

GALA DAY BY THE SEA

Unique Features at Y. W. C. A. Conference.

GIRLS PARADE IN WHITE

Many Associations Take Part in Novel and Pleasing Programme in Grove at Seaside-Stirring Address at Night.

SEASIDE, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—At the Northwest Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association, the morning was devoted to the usual classes and conferences. In the afternoon were held special and unique features of these conferences, the procession of Association day being a gala event. A long line of girls in white gowns left Hotel Moore for the appointed place in the grove, many in fantastic costumes. An entertaining programme was rendered. Twenty-two college and city associations each presented a characteristic number—pantomimes, dialogues, original songs, college yells. The notable ones were Seattle with totem poles, and Portland as the Rose City, with garlands of roses, each giving original songs. National Secretaries Misses Barnes, Cratty and Kyle surprised and pleased the assembly with a vocal tribute to each of the four states represented. Miss Walker, secretary of the Seattle Association, presided. At the evening service in the auditorium a stirring address was given by Rev. John Marvin Dean, of Seattle. The latest arrivals are Dr. Charles E. Brown, Oakland, Cal.; Miss Helen Mathews, Mrs. W. T. Willett, of Portland.

PURE WATER FOR CORVALLIS

Date Set for Receiving Bids for Bond Issue.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—October 9 has been set as the date for receiving bids for the $150,000 in bonds for a system of waterworks with Rock Creek, a stream far up the slopes of Mary's Peak as the source of supply. The bonds are to bear 4 per cent interest, payable semi-annually. The issue is backed both by the credit of the city and the water receipts. The bonds are after seven years, payable in 2 per cent installments annually, or all may be called in after ten years. The city has a population of 2400 within the city limits, and taxable property worth $1,250,000, valued for assessment purposes at $518,800. The arrangements for the issue were finally completed at a meeting of the water board last night, at which time bids were ordered called for material and construction work. Bids for the pipe line are to be received for 1 1/2 miles of wood pipe of 30 and 12 inches diameter, and for 1 1/2 miles of wood or steel pipe for the city distribution system, including various sizes. Bids are also to be received for the excavations and back filling, and for clearing about three miles of right-of-way. The system is to have a capacity of a million gallons per day, or more than 400 gallons per capita for the present population. Corvallis has a present debt of $22,000, of which $10,000 is for sewers.

FALL FISHING OPENS TODAY

Only Washington Canneries to Run. Gillnetters Will Fish.

ASTORIA, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The Fall fishing season will open at which time bids were ordered called for material and construction work. Bids for the pipe line are to be received for 1 1/2 miles of wood pipe of 30 and 12 inches diameter, and for 1 1/2 miles of wood or steel pipe for the city distribution system, including various sizes. Bids are also to be received for the excavations and back filling, and for clearing about three miles of right-of-way. The system is to have a capacity of a million gallons per day, or more than 400 gallons per capita for the present population. ## Starbuck Votes to Incorporate.

STARBUCK, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Starbuck voted to incorporate today by a vote of 31 for and 23 against. A full set of municipal officers were elected. Electric lights and other local questions caused this action, the town having been growing to a degree calling for organization as a town of the fourth class.

First Gas on Gray's Harbor.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Gas will be used on Gray's Harbor for the first time about October 1. The works of the Gray's Harbor Gas company will be ready before that date. Ten miles of pipe have been laid in this city and Hoquiam.

Chicago Couple Married.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Anna Viola Morris and F. L. Collins, of Chicago, were married in this city by Justice of the Peace Stipp this afternoon.

IMPROVED LIGHT SERVICE

Ashland Will Receive Immediate Benefit From Court's Action.

ASHLAND, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Ashland is anticipating an improved electric light service as a result of an order of the Circuit Court dissolving an injunction obtained by the city authorities restraining the local electric light company from setting additional pole lines within the city limits. The local company is now rushing work to make connections with a power line run to the city limits some time ago by the Ray Company from its power station on Rogue River to supplement the local company's current, which has become inadequate to supply the growing needs of the city during the season of low water in Ashland Creek, upon which it has been depending largely for power. The light company claims a franchise of many years' standing granted by a former City Council in 1881, under which it has been operating continuously, but the present city administration set up a claim of authority to annul the franchise and was granted a temporary injunction, as asked for, which left the light company in an embarrassed condition. The matter was reopened, however, by Judge Hanna, who, on fuller hearing, decided that he had erred in his first opinion. He, therefore, reversed it, holding that the company had rights which were, in effect, a perpetual franchise, though not an exclusive one. The city gave notice of an appeal of the case, but the facts and testimony will have to be brought out at a trial of the case and formal opinion entered before appeal can be taken, so that it gives the company ample time to set its poles as desired and get an auxiliary current. One reason given by the city for pressing the case to a determination of rights in the matter was that Ashland had voted bonds to install a municipal light plant, which it was feared might have difficulty in competing with the established private company, so that the findings of the Circuit Court are not very encouraging toward the installation of a municipal plant, as proposed. The city is also engaged in litigation over water rights in Ashland Creek with the electric light company, which matter comes up for hearing and testimony at the current term of the Circuit Court.

