Farewell Clambake at Seaside.

Mrs. J. F. Miller, of Lota Cottage, gave a farewell clambake and bonfire party to a number of friends the night of September 1. The country was devoted to the pleasures of music, games and stories, after which the hostess served her guests with refreshments of clams, baked potatoes, the ambrosia. Following were the guests: The Misses Margaret Gelsler, Florence and Helen Judge, Winnie Lewis, Estelle, Mary and Lucy Ripley, Mildred Norton, Mamie and Florence Friar, of Portland; Miss Bessie De Boies, of Seaside; Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Boies, of Seaside; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eichhorn, Mrs. J. H. Stevenson, Mrs. H. Judge, Mrs. Friar, H. A. Stiles, Mr. Val Friar and Mrs. J. E. Miller.

NO GROUND FOR UNEASINES

C. C. Hutchinson Tells of Steps Taken Within the Law.

PORTLAND, Sept. 2.—(To the Editor)—The intimations appearing in The Oregonian from your trustworthy Salem correspondent cause some uneasiness on the part of settlers upon the lands now being irrigated under contract with the state by the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company. It is well understood that the title of these lands passes by patent from the United States to the state only upon proof that sufficient water had been furnished in canals for the reclamation and permanent irrigation of the same. This proof must be furnished by the company having contract for such reclamation, and every step must be approved by both state and United States officials, and the law is explicit in demanding this proof, which is the guarantee to the settler of a future water supply. Everyone knows that the Deschutes River carries every day of every year much more water than can even be utilized in the irrigation of the 25,000 acres

SEASIDE, Sept. 2.—(Special Correspondence)—The past week has been very quiet at the resorts here, the chief event being the departure for home of many who have taken active part in the social season during the past six weeks. The Shell Road presents a rather deserted appearance, and the crowd at the bowling alleys shows visible effects of the thinning-out process which has been taking place. The hotels, however, are still enjoying an unprecedented rush of tourist travel, and this is expected to continue for some time at least.

The Y. W. C. A. convention will spend the coming week at Seaside, and will probably keep things lively during their stay, as many will attend who are making their first visit to the ocean.

The weather continues ideal, and for the past week has been the most pleasant this season. Much has helped to make the present season the success it has been, and it is with great regret that the pleasure-seekers abandon their good times and return to town. Those still coming will find the place beautiful beyond expectation, and while there will be comparatively few social events from now on, the beauties and pleasures of the long Indian Summer will afford much to the newcomer that the regular Summer crowd has missed.

Gearhart Park.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris and family, of Philadelphia, together with Mrs. I. M. S. Morris, Miss Etta and Fred S. Morris, of Portland, have been spending a delightful few days at Kruse's Beach Hotel. Mrs. K. H. Koehler and Miss Etta Koehler, who spent August at Kruse's Beach Hotel, returned to Portland Wednesday.

A charming excursion to Flavel was enjoyed by a party of young ladies chaperoned by Mrs. Theo. Kruse last Tuesday. The party went in a large four-horse conveyance, took an elaborate luncheon, and spent a pleasant day in wandering around the pretty grounds of the old hotel and visiting Port Stevens in the immediate vicinity. Those in the party were: Misses Lisa Wood, Evelyn Wilson, C. L. Wilson, Frances Wilson, Joan Mackenzie, Ruth and Josephine Smith, Hazeline Williams, Miss Livingstone and Mrs. Theo. Kruse.

Seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Danlway and family are occupying a cottage near the Necanicum Inn. W. B. Honeyman enjoyed a few days at the Moore last week. Mrs. C. A. Coburn and her grand-daughter, Miss Jean Stinson, are spending a week with Mrs. C. Goodell, at Seaside.

A party from the Necanicum Inn enjoyed a very pleasant excursion to Elk Creek last Sunday. The picnic was arranged for the special benefit of Lewis C. Brown, of New York, and was pronounced a success by those present, who were: Emma K. Lammons, Clara Bell, George Lammons, John C. McCue and Lewis C. Brown.

A very pleasant but informal musicale was given by Mrs. E. R. Piper at her cottage last Sunday night. Those taking part were: Mrs. Piper, Constance Piper, Miss Willie, Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer, and Miss Eleanor Hohen. After the musical programme a dainty luncheon was served.

AT NORTH BEACH.

Tourists Arriving Daily Keep the Hotels Busy.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 2.—(Special Correspondence)—The social season here is rapidly drawing to a close. Numerous tourists are still arriving daily and will continue to keep the hotels busy for the next few weeks, but the steady beach crowd of cottagers and summer boarders is diminishing in numbers, and with its departure goes the spirit of enterprise and activity which has largely been responsible for the many pleasant social gatherings and excursions of the past month. No longer are seen the scores of familiar faces at the steamer dock waiting to greet their friends, and to the little band of old-timers remaining the place presents a lonesome and deserted appearance. This can hardly be ascribed to any natural cause, for nature was never more lavish with her beautiful weather than now, but the old precedent of returning home by the first of September seems hard to remove, and during the past week storm shutters and gate padlocks have been coming more and more into prominence. The extension of the Summer schedule for the boats, however, is checking the homeward rush to a certain extent, and with the reinforcements of tourists expected, it is probable that the season will be kept open later than usual, as the absence of the Summer crowd will not be noticed or considered a drawback to those visiting the resorts for the first time.

