

Seasonable Stoves

In purchasing a stove, the price should not be the first consideration, for a poor stove is dear at any price. We prefer to sell good stoves, fuel-saving stoves, satisfying stoves, that make lasting friends and customers of the buyers. The lines shown today we can guarantee. The prices are quite reasonable, and we warrant them for five years.

If You Burn Coal and Wood

You will need a stove with a duplex grate that will allow it to be converted into a wood or coal-burner by a simple turn of the rod, and

This Is It

It is built of heavy rolled sheet steel. The construction is of the very latest. Inside cast ring or firebox of gray iron protects joint at base of steel body and prevents buckling. Tight-fitting smoke and ash pit door. Perfect smoke curtain over large door. Quick-acting screw draft. It presents a very handsome appearance, as well as being thoroughly reliable. Size 10-inch firepot. . . . $10.00

If You Burn Wood

If you are looking for a well-built stove, with cast-iron lining about fire box;

If you are looking for one that will burn large blocks of wood as well as small kindlings;

If you are looking for an $8.50 stove that will heat two rooms easily,

This Is the Stove

It has a body made of heavy rolled steel; inside is reinforced by heavy linings in gray iron cast in sections so as to absolutely prevent warping and protect the steel sides from the fire; large door-opening and a swinging smoke curtain; neat nickel trimmings.

"Cyclone" Hot-Blast

The hot-blast principle of combustion is the greatest fuel-saving idea of recent years. Soft coal contains about 42 per cent in gases and soot, that is lost in the ordinary direct heater, but which is entirely consumed in the "Cyclone." This is not an experiment but is a scientific fact. Just as the gas mantle saves one-third of your gas and increases your light, so the hot-blast saves about 42 per cent of your fuel and soon repays its original cost.

The "Cyclone" is of double hot-blast construction. The cold air enters through the flue from the top and also at the register in front, and is forced into the center of the fire (as shown in the illustration), where combustion of the gas takes place. So perfect is the construction that it is a simple matter to coke the coal, get the benefit of the gas in the operation and then burn the coke. An expert stove man from Minneapolis, Mr. Frank Clapp, will give a demonstration of the "Cyclone" at this store every day this week. Step in and investigate.

The "Cyclone" Hot-Blast is built of heavy, cold-rolled steel; body one piece closely riveted, making it an air-tight in fact. Double thickness of steel above fire-pot; heavy cast bottom and double cast fire-pot—"Cyclone" with 14-inch body. . . . $16.50 his views of the lasting effect of the Fair on the Northwest:

To the Editor: The last day of the great Lewis and Clark Exposition brings the impression that with the closing of the gates to the Exposition grounds there lacks much of its being the last day of its effect on the great Northwest.

Through the great Exposition the world has learned that there is much of the United States besides the "Great East" and that like many other human experiences the last is likely to prove the best. The good influence of this Exposition will be more manifest in years to come and in bringing Oregon to her own this will certainly be remembered as the one event in the history of the state.

CORVALLIS APPRECIATES IT

Mayor Johnson Writes of Benefit of the Fair. Mayor A. J. Johnson, of Corvallis, expresses the appreciation of his city and the County of Benton:

To the Editor: As we approach the closing days of our great Exposition I beg to be permitted to express, on behalf of our citizens of Corvallis and Benton County, through the columns of your paper, our great appreciation of the untiring and unceasing efforts of the management and the loyal support of the press of the state and more particularly of the metropolises, which has done so much to aid said management in carrying through to so successful a termination what seemed in the outset to many an almost impossible undertaking. It has indeed been a great success and I am sure effects, from a beneficial standpoint will soon come to be felt all over our state and not alone our state but by the entire Northwest. To a native son, such as myself, one may indeed feel proud of his state through this great achievement. And upon looking back we have no regrets for the extra efforts put forth by us assisted so ably, as we were, by our college officials and our 400 cadets, in making Corvallis day at a banner one. With hopes for the $2,500,000 mark.

A. J. JOHNSON, Mayor of Corvallis.

COAST'S FIRST WORLD'S FAIR

Tacoma Sends Its Sincere Congratulations to Portland on Fair. Tacoma's Mayor congratulates Portland. Mayor E. P. Wright says:

To the Editor: Tacoma congratulates Portland on the fullness of the success of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, the first world's fair to be held on the Pacific Coast. It has advertised the natural resources and opportunities of this country more thoroughly and effectually than could be done by any other agency. Portland has rendered

BUILDINGS AT THE FAIR.

