PORTLAND TEAM STARTS ON TOBOGGAN— GRIDIRON SPORTS ARE BEGUN

GIANTS LOOKING FOR THE CELLAR

Leadership Fight Seems to Have No Charm for the Team.

MORLEY AND DUGDALE TALK

Little Likelihood, However, of the Old Northwest League Taking the Place of the Present Coast League.

Those Giants of ours are being hammered down in the cellar. Right now we may get up the cellar for leadership, forget they are still playing ball and speculate on what will be done at the big annual pow-wow of the league managers and hope a little bit that will result from the annual meeting of the Portland Baseball Company.

Carl Druhot, the Portland boy who started his professional ballplaying career with the Portland team of 1904, and who was with Bellingham last season, has returned to his home in this city. Druhot, who was transferred to the Cincinnati club, is mentioned to the Cincinnati club of the National League, by that club's agent, Ted Sullivan. This youngster is a capable left-hand pitcher, and it is no reason why he should not make good in the East, providing he takes the proper care of himself. The manager of the Portland team is another club in the same league.

PRaises New Seattle Men
Empire Huston Says Hall's Colts Are a Likely Bunch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Jack Huston, the umpire, dropped in from the North wing of the Pacific Coast League, where he will spend the winter. After the season closed in the Northwest league Jim stopped over at Seattle, where he watched Russ Hall's new colts covet the Seattle bunch. As soon as the Seattle bunch gets acquainted with one another and plays the ground better it will be hard to beat. This big pitcher, Vickers, looks awfully good to me. He is as big as that fellow Alvin, and he is as good as Vickers. He has as much speed as Wiggs and is steadier. They say that Vickers is weak on batted balls, but that is not his fault. The only thing that worries me is that he could not hit a ball. Oscar Jones complained of a sore arm after he had pitched a game. He has been throwing around Brooklyn a couple of weeks, and he is getting on well. He will get over that. Bennett and Lauerborn have strengthened Seattle's batting line. Both are very good men and Hall made a test strike when he put Johnny Kane in the outfield, where he is doing great work. Hall has put Hurley in the first base position, not because Hurley is a weak man, but because Hurley is well thought of at Seattle. Jule will be used as a utility man, and, as Hart's legs are holding him, he will find plenty to occupy his mind.

Behind the plate both Blankenship and Frary are playing well, especially Frary. Vickers put that up for me. Both never put up any better ball than right now.

Huston said he could not tell what territory the Northwest League would have next year. He thought Montana and Utah would be included. But he thought McCloskey to come back, and if he does not accept the St. Louis offer he will go.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The record crowd of the season today saw Philadelphia defeated in the third game of the season. The crowd of about 20,000 spectators were jammed in the pavilion and the crowd in the field handicapped the players. Plank and Owen were the opposing pitchers, and both were hit freely. The score remained tied until the seventh inning, when Plank pitched a perfect game. But Owen's good pitching prevented them from winning. Attendance, 26,000. Score: Philadelphia, 3; Chicago, 4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Boston 2, Chicago 0.
CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Boston finished their season here today and won. Wicker pitched better ball than Fraser, but his fumble of an easy bunt spoiled his good work and was largely responsible for the two runs. The great work of both short stops was a feature. Attendance, 3300. Score: Boston 2, Chicago 0.

PULLMAN'S FIRST SCORE.
Washington State College Defeats Spokane High School.
PULLMAN, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special)—The football team of Pullman today in a practice game against the Spokane High School eleven. The State College scored nine touchdowns, five goals in two 30-minute halves. The game was fast and required great effort on the part of the collegians, who found Spokane a gritty eleven. Spokane made yardage but three times, and held the college boys not once. In carrying the ball the college players made continual gains of five to 20 yards. Most of the gains were made by the halves through the tackle and end. Jones and Nissen, halves, proved a strong pair. Hardy at full, proved to be in the race for the greatest Northwest football back. Wexler, at left end, played one of the finest games of the day. Hardy, alert and hard to tackle, proved a valuable player. Captain Stewart, at center, is successful in opening holes in the opposing line. On the whole, for so early in the season the score of 59 to 0 against the Spokane eleven is a good test of the ability of the State College to win championship honors this season.