Ocean Park.

Miss Rita Hanson has been visiting Miss Anna Scott. Mrs. Mark Gill, Miss Luene Moreland and Miss Ruth Honeyman are occupying the Gill cottage. Captain W. S. Powell has played himself to be the champion croquet player of the park. Misses Jessie and Edith Hart have returned to their home in Kansas after a delightful visit with Mrs. D. W. Smith, of Vancouver. Last Thursday evening a party of girls enjoyed a sailing party on Shoal-water Bay. Owing to the scarcity of young men, the young ladies decided to go alone and in order that the affair should be more realistic, half of them donned male attire. Those in the party were: Miss Nora Setters, Miss Jessie Hart, Miss Edith Hart, Miss Frances Prince, Vera Prince, Hazel Norman, Gladys Mackenzie, Ethel Scott and Anna Scott. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Jennie Cooper. Last Thursday evening Miss Frances Oberetter gave a very charming party in honor of Miss Alma Hallock at her home in the grove. What was the amusement of the evening and later refreshments were served, bringing the evening to a pleasant close. Those present were: Misses Edith and Jessie Hart, Frances Oberetter, Miss Alma Hallock, Robert Oberetter, Lou Centio, Harold Smith, Ben Shipley. Another pleasant sailing party was enjoyed Monday by a large party from the park. Taking a bountiful lunch, the party spent the entire day and succeeded in reaching Long Island before returning home. Those in the party were: Judge and Mrs. A. Frazer, Master Kenneth Frazer, Misses Genevieve Frazer and Dorothy Frazer, Captain and Mrs. W. S. Powell, Misses Alice and Bessie Clayton, Harold Smith and Ben Shipley.

Long Beach and Sea View.

Miss Louise Schaffer, who has been spending the Summer with Mrs. A. Schacht, has returned to her home in Portland. The guests of the Seacraft gave a large bonfire last Saturday night in honor of Captain H. Robertson, who is about to depart for Honolulu. When the blaze was at its height, refreshments were served on the beach and the large gathering present spent a pleasant social evening. L. Daily, of Portland, gave the people of Sea View a very pleasant evening last Wednesday. A fire was built upon the beach and upon it a large quantity of marshmallows were roasted. Watermelon cake and candy were also served. A whist party was given at the Salt Air last Tuesday evening. Eight tables of players participated in the game which was very closely contested. After the first prize had been given to P. H. W. Ross, of Ellensburg, and Mrs. F. V. Ash, of Portland, and the consolation to E. H. Harris and Miss E. H. Bell, also of Portland, refreshments were served. Another large bonfire was built by a crowd from the Salt Air Thursday evening. After enjoying the cheery blaze and feasting on quantities of popcorn and fruit the merry-makers returned to the hotel and, not being wholly satisfied with the evening's hilarity, started a dance which lasted until 12 o'clock and which was greatly enjoyed by those present, about 40 in number.

Old Love-Letters Wanted.

London Chronicle.
"Old man wants to buy or borrow old love-letters; no names used." This cold-blooded advertisement has appeared in the Sydney Morning Herald. What does he want them for? Presumably he is writing an amatory novel, and wants the inspiring reality. The records of Australia breach-of-promise cases would furnish him with an abundance of material but perhaps he is anxious to have his love-letters absolutely fresh. No twice-loved omelettes for him.

Land Commissioner D. I. & P. Co.

proposed to be relieved in Crook County under the Carey law by the Deschutes Company. That the company is building canals of sufficient size to thoroughly irrigate the land lying under the same and amply supply each tract, is a fact known to all who have visited the country, and it is immaterial as to the date when State Engineer J. H. Lewis can examine these works, and corrections of the land descriptions by him are a part of his routine duties. There has not been and cannot be any conflict between this official or the State Land Board and the Deschutes Company. Where the land titles of homesteaders depend upon the accuracy of all land lists and strict compliance with the laws and forms as prescribed, there must be delays which are not understood by everyone. The circulars and advertisements of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company explicitly assume for the company, full responsibility for its contracts and for the irrigation of the land. Any who desired to drop their first section of land and take other lands have been accommodated by the company, although out of 30,000 acres selected not a half dozen such changes have been requested. The State Land Board has never "balked" in the performance of its onerous duties under our state law accepting the Carey act, and last year took the long journey necessary to verify by personal inspection the actual conditions of the region, and it is hoped that the Board will find it possible to accompany State Engineer Lewis in his inspection of the works under construction. C. C. HUTCHINSON, Land Commissioner D. I. & P. Co.