Including the Trill, there are more than 100 separate buildings at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The exhibit units have been grouped into several nearly all large and imposing structures of beautiful design and architecture. Most of the buildings are very elaborately decorated, but the architecture has not been carried to the extreme. The Agricultural and Government buildings are the largest two structures on the grounds, and they are also the most elaborate in design. The exhibit buildings are the Agricultural, Mining, Concentrating Pavilion, Transportation and Machinery, Manufacture, Foreign Exhibits, Oriental and Forests. The states that have buildings at the Fair are Oregon, Washington, Massachusetts, California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Maine, New York, Utah and Michigan. In California, Washington and Oregon are the largest state buildings. Among the concessions that have buildings are Klondike, Davenport Farm, Aeronautic Concourse, Swiss Chalet, Carnival de Venice, Temple of Minerva, Land of the Midwest, Land of the Sandwiches, Mirror Maze, Infant Land, Haunted Castle, Japanese Village, Trip to Venus, Siberian Railway, Nugget Candy, Haunted Swing, Krues's Racecourse, Old Grants, Indian Village, A Glimpse of the Haven, Sporting Gallery, Telemite, Big Fraction, Trip To Niagara, Princess Traffic, Darkness and Dawn, Streets of Cairo, Luna, Animal Show, French Cafe, Gay Parade, Muller's Restaurant, Water Chutes and the Burns Cottage. Other important buildings are the Auditorium, Administration, Fire Department, Centennial Guard Headquarters, Press, Postoffice, Y. W. C. A., Fraternal Temple, American Inn. The Government buildings are the Main Exhibit, Forestry, Alaska and the Philippines, Fishery and the Life-Saving Station. Coos County is the only county to be represented at the Exposition with a building of its own. Besides the buildings that have been enumerated, there are other structures erected by exhibitors and the smaller concessionaires. Among the largest of these structures are the N. C. B. building, Little Hungary, Dutch Bakery, etc.

COOS COUNTY THANKFUL

Revels That Exposition Has Greatly Benefited Its Section. Henry Sengstacken, Mayor of Marshfield, tells of the benefits which Coos County has derived from the Fair:

To the Editor: It is with a feeling of regret that I note the closing of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, which has been held in your city during the last few months. It has been a great success and benefit to the state, as well as to the entire Pacific Coast, and too much credit cannot be given to the management and its supporters. Coos County is made a very good showing, and has tried of her share of awards. We are pleased with the square and many distribution of awards indirectly, we are feeling the effect of our exertions, and on behalf of the City of Marshfield, I tender many thanks to the man-

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT THE FAIR

The Lewis and Clark Exposition has been the best this Summer to the most noted men in the United States, and could President Roosevelt have made arrangements to honor the Fair by his presence, the list of celebrities would have been so complete, it could be without fear. Every state in the Union has contributed more or less men of National prominence, as have several of the foreign countries.

Congress has been represented at the Exposition at different times by several score of Senators and Congressmen, and President Roosevelt was personally represented by Vice-President Fairbanks. Ten states have sent their chief executives to the Exposition, many of whom have visited the Fair at least a half-dozen times since it has been in operation. It would be well impossible to compile a list of all the noted men of the country who have been at the Exposition, but the following are a few of the most prominent characters who have been in Portland since the opening of the Exposition:

Vice-President Fairbanks, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Senator Clarence D. Clark, of Wyoming; Congressman James A. Tawney; Senator Newlands, of Nevada; Admiral Goodrich, of the Pacific Squadron; President G. W. Wattles, of the Omaha Fair; Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn; President David R. Francis, of the St. Louis Exposition; Alfred Baylies, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Illinois; Chief Justice Brand, of the Illinois Supreme Court; Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, of New York; James J. Hill, Howard Elliott, Joselyn Miller, the poet of the Sierras; Elbert Hubbard, E. H. Harriman, Captain Behnecke, and the officers of the German cruiser Falke; Dr. Hirsch, the famous rabbi, of Chicago; Governor Herrick, Ohio; Governor B. B. Brooks, Wyoming; Governor Gooding, Idaho; Governor Searle, North Dakota; Governor Mickey, Nebraska; Governor McDonald, Colorado; Governor Cutler, Utah; Governor Pardee, California; Governor Folk, Missouri; Governor Mead, of Washington; Captain J. C. Cantwell, revenue cutter McCulloch.

Governor Pardee, of California, and Mead, of Washington, have visited the Exposition repeatedly. Governor Pardee has had apartments in the California building, where the members of his family have lived all the season. Whenever his official duties would allow, he joined them here. Governor Gooding, of Idaho, and Governor Cutler, of Utah, also made several trips to Portland to see the Fair.

Among the noted women who visited the Fair is notably Mrs. Caroline Meriwether Goodlet, of Tennessee, whose grandfather was first cousin of Captain Lewis. Mrs. Goodlet is known as the organizer of the daughters of the Confederacy.