Match Kaufmann and Jack Jeffries.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Billy DeLaney had a little heart to heart talk yesterday with Jim Morley, the baseball magnate, who is interested in Tom Carey's boxing club. DeLaney did not say what the conversation was, but it was surmised that it had something to do with getting a fight with Jack Jeffries at Los Angeles. Jeffries challenged Kaufmann after his victory over Foley, and it is thought that DeLaney looks with favor upon the match. If it is made, it will seem strange to see DeLaney sitting in the corner behind Kaufmann, the latest thing in the heavy-weight brie-a-brac, and Jim Jeffries instructing his brother how to trip up his old trainer's protégé. But prizefighting, like politics, creates some peculiar combinations.

Two touchdowns made with ease afterward by the collegians made the score; College, 10; alumni, 6.

Whitman Accepts Washington Rule
ing, but Authorities Regard It a Step Backward.

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Considerable talk has been caused here within the last few days by the action of the University of Washington football manager in placing the contract for a game with Whitman on October 14, the provision that the playing of Summer baseball will not disqualify a man from playing intercollegiate football. He also stated that the University of Idaho and Montana had agreed to disregard the rule. Ridgeway Gillis, the Whitman manager, felt obliged to sign the contract but stated that the Washington manager at the time that he did so protesting against the clause in question. There is a strong feeling among the authorities here that this action will be detrimental to athletics and probably to definite action will be taken by the athletic committee beyond seeing that Whitman lives up to the rules of the Northwest Association in this matter. This principally concerns expressed themselves as follows to the Oregonian correspondent:
"I am opposed strongly to every form of professionalism in college. I believe that college is an institution for making men of culture or a high sense of honor in other words. I think that the solution of the difficulty lies in strengthening the sense of honor rather than in lowering the bars which are intended to keep out professionalism. After a man is in college he ought to be absolutely free from the suspicion of using his athletic skill for financial gain and I am sure there would be little difficulty in the matter if the University of Washington were to be undergrated appreciated the importance of co-operating heartily with the faculty in regard to it. I would tolerate only one departure from the strict letter of the law in that I would not hold a man responsible for what he did before he came to college. I would grant forgiveness for a violation of the amateur rule before a man became a college student but after becoming a student I believe there should be no violation what soever. I do not see why Summer baseball should be made an exception from other forms of athletics. The real reason for the proposal lies in the fact that baseball is the most popular game and that at the present time offers more opportunity for a man to make money than basketball, football or track athletics."
Professor W. A. Bratton, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, said: "So far as we are concerned we shall attempt to enforce the rules of the Northwest Athletic Association of Colleges. My attitude is that every talent of anything that seems like professionalism should be discouraged severely and that innocent as this Summer baseball with the home team may be to appear that it really is just a minor violation of the rules of college athletics."
Coach Everett J. Smith was also strongly against the Summer baseball saying: "My opinion is that if there is anything detrimental to college athletics it is professionalism. The professional is not a Oregon Team Loses on Fumbles, Spite of Clever Work.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Sept. 29.—The football team of Willamette University, of Salem, Or., was defeated this afternoon by the Stanford Varsity eleven, by the score of 12 to 0. Stanford had the better of the game all through, playing faster and in better form than the team from the North. Willamette, however, made a much better showing than was expected. By straight plunges and crosses, the visitors made their gains time after time through the Stanford line, but much ground was lost on several fumbles at critical points. The defeated team was well balanced. The first player star was Bill Hester, who scored twice. The second was the cardinal team, but much ground was lost on several fumbles at critical points. MILLER SHUTS PORTLAND OUT Fine Work of Seattle's Pitcher Puts Another Zero Score Against the Giants.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special)—On a heavy track today Seattle proved to be the best mudhorse, and the Giants were shut out for the second time in succession. Miller pitched great ball, allowing but three hits, and keeping them so widely scattered that there never was a chance for the visitors to score. He did not issue a single pass, and his support was good. Cates also pitched good ball, but the work behind him was not up to the standard. A fumble by right fielder Schlarly tried to take and which Perry could have taken with ease dropped easily, giving the locals their first run. Hall was caught between the bases in the third inning and Mike Mitchell hit him in the back with the ball, allowing Lauerborn to score another run.

Bunting Game Is Played in the Mud, and Visiting Nine Falls to Count Against Hall's Fast Men.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special)—In the fifth Miller opened with a clean hit and scored on a couple of outs. Mitchell was a maverick for time and again, but he remained glued to the bag while the next three men went out. Considering the unfavorable conditions, the control of Miller was masterful for time and again he was in the hole and either made the batsman hit or struck him out. The franchise play of Hurley was a feature, for he had a number of balls and throws into the runner to handle and got away with one of them. The locals played a bunting game, and on the wet grass they made it win. The score:
