A LETTER TO OUR READERS

Dear Sir—Since I was in the Army I had more than five kidney troubles, and within the past year it became so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a short time.

I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. In order to be very sure about this, I had a doctor examine me. I saw my water today and he pronounced it all right and in splendid condition. I know that my Swamp-Root is purely vegetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. Thanking you for my complete recovery and recommending Swamp-Root to all sufferers, I am,

Word reached the pilot's office here today that all big liners were advised to anchor at Batticoast, above the stranded Allan liner, while vessels in the lower river have been advised to move very slowly. The fog and smoke still hangs over the river today, and three Liverpool liners due here were detained indefinitely. Steamers which sailed from here today are at anchor in the river above the stranded Victorian, awaiting the lifting of the fog.

WAITS TO SEE BROTHER

Deported Consumptive Secures Delay Under Pathetic Circumstances.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The machinery of the immigration law at this port has been stopped in the case of a young Irishman, who had been ordered sent back to his island home, because he is suffering from tuberculosis. This unusual procedure was taken so that the man's brother, en route from Indianapolis, might see him for the first and probably last time.

Patrick Kilroy, a well-to-do old Irishman, who for nearly a quarter of a century has made his home in North Salem, Ind., decided a few weeks ago that the climate of Indiana was the thing to restore the health of his son, Thomas, whom he left in Ireland when he came to the United States in the early '80s. He sent for the young man, and wrote that Thomas would be met at the Indianapolis station by his brothers and sisters, several of whom he had never seen.

Young Kilroy arrived in New York last Sunday morning on the Celtic. The Marine Hospital doctors who boarded the Celtic at quarantine, ordered his return to Ireland. Thursday afternoon Kilroy was ordered to prepare for the voyage Friday morning. A few moments later a telegram arrived from Superintendent Charles Stagle, who said that, although he was coming East on the fastest train he could get, he would be unable to reach New York until 15 minutes after the Celtic sailed.

In a broken voice, Thomas pleaded with the inspectors that he be allowed to remain until the next sailing. They were much affected by the unusual nature of the case and telephoned the steamship officials. The latter agreed to forego the bill, and Kilroy was allowed to remain behind a few days. His brother arrived at Hills Island Friday.
