JAPAN HAS JOKER IN PEACE TREATY

Gave Up Demand for Indemnity but Got Other Things of Equal Value.

PARAMOUNT IN PACIFIC

Articles on Sakhalin and Fisheries Secure Control—Envoys Pay Farewell Visits to Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—As with all things Japanese, there is a little joker hidden in the recent peace treaty, put there by the wily Komura and the shrewd Takahira. It means that, while Japan was, little by little, ceding her rights to an indemnity for war costs, she was covertly reserving a way to get from the Russian bear greater money prize than he would ever have been able to pay in the name of an indemnity. This prize and joker is contained in the ninth and eleventh articles of the treaty. Tonight all Washington is laughing in its sleeve at the way that Russia has handed over, through these clauses of the treaty, over $20,000,000 annually to Japan. The clause reads:

"Russia cedes to Japan the southern part of Sakhalin Island as far north as the 39th degree of north latitude, together with the islands dependent thereon. The right of free navigation is assured in the bays of La Perouse and Tartaria." This seems to be very simple in its phrasing, but read article 11 and you will see the fine and crafty hand of the Japanese, when the clause states:

"Russia engages herself to make an agreement with Japan, giving to Japanese subjects the right to fish in Russian territorial waters, the sea of Japan, the Sea of Okhotsk and Bering Sea." Both of these clauses, it is asserted here by eminent authorities, are nothing less than giving to Japan paramount power in the Pacific Ocean. Her in advance of the United States there and giving her fishery rights in the seas of Bering, Okhotsk, Tartaria and La Perouse, worth a third more than are fishery rights in the Pacific worth to the United States. Japan's rights are now under the treaty said to be worth $20,000,000 annually, or more than those of the United States there. If an indemnity had been granted to Japan, she would not have gained these rights. Under an indemnity clause all she would have ever been able to get from Russia is 5 per cent interest on the $600,000,000 she demanded. This would have amounted to $30,000,000. The first demand had been accepted by Russia, a sixth of it would have satisfied Japan. Finding that she could not get the indemnity demanded, she Japan-façon got it by fashioning this joker and having it put in the treaty. This is why Washington smiles—diplomatically Washington, at least.

DINED BY THE PRESIDENT

Japanese and Russian Peace Diplomats Received Separately.

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 9.—Entertaining Baron Komura and Minister Takahira at luncheon today, Mr. White and Baron Rosen at dinner tonight, President Roosevelt extended to the peace envoys from Japan and Russia his first official courtesies and expressed to them, on behalf of the American people, gratification that the labor of their mission to America had been performed successfully.

Baron Komura and Minister Takahira arrived at Oyster Bay on board the naval yacht Sylph, which had been sent to New York for them. They reached Sagamore Hill at 1 o'clock, and remained with the President for two hours. Both Baron Komura and Minister Takahira expressed to the President their appreciation of his efforts, to which they attributed largely the success of the conference in reaching an agreement. When the Japanese envoys took their leave, they went aboard the Sylph, which sailed immediately for New York.

Tonight Mr. White and Baron Rosen, the Russian envoys, were the guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner. Mr. White's well-understood antipathy to travel by water induced the Russian envoys to make the trip to Oyster Bay by rail. At the Oyster Bay station the Russian intermediaries in the negotiations are said to have been the Minister at London and the German Ambassador at St. Petersburg.

RUMOR OF SECRET TREATY

London Story That Czar Personally Will Pay Indemnity.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A special to the World from London today revives the frequently and officially denied stories that a secret treaty has been made between the Emperor of Russia and Japan. The intermediaries in the negotiations are said to have been the Minister at London and the German Ambassador at St. Petersburg.

The treaty provides that the Emperor of Russia shall pay to Japan $200,000,000 in five years, less the amount which Russia will pay Japan for the care and maintenance of Russian prisoners of war, $50,000,000, as provided in the treaty of Portsmouth. It is reported, also, that Russia agrees in the treaty to give Japan a free hand in China, though this point is not so certain as the other. The treaty was made without the knowledge of Baron Komura and Mr. Witte.

