UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 11. (Special.)—Two thousand people with nerves strung to the highest tension saw the University of Oregon football eleven defeat the Oregon Agricultural College on Kibicek Field this afternoon. The score of 6 to 0 stands for the hardest, cleanest and in all respects the best game ever seen in the Northwest, and the figures probably represent COACH STUCKLE OF THE O. A. C. We are perfectly satisfied with the result. It was a hard-fought game, and the honors were even, but the University team had a golden chance to win and grasped it successfully. Both eleven played hard, clean ball. Morris has a good team and his men play hard, clean ball. Dolan played a fine game for the Agricultural College, as did Williams and Rhinehart. We are naturally disappointed, but have no complaint to make.

the comparative strength of the two eleven. Gordon Moores, a fair-haired youth who plays on Oregon's left end, made the single touchdown of the day after a sensational run of 45 yards, just before the end of the first half. Dolan had the ball in the middle of the field, and Captain Latourette called a quarterback kick, which went over the scrimmage line and slightly to the left.

Kerron, who was on side, rushed forward, grabbed the loose ball, and fumbled it. The ball struck a Corvallis man and rebounded into the open arms of Moores, who pulled away from his pursuers with the speed of a racehorse. For 45 yards he tore down the white-fibred field with half a dozen Agriculturalists in hot pursuit. The goal line was reached, and a touchdown was made amid the shouts and cheers of a thousand voices. Friesell kicked a goal.

Yell Themselves Hoarse. To say that today's game was a great exhibition of football is not half the story. Enthusiasm was at white heat and the organized rosters of both institutions aided by brass bands, cheered their favorites till the call of time. Songs were sung, yells were barked out by hundreds of parched throats, and after the game was over the display of enthusiasm was carried on for hours.

The "serpentine" march and other formations of the Oregon team were executed on the field between halves, and again after the game. The grandstand was a mass of flying colors, the orange and black of the Agricultural College vying with the lemon yellow of the university.

Both sides accept the result in a sportsmanlike manner. The university is game winner of the Agricultural College game loser. There are no complaints, no excuses, no sore spots. Although the Agricultural College men feel their defeat keenly, they act like true sportsmen.

Agries Favorites in Betting. There was plenty of betting on the game up till noon, nothing but even money was in evidence, but on the arrival of the big excursion from Corvallis money was piled to 10 to 8 and 10 to 7, with the Agricultural College on the long end. On the side lines, Corvallis money went begging at 10 to 8. It is hard to say how much money changed hands on the game, but $3000 is a conservative estimate.

The day was an ideal one for football. Although Oregon won, and won fairly and honestly there is a general feeling that the Agricultural College eleven deserves great credit for its splendid work. In the second half when the score stood 6 to 0 in Oregon's favor, Corvallis received a punt on her own 4-yard line and by swift line play the Agricultural College's 7-yard line, where the varsity held for downs.

Hug Breaks Up Tandem Play. Dolan, Williams, Root and Abraham played an important part in advancing the ball, and George Hug, Oregon's lightweight center, deserves credit for breaking up the tandem play.

COACH SHORTS, OF U. OF O. The teams were very evenly matched. Corvallis made more yards than Oregon did on straight plunges, but Oregon would have made more had not our runners fumbled repeatedly. It was not luck that won the game—it was football. Moores, who is always alert, saw a chance to win the game, grasped it, and the result was a victory for the University. Latourette displayed great dash in running his team, and George Hug put up a fine game at center. I never saw such a display of college enthusiasm as the University rosters furnished during the game and afterward. It was a fine spirit for a small university. The Corvallis people are game losers, the University is a sportsmanlike winner.

end for 25 yards run, and Templeton made 23 on a similar play. Oregon's goal was never in danger during the first half, although Corvallis made good, systematic gains through the line. Once Oregon got the ball on her own 20-yard line and carried it to the Agricultural College's 25-yard line, where a fumble lost what appeared to be a good chance to score.

Moulien Misses Place Kick. A few moments later, Moulien tried a place kick from the 4-yard line, but the ball sailed under the crossbar. Then came the winning run by Moores, but the remainder of the half was featureless. After the splendid rally on their own seven-yard line, late in the second half, the varsity men made some fierce assaults on their opponents and after several exchanges of punts, Moulien attempted to place kick from the Agricultural College's 25-yard line, but the kick was blocked, Moulien himself falling on the ball.

Individual stars were numerous. Dolan and Williams played a great game throughout, both offensive and defensive, and big Dew Walker did yeoman service for his team. Rhinehart at quarterback was another consistent player, but his generalship was not the best. Abraham showed himself to be a great fullback, and the whole Corvallis team deserves great credit and little censure.

Templeton's Great Defense. For Oregon, aside from Moores, there was no particular star. Templeton's defense was a feature of the day's struggle, and the great line plunges of McKinney, Kerron and Moulien tested his yardage for Oregon. The varsity made several costly fumbles, some of them at critical times. Hurd, Arrapiger, Earl and Hug were strong men on defense, as was Chandler at right end. In directing his plays, Captain Latourette used remarkably good judgment, especially in calling for punts when it was evident that Moulien was conducting Pilkington. In general, it may be said that the teams were evenly matched, but an opportunity came for Oregon to win, one of her men grasped the opportunity and the result was a victory for the University team. The line-up:

U. of O. Position. O. A. C. Moore, L. E. R. Cooper, center; Dolan, Moulton, L. G. R. Pilkington, Hug, C. Walker, McKinney, R. G. L. Dunlap, Earl McKinney, R. T. Lawrence, Hurd, H. L. G. R. Rhinehart, Latourette, C. Q. R. Root, Templeton, H. R. L. Williams, Hurd, Friesell, R. H. L. Porterfield, Kerron, O. F. Abraham.