PROMISES TO DO THINGS

EUGENE SYNDICATE BUYS EUGENE WATER PLANT.

Reduction in Rates and Extension of Service May Have Effect on Coming Election.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—By a deed that was closed today, the property of the Eugene Water Company passes into the hands of Eastern capitalists. The names of the purchasers are not known, but it is a syndicate of Philadelphia capitalists represented here by E. W. Hall. It is the same syndicate that recently purchased the property of the Lane County Electric Company, and is also supposed to be behind the proposed Eugene gas works. It is evident the syndicate intends to launch into enterprises of large proportions. The intention is declared of inaugurating sweeping changes in reduction of rates, extension of service as explained to a meeting of citizens tonight. This public declaration of their plans was made because Monday next a special election is to be held for the purpose of voting bonds for municipal water and light works for the city, and it may have some effect on the vote.

Dr. Lamberson Granted Divorce.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Dr. Gertrude Lamberson, of Portland, was today granted a decree of divorce from Alfred B. Lamberson by Circuit Court Judge McBride, who also returned decrees of divorce in two other suits as follows: Mary C. Riley vs. W. J. Riley; James J. Burkhardt vs. Edith Burkhardt.

To Tap Rich Timber Country.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Surveyors are at work on a logging road for the Coats Logging Company, a few miles above the forks of the Wishkah River. Ten miles of road will be built at a cost of $300 a mile. This road with extensions planned is expected to tap a country in which there is a billion feet of timber to be brought out.

FORCED INTO BATH

able than the experiences of a Southern Oregon woman at that institution some time ago. The facts have been kept secret for several weeks and even now the names are rigidly suppressed, but a prominent official is authority for the essential features of the story. A little girl had been committed to the asylum and given into the custody of the Sheriff of a Southern Oregon county. In accordance with custom, when the patient is a female, a woman was employed as assistant in bringing the girl to Salem. At the asylum the party of three entered the waiting-room where they sat a few moments until the attendant in charge of the female receiving ward appeared. She beckoned to the woman and little girl and they followed her to the ward. Twenty minutes passed and the Sheriff became tired of delay. He had missed one car for the city and wanted to catch the next. Calling the porter he inquired whether his assistant would soon return. The porter readily undertook to find out, and, going to the telephone, rang up the receiving ward. "Will the lady who came in with the little girl be down soon?" he inquired. "Why, no," came the answer, "I've got her in the bathtub."

WASHINGTON ATTORNEY-GENERAL GIVES AN OPINION.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The Attorney-General gave an opinion today on the new law prohibiting the running at large of stock in counties that are three-fourths under fence, in which he holds that the law is not self-operative, in that the County Commissioners must give actual notice that the required area is under fence. Persons allowing stock to run at large cannot be prosecuted for violation of the law until the notice has been given, even though three-fourths the county is actually fenced. The report of the County Assessor to the Commissioners is conclusive as to the acreage fenced. The scope and operation of the new law has puzzled nearly all Eastern Washington counties.

NO RELATIVES CAN BE FOUND

Washington Laborer's Estate Is Escheated to the State.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)

Falling to disclose who his relatives were, if he had any, Joe Meyer died at the Fannie Padlock Hospital about a year ago, leaving an estate of $1855.43 in cash and a watch of small value. After paying the funeral expenses and cost of administration, $288, the court allowed the administrator, Dr. McCutcheon, $112, and Attorney Reid $112, leaving a balance of $1344.43, which the court ordered should escheat to the state for the benefit of the common school fund. The administrator was directed to turn over the money and watch to the Clerk of the Court, who will turn the same over to the State Treasurer. Meyer was working as a laborer at Electron and was brought to the hospital with typhoid fever. The nurse thought the man could tell about his family if he wanted to, but the physician in charge thought the man was too weak to talk. Diligent inquiry was made to learn if he left a wife or kindred, but none could be found.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW WHAT THE SMARTLY DRESSED MEN WILL WEAR THIS SEASON, ASK BEN SELLING

- In these days of keen business competition, when immense advantage is often attained by apparently insignificant details—
- Too much importance cannot be attached to the good impression made and prestige gained by well-fitting, well-made, distinguished-looking clothes.
- Knowing the importance of the "out of the ordinary" quality in clothes, our efforts are constantly directed towards its attainment.
- With this thought ever in mind, the greatest care is exercised in the choosing of fabrics and patterns. Every garment is carefully fashioned from originals by the most exclusive metropolitan custom tailors.
- It is difficult to estimate the vast advantage of such clothes over other ready-for-wear suits or their degree of importance in the building of a career.