ROSEN CALLS RUMOR ABSURD

No Secret Treaty Made—Witte Wonders at Free Speech.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Baron Rosen today gave out an emphatic and unqualified denial of a story called from London to the effect that a secret treaty had been arranged directly between the Emperor of Russia and the Emperor of Japan, providing, among other things, that Russia should pay to Japan an indemnity of $200,000,000, less $50,000,000 to be paid for the care and maintenance of the Russian prisoners of war. Baron Rosen declared the story had not the slightest foundation, and was absurd on its face.

Mr. Witte visited the rogues' gallery at Police Headquarters with Commissioner McArdon and examined the weapons which notorious murderers have been committed. Then he inquired about punishment for political agitation in the United States. When in answer to this question he was informed that freedom of speech was a literal fact, and the police interfered only when speeches became actions, Mr. Witte remarked:

"In Russia, should a man say, 'Down with the Czar,' we would send him to Siberia without waiting for anything more."

EACH PLEDGES FRIENDSHIP

Witte and Loubet Exchange Telegrams on Conclusion of Peace.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The following exchange of telegrams has taken place between Mr. Witte and President Loubet of France:

Paris, Sept. 9.—The President of the French Republic, having signed today, in accordance with the order of my august master, the treaty of peace, I recall the cordial interview with which you honored me during my visit to Paris. Knowing your sentiments toward my sovereign and the Russian people, I cannot refrain from advising you of the great event which has just taken place. I am persuaded that this event will serve to strengthen the relations of friendship and alliance which exist between the two great peoples to which we belong; and I beg you, Mr. President, to accept the expression of my profound respect for yourself as head of the great friendly and allied nation.

(Signed) SERGIUS WITTE.

The reply follows: I am profoundly touched by the sentiments which inspired your telegram and which correspond to the cordiality and fidelity of our own. I hope to see you again soon and to have the pleasure of further felicitating you upon having so nobly fulfilled the high mission confided in you by his majesty, Emperor Nicholas. France is happy over the peace concluded by the great friendly and allied nations, and is one in spirit with the Russian people. (Signed) EMILE LOUBET.

ARMISTICE NOW IN EFFECT

Details Being Arranged Between Commanding Generals.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The Foreign Office broke its long silence this afternoon and informed the public that the armistice became effective on September 5. It provides for neutral zones in Manchuria and along the Tumen River and debar any reinforcement of troops now in the field. It does not, however, suspend naval activity nor the right of seizure on the sea. It also provides for details to the commanding Generals, Oyama and Linkevitch.

Komura and Takahira at Banquet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Baron Komura and Minister Takahira were entertained last night at a private dinner given by fellow-countrymen at a Fifth-avenue restaurant. Fourteen persons were present and Consul-General Uchida acted as host. Outside of the waiters, none but Japanese were present, and the speeches, which continued for an hour, were entirely in Japanese, the tongue of Nippon. It was stated that the internal troubles of home formed the chief topic of discussion.

NIGHT WITH MOSQUITOES

VICTIM OF YELLOW FEVER QUARANTINE ANGRY.

Whole Family Shut Up in Car—Scarcity of Nurses—Disease Breaks Out at Baton Rouge.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Eugene Wooten, a prominent merchant of Marksville, La., has written a letter denouncing the quarantine authorities of that place for compelling his wife and child and himself to spend the night in a train coach at the mercy of mosquitoes. He says he and his family spent the required time in a detention camp, but his health certificate, issued by the Marine Hospital Service, was ignored and he was ejected from the train while making connections. The State Board is investigating and will prosecute the offenders.

The supply of yellow fever nurses is almost exhausted. The demand for them is increasing on account of the discovery of fever in distant parts of the state. Two more nurses were sent to Tullahoma today and an equal number to Kenner. The county authorities besieging the State Board for men and women to take care of patients and, unless the supply is enhanced, there will be a nurse famine.

The inefficiency of the county quarantine was manifested today when the official announcement was made that a case of fever had appeared at Baton Rouge. Ever since the fever broke out here Baton Rouge has been tightly bottled up. No person was allowed to enter the town until it was proven that the traveler did not visit any infected place. The Marine Hospital certificates were ignored, and all persons were required to spend seven days in a detention camp near Baton Rouge, despite detention in other camps.