The Trans-Mississippi Congress, the Educational Congress and the many conferences and institutes, which held sessions at the Exposition, also attracted the prominent business and professional men and educators. Numerous conventions were also held at the Exposition, many of which were attended by men of prominence. The clergy has been well represented at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, the most noted preachers and religious thinkers of the country speaking in the Auditorium, before the Sunday services were abandoned. Many, many years will elapse before Portland will again have the opportunity of entertaining as many noted guests as she has had during the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

of the grandest events in Oregon, to which all the people have contributed to make it the wonderful success that it has proved.

H. S. EVANS, Mayor of Ashland.

ROSEBURG'S GREETING SENT

BEFORE EYES OF THE WORLD

Mayor of The Dalles Tells What the Fair Has Done for Oregon.

Mayor Kelly, of The Dalles, says Oregon is brought before the eyes of the world: To the Editor:—To all concerned in the management of the Lewis and Clark Fair I extend in behalf of the citizens of The Dalles heartiest congratulations upon the excellent management and successful termination of that grand event, the Lewis and Clark Fair. It has brought before the eyes of the world the great commercial advantages of Oregon and its magnificent climate. The entire Northwest will share equally the rewards of this grand achievement. J. L. KELLY, Mayor of The Dalles.

APPROXIMATE EXHIBIT SPACE.

Approximately 400,000 square feet of exhibit space was utilized by exhibitors in the buildings erected by the Exposition. A majority of the work of exhibition was performed at St. Louis. Up to a month before the closing of the St. Louis Fair comparatively few applications for space had been received. Suddenly applications flooded in on the St. Louis branch office of the Exposition. Every mill brought hundreds of requests for space. In 30 days Director of Exhibits Doach found all his available space occupied, and applications on hand for about 150,000 square feet which was not available.

The Exposition management acted quickly to the occasion. The construction of new buildings was promptly ordered. The scope of the Exposition was very nearly doubled. Long before the exhibit buildings were completed every inch of space had been disposed of to advantage. Only the more desirable exhibits were admitted.

The largest of the exhibit buildings is the Agricultural Palace. On the main floor there is a total of 50,000 square feet of exhibit space. In addition to this there is a total of 60,000 square feet in the gallery. Next in size comes the Manufactures building, which has a total floor space of 30,000 square feet. The Machinery, Transportation and Electricity building has a floor space of 20,000 square feet. Other wing and annexes amounting to 23,000 square feet; the Foreign Exhibits building has 45,000 square feet, the Oriental building 37,000 square feet on the main floor and 15,000 in the educational gallery; the Forestry building contains 20,000 square feet, and the Mining building a similar number.

MANY VISITORS FROM SEATTLE

Railroad Figures Show 33,000 Guests From Puget Sound City.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Nearly 33,000 round-trip tickets were sold in the Northern Pacific office here for Portland between June 1, the day the Lewis and Clark Exposition opened, and this evening, when the World's Fair travel southward ceased. In addition, approximately 16,000 one-way tickets from Seattle to Portland were sold, a total travel from this city alone to Portland of 33,000 during the life of the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

These figures cover merely the local travel. There are no available statistics to indicate the thousands who have passed through from the Burlington, Great Northern and Canadian Pacific trains. Included in the one-way ticket sales are many tourists who have taken a side trip from Portland after arriving in that city over the Harriman lines. But railroad officials here figure Seattle contributed at least 50,000 visitors to the Lewis and Clark Exposition, while that Fair was open.

It is conceded by Northern Pacific officials that the travel from Seattle would have been much heavier if lower rates had been authorized. A scarcity of rolling stock is responsible for the road's failure to give cheaper rate excursions. The Northern Pacific was compelled to carry all the special rate excursions in day coaches, and the minimum round-trip rate was $5. At the outset this was a reduction of $2.50 over the regular Lewis and Clark excursion rate, but not enough to induce a remarkable travel of day coach excursions.

Northern Pacific officials here have an official report from Tacoma that 11,000 round-trip tickets to Portland were sold from that city. The question of whether or not a memorial building is to be erected as an outcome of the Lewis and Clark Exposition is shortly to be settled. At a special meeting yesterday afternoon in the Oregon building a direct answer from the Exposition Corporation concerning its attitude in the matter was requested. A communication was drafted wherein the corporation's special committee was requested to answer categorically whether it is ready to act.

