GREAT FIGHTERS MEET AT COLMA

Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson Will Contest in 45-Round Battle.

MAY GO TO THE FINISH

Purse of $20,000 Offered by Coffroth Brings the Lightweight Together—Betting Is Now at Even Money.

Never in the history of battles between little fellows has there been as much interest taken as there is in the coming fight between Jimmy Britt, of California, and Battling Nelson, of Chicago. This fight from many angles promises to be one of the greatest ever pulled off in the lightweight division and only once before have little fellows fought for a larger purse.

Another thing can be truthfully said about Jimmy Coffroth, he is the only man who could have brought Britt and Nelson together. Others tried and failed. Long ago Coffroth promised the fight fans that he would bring these two boys together.

While Britt and Nelson were mulling—that is, while Billy Nolan and Willie Britt were saying terrific things about each other—the fight fans were warring. In some quarters it was believed that Britt would refuse to come through and hook up with Nelson in a longer than a 20-round battle.

Not since the John L. Sullivan-Jim Corbett, the Jim Corbett-Fitzsimmons, or the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons, or the Jeffries-Sharkey battles has a fight caused so many pro and con arguments as the approach of this battle between two great lightweights.

So far, there has been little betting on the fight. There has been some made here at even. Before the hour rolls around for the men to face each other, Britt will undoubtedly be installed the favorite.

George Siler, one of the best writers on this fistic game in the country, has the following to say of the approaching fight: "Britt must be given credit for being a clever fighter and an excellent ring general.

"O'Keefe, Sullivan, Sieger, Corbett, O'Keefe, Sullivan and Nelson sent the route with him and finished in good shape. His fights with Corbett and Nelson were decided on 'hair line' finishes, and he was considered fortunate to secure a draw with O'Keefe. He beat the Englishman, James White, quite handily, and fight being stopped within a half-minute of the final round.

who was shipped to San Francisco from Baltimore simply to fill a date and to pick up some easy money for the Brits and Nelson would have stood above Britt in the matter of administering hard punishment. Besides his superior hitting qualities he outclasses the Californian in infighting and in aggressiveness, important factors in a battle over any distance.

"Opinions differ as to the justice of the decision in his recent fight with Britt, but the consensus of opinion is that Nelson would have stood above Britt in the matter of administering hard punishment. Besides his superior hitting qualities he outclasses the Californian in infighting and in aggressiveness, important factors in a battle over any distance.

"Nelson's method of administering punishment was to come in, get within easy range, and then slam away with both hands with machine-like rapidity. Blows delivered on those lines are not catchy, so to speak, and are generally overlooked by the spectators. Nelson's method is not the slightest doubt Nelson landed more blows than did Britt in that battle, but they were not as artistic as were the blows of the latter.

"The rounds in their coming battle are set at a distance that will require a vast amount of stamina, and should prove a real test. It will also compel them to get in the best condition possible and to pay strict attention to strengthening their legs, as they will have to depend on them in the face. It is difficult to state the method of mulling they will adopt, as the distance is farther than they ever have been asked to travel.

made of medicated "cocoa butter," which dissolves readily at the temperature of the body. This easily passes the smallest obstruction without pain. It heals the inflammation and removes the congestion and swelling. It promptly reaches the weakened "seminal ducts," heals them and stops unnatural drains. In most cases internal medicine is required also. The "crayon" is only used in complicated cases. The patient feels it without any trouble at sight by means of