Though the number of new cases in New Orleans today was disappointing, the death report was so favorable as to confirm the frequently expressed opinion that the fever is practically under control.

Yellow Fever at Baton Rouge.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—Advises were received here today that yellow fever had appeared at Baton Rouge, the capital.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 9.—Two cases of yellow fever developed here today. One death occurred.

DIRE LOSSES IN EARTHQUAKE

About 450 Dead Are Already Found and 1000 Badly Injured.

CABINET TO GIVE RELIEF

Whole Families in Southern Italy Are Wiped Out, but the Worst Is Now Considered to Be Over.

ROME, Sept. 9.—The effects of the earthquake were more disastrous than at first reported. Dispatches from the south give increasing lists of dead and injured, the numbers now running into the thousands. Martirano alone shows 2300 casualties, while at Parghella the number of dead is estimated at 300 and at Lappulo 200. In some cases whole families have been wiped out.

The greatest agitation continues among the populace. Slight shocks are felt occasionally and subterranean rumblings are still heard. Those persons still possessing homes refuse to enter them.

The worst is now considered to be over. Those left destitute are beginning to feel the pangs of hunger and there is also much suffering by those insufficiently clad. In addition to the gift of King Victor Emmanuel and Ministerial subsidies, newspapers in every part of Italy have opened subscriptions. Public sympathy has been aroused in an exceptional degree and everybody regards the event as an awful calamity. Officers and private citizens in the affected provinces and throughout the kingdom are hastening to assist in the work of rescue and are displaying almost superhuman energy in these efforts.

Official figures of the victims of the earthquakes in the Province of Catanzaro show that 1000 persons have already been found, that about 1000 were injured and that there are an enormous number of persons without shelter.

MINISTER GOES TO CALABRIA

Finds Villages in Ruins and Full of Weeping Survivors.

NOCEIRA, Italy, Sept. 9.—Signor Ferraris, the Minister of Public Works, arrived here today by special train and continued his journey toward Monteleone. The railway lines in Calabria are much damaged, and the trains are proceeding slowly.

Travelers arriving here from Calabria are profoundly impressed with the catastrophe. The depot at Parghella is completely destroyed. The travelers recount seeing villages reduced to ruins and men and women weeping and seeking to find and bury the bodies of their relatives. All the depots from San Giovanni to Santa Eufemia are invaded by the populace demanding succor. The spectacle is terrifying.

CABINET WILL GIVE RELIEF

Houses and Churches in Messina Cracked by Earthquake.

ROME, Sept. 9.—A member of the cabinet ministers will be held tomorrow to consider measures of relief for the sufferers from yesterday's earthquake in Calabria. King Victor Emmanuel has given $20,000 for the relief of the families of the victims.

MRS. TAGGART HAS INNING

Her Lawyer in Addressing Court Roasts the Newspapers.

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 9.—Mrs. Taggart's side had but a short inning in the Taggart case today. Up to within an hour of the adjournment of the court, Attorney Wertz for the plaintiff poured his arguments into the court, and Attorney Smysler, who had been waiting for months for this argument, arose and began his plea. It was evident from the first words of Smysler that he did not like the attitude of the newspapers towards his client during the present trial. He went into details about the publicity that was given the case from the outset and intimated that it did not come from his side.

"As the time approached for the trial," he said, "we had on hand newspaper reports from the uttermost parts of the country. In all the weeks, and I may bring anathemas on my head when I say so, not one word has gone to the public press, with but one single exception, in favor of my client. I do not know whether people representing these papers are corrupt, neither do I care. Now, your honor, thank God it is not the public press, but it is your honor, who decides from the testimony and that alone. There cannot longer be any coloring found."

Smysler went into the story of Mrs. Taggart's life, the wooing by Major Taggart, and he recited her love and fidelity to her husband and her ambition for his success. Smysler's plea was very strong, and many oratorical prototechnics are expected Monday when his resumé, Mrs. Taggart remained away from the courtroom entirely during the plea of Attorney Wertz, but entered when Smysler began to speak.