A report was read outlining the outcome of a conference recently held between the committees of the two organizations. The commission's committee is made up of Commissioners Richard Scott, J. C. Flanders, and F. E. Young. That of the corporation is composed of Directors E. K. Wilcox, J. C. Alinworth and W. D. Fenton. The report sent out was that the committee of the directors held the view that a suitable memorial building could not be constructed for the available sum of $100,000, although they did not go on record as directly opposed to it. The request for a definite statement was accordingly asked for. It will be transmitted to the committee of directors at once by Secretary Giltner.

According to the legislative act creating the State Exposition Commission the memorial building was to be built before the opening of the Exposition at a cost not exceeding $100,000. Of this sum half was to be supplied out of the state's funds and half by the Exposition corporation, which was also to furnish a suitable building site.

The disposition of the state's furniture and portable property at the Exposition was granted, and selections of the desired exhibit articles will be made at an early date.

It was decided to retain all employees of the State Commission without change of salary until state affairs in connection with the Exposition have been finally adjusted.

President Myers was authorized to present each of the members of the special committee on county awards with a memento. This committee was made up of executive commissioners from

MEMORIAL BUILDING IDEA

CORPORATION AND COMMISSION DISCUSS SUBJECT.

No Final Decision Is Reached at Conference Between Committees of Two Bodies.

Those who have been connected with the department of special events at the Lewis and Clark Exposition yesterday presented Theodore Hardee, assistant to the president, with a loving-cup. The cup was a gift from Mr. Hardee from Arthur Schell, Marie T. Stanyan, H. W. Kerrigan, W. G. Elliot, Jr., Walter E. Herbert and Albin L. Herbert.

Give De Caprio China Set. Signor De Caprio, leader of the Administration Band, was given a beautiful china set yesterday by the members of his band.

The presentation took place in the Administration building. Accompanying the gift was the following testimonial, signed by all the members of the band:

In concluding our engagement at the Lewis and Clark Exposition for the entire period, we desire to express our appreciation of your faithful and efficient service as director, and as a token of our highest feeling of friendship, we present a remembrance gift, which accompanies this testimonial. We hope that your eminently successful season will be followed by even more notable engagements.

outside states, and their work in making awards was performed without compensation.

Begin Demolition Tomorrow. Tomorrow the work of removing the exhibits from the buildings of the Exposition grounds will commence. Large gangs of workmen have been engaged for this purpose and many vehicles will be put at their disposal. The work will be carried to completion with all possible expediency and forces will be kept busy day and night. Before the end of the present week the bulk of the exhibits will probably have been removed. Armed guards will be on hand to keep order and prevent plundering.

Michigan Society Social. Michigan Society of Oregon invites all former residents of the Wolverine State to attend the meeting of the Michigan Society Tuesday evening next and participate in the mock auction and social time.

Gold Watch for Wehrung. The exhibitors of the Agricultural building yesterday presented W. H. Wehrung, superintendent of the building, with a solid gold watch and fob. Superintendent Wehrung has made himself very popular with the exhibitors through their associations together.

Sent as Guests of Victor Record. A party of "gold-headed" young ladies from Victor, Colo., have been attending the closing week of the Fair as the guests of the Victor Daily Record, the leading publication of the Cripple Creek district. They were selected as the result of a spirited voting contest, which attracted wide attention all over the State of Colorado. They went to Astoria yesterday and will depart for "the greatest gold camp on earth" tonight over the O. R. & N.

The party consists of Mrs. J. J. Axtell, chaperon, an Misses Lena Lupton, Irene Henny, Gertrude Goldstein and Bertha Rice.

Move Idaho Building to Boise. People of Idaho are unwilling that their state building, which has attracted so much favorable comment at the Exposition, should be destroyed, and are taking steps for its preservation. If the plan now under consideration is carried out, the building will be taken down and shipped in sections to the city of Boise, where it will be reconstructed.

Governor Gooding and other prominent citizens of Idaho are interested in the project. A club of 300 members is being formed in Boise to secure funds to defray

"GOLD GOLD" "Good," He Says, "But Comfort Better."

"Food that fits is better than a gold mine," says a grateful man. "Before I commenced to use Grape-Nuts food no man on earth ever had a worse indigestion from catarrh of the stomach than I had for years."

"I could eat nothing but the very lightest food and even that gave me great distress. I went through the catalogue of prepared foods but found them all (except Grape-Nuts) more or less indigestible, generating gas in the stomach, (which in turn produced headache and various other pains and aches) and otherwise unavailable for my use."

"Grape-Nuts food I have found easily digested and assimilated, and it has renewed my health and vigor and made me a well man again. The catarrh of the stomach has disappeared entirely with all its attendant ills, thanks to Grape-Nuts, which now is my almost sole food. I want no other." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Ten days' trial tells the story. There's a reason.
