S. Draper, Commissioner of Education for New York; Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California; F. Louis Soldan, City Superintendent of Schools for St. Louis; Superintendent of Schools for St. Paul, Professor H. M. Leipsziger, Supervisor of Lectures, New York, and others. Among the Northwestern educators who will take part are: Professor H. C. McLean, of the University of Idaho; E. D. Rossier, president of Monmouth Normal School; Professor H. D. Sheldon, University of Oregon; W. N. Ferris, president of Pacific University; J. B. Ackerman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction for Oregon; E. A. Bryan, president of Washington State College; Frank Rigler, Superintendent of Schools for Multnomah County; P. L. Campbell, president of University of Oregon; President Penrose, of Whitman College, and others.

Programme for Tomorrow. Tomorrow's session opens at 9 A. M. in the Exposition auditorium. The educators will be welcomed to the Exposition by President Goode. President W. N. Ferris, of Pacific University, will serve as presiding officer. The convocation address will be made by Dr. Harris. "Unsettled questions in the Organization and Administration of Schools" will be the subject of the first address, which will be made by Dr. A. S. Draper, Jr., Dr. Draper will be followed by Benjamin Ide Wheeler, of the University of California, who will speak on the subject, "The Relation of the Pacific Coast to Education in the Orient." These subjects will be subjected to general discussion, led by Professor J. R. Robertson, of Pacific University.

Work for Tuesday. Tuesday's programme is equally interesting. The general subject of the day is "Elementary and Secondary Education, Including the Kindergarten." E. V. Littlefield will act as presiding officer. The subject will be followed by Dr. A. S. Draper, Jr., who will speak on "The Problems of Classification." Discussion following this address will be led by A. B. Warner, Superintendent of General School for Spokane. The next speaker will be F. Louis Soldan, who will talk on "Education in a Democracy." Professor R. F. Mulkey, of the University of Idaho, will lead the discussion of this subject.

Programme for Rest of Week. The revised programme for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, as announced yesterday by W. G. Elliot, Jr., secretary of the congresses committee of the Exposition, follows: Wednesday—General subject of the day, "Normal School, and the Education and Training of Teachers." Professor E. D. Rossier, Monmouth Normal School, presiding officer of the day. Address, Professor A. H. Yoder, department of pedagogy, State University of Washington; subject, "Social Conditions and Elementary Educational Methods." Discussion will be opened by Professor H. D. Sheldon, of the University of Oregon. Address, Professor H. M. Leipsziger, superintendent of lectures, New York Normal School, "Manual Training." General discussion will be opened by W. W. Johnson, superintendent of the Washington educational exhibit, Lewis and Clark Exposition. Thursday—J. A. Church, City Superintendent of Schools at Baker City, presiding officer for the day. Address, Hon. C. C. Sherman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction for Oregon; subject, "The Problem of the Rural School." General discussion will be led by Miss Mae Jones, of Idaho. Address, Professor James McLean, of the University of Idaho; subject, "The Educational Situation in Idaho." Friday—General subject, "Technical and Industrial Education." County Superintendent R. F. Robinson, of Multnomah County, presiding officer of the day. Address, President E. A. Bryan, of Washington State College, Pullman; subject, "The Higher Agricultural Education." Address, Hon. Howard J. Rogers, Assistant Commissioner of Education for the State of New York; subject, "Education in Reference to Our Future Industrial and Commercial Development." General discussion will be led by Hon. A. L. Mills. Saturday—General subject, "Colleges and Universities." President William F. Kane, of the University of Washington, will act as presiding officer of the day. Address, President P. L. Campbell, University of Oregon; subject, "Education and the State." General discussion will be opened by President Penrose, of Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash. Address, Professor Samuel McCune Lindsay, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania; subject, "Education for Efficiency and the Demands of Modern Business."

Seattle Women Coming. SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Edmund Bowden, Mrs. Harriet DeFay, Mrs. George Braden, Miss Simpson, Mrs. Homer Hill and Mrs. John Leary left this morning for Portland. During Seattle week the ladies will be the American in their headquarters. The programme Friday morning of the Seattle week at the Washington building will be in charge of Mrs. Carolyn Williams, leader of the music department of the Seattle Woman's Club, and promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the week. Friday's club day, all the clubwomen of Seattle and Portland are especially invited to the morning and evening programme at the Washington building.

Harry Murphy Hits the Trail and Here Are His Impressions

READER, have you not, after futile efforts to goad your jaded soul to joy with all the vices and devices that twentieth century ingenuity can suggest, concluded sadly, that the days of spontaneous gladness and novel experiences are with your childhood, a memory? If so, permit me, like a ray of sunshine, to dispell the opaque gloom. In the words of that other celebrated gentleman, Dr. Munyon, I am here to say, "There is hope!" What is this unalloyed boon, the bliss and pleasure-fagged? Do the trails that lie there are more sensational to the square foot on that outre thoroughfare than can be discovered this side the limits of an opium den. To portray all that awaits the intrepid explorer into that land of heterogeneous sights and sounds would find one edition of the paper woefully inadequate—not to mention the proportionate incapacity of my descriptive powers. However, to convey an idea—albeit perforce a weak one—of some of its marvels, I might remark that for a trivial outlay one may emulate the melancholic Dante, and get on sociable terms with the dwellers of a certain demontic region on the other side of the Stygian river. Here is a rare opportunity to become accustomed to the place. Differing somewhat is the baby incubator. I conceive this marvelous invention to be a manifold blessing to our distracted country; not only is it expected to eradicate the race suicide evil, but it will relieve very decidedly a condition which has been the bane of republics from time immemorial—hereditary caste. If the incubator was a universal mother, a weighty problem would be solved. The term "best families" would become a misnomer. Of course some minor distinctions might be manifest in regard to the respective makes of the apparatus, but this, it is thought, would be insignificant in its consequences. Then there is the erudite equine. A learned horse, that by comparison might make many a college president look like a tyro. In the haunted swing is to be enjoyed the rather unique sensation of a perambulation on the ceiling. This is accomplished without ill effects—in fact I incline to the belief that it is, if anything, salutary—producing a healthful activity in the gastric area. Distinctive is the Blue Grotto, where you may observe thrillingly pictured the creation of the world. This should be peculiarly interesting to the many who think they own it. The Carnival of Venice is an apocalypse to the aesthete, a feast of the senses. The animal show offers unusual inducements to the zoological student in its incomparable assemblage of truculent denizens of field and forest. While on the subject of natural history, there is the exhibit of Cartoonist Davenport, of which I could say much, were it not choked with professional jealousy. But as there really is no end to the features of this bedlam of pleasure, I would be none to this paper were I even to enumerate them. HARRY MURPHY.