Touchdown—Moores. Goal—Friesell. Thirty and 25 minutes. Time of halves—Thirty and 25 minutes. Umpire—C. N. Abercrombie, of Astoria. Referee—Earl Tibbatts. Head linesman—James Sock, of Illinois. No serious injuries.

Eugene Is Football Mad. EUGENE, Or., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Eugene is football mad tonight. Students of the university are celebrating today's victory in a befitting manner. A monster rally and parade followed the game and a reception in honor of both teams was held at the university this evening. It is estimated that there were 1000 visitors in Eugene today. There were 500 from Corvallis, besides large delegations from Dallas, Monmouth, Independence, Albany, and other Valley points.

Many of the visitors left this evening on a special train, but the town is still crowded and the big game is the single topic of conversation. Today's victory gives the "varsity" eleven the college championship of Oregon for this season.

Forfeits to Columbia. A match game of football was to have been played yesterday on the university campus between Portland High School and Columbia University. The game was forfeited by the High School. The claims made by the different members of the High School team as to the reasons for forfeiting the game are somewhat confused.

Columbia Juniors Win. In a well-played game of football Columbia Juniors first team defeated Stevens' addition yesterday by a score of 19 to 0. Moore and Jansen and O'Brien made good gains through the line, while Vadnais, fullback for Stevens, proved effective in his line bucks and defensive work. The line-up:

Columbia, Jrs. Position. Stevens Add. Walbridge, L. T. Cornell, G. Krebs, L. T. Johnston, Hood, L. G. Stannard, J. Krebs, H. E. Morrow, Hoken, R. G. Bishop, Waldrop, R. T. Bryne, Stevens, L. H. Lewiston Team Is Too Light. SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 11.—The Spokane High School football team today defeated the Lewiston High School eleven by the score of 29 to 6, in a hard-fought contest. Lewiston scored early, and the first half ended with the score 6 to 0. The heavier Spokane team was in better condition during the last half, and overran the Lewiston players. Nowlin's 100-yard run and touch-down was a feature.

Cable Chess Match Begins. NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The international chess match by cable between teams of New York and Berlin chess-players, six to a side, was begun today. The American players were stationed in the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club, at Carnegie Hall. President Roosevelt has sent his photograph, with his autograph, as a trophy to go to the winner of the match. Dr. Emanuel Lasker, chess champion and player of the world, whose brother is in the German team, is acting as referee. At the conclusion of today's play the contest was left practically even.

CHILDREN MUST NOT LEARN Canadian Advises Teachers to Keep American Books From Pupils. OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Hon. M. Sutherland, Speaker of the House of Commons, in addressing the public school teachers of Walkerville and Windsor today, said the teachers should discourage the extensive reading by Canadian children of United States magazines and periodicals, in nearly all of which the dominant note is "How great and wonderful we are."

Burke to Have New Trial. BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The Supreme Court today granted a new trial to David W. Burke, sentenced in Nez Perce County on conviction of having robbed and burned the granary of L. M. Englehorn, near Mohler, in April, 1904. It is alleged wagon tracks were found leading from the granary and the grain was found in a barn belonging to defendant's father, which the latter did not claim. For the defense it was alleged the family had been subjected to annoyance for a long time, several heads of stock having been killed. The theory was that the grain was hauled to the elder Burke's barn in order to get them into trouble. It is held by the Supreme Court that the evidence is not sufficient to sustain the judgment of conviction.

Surveyor Sues the County. WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—L. W. Loehr, County Surveyor of Walla Walla County, today brought suit against the county for the collection of $2600, which he alleges is due him and one of his deputies for work performed since July 1. The County Commissioners have not been able to agree with the Surveyor on several things in connection with conduct of his office, and have at various times disallowed some of the surveyor's bills. The situation reached a climax yesterday when Chairman Moore, of the Board of Commissioners, and the surveyor engaged in an altercation in the Auditor's office over the turning down of a bill, and Surveyor today brought suit to collect the amounts due.

INDIANS LOSE FIRST GAME

OUTPLAYED AT ALL POINTS BY UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON.

Cole Makes a Run of 106 Yards, and Crim Does a Startling Stunt.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—In the most spectacular game ever seen on a local gridiron the University of Washington completely outplayed the Sherman Indians today by a score of 29 to 0. The Indians seemed powerless to make their yardage, their heavy line plunges being of no avail and their attempts at end runs failing completely. On but few occasions did the Indians make their yardage. It was Washington's game from beginning to end.

The spectacular feature of the contest was Cole's magnificent run of 106 yards. Sherman kicked off and Cole received the ball two yards from the goal posts. Starting down the field, dodging skillfully and accompanied by magnificent interference, he passed man after man not stopping until he had traversed the entire length of the field and placed the ball behind the coveted line. Big Indians followed him in his long chase for the touchdown, but they were too big and Cole was too fleet to prevent his making the distance.

A few minutes after the game started Washington tried a kick down the field, which the Sherman's were to run madly after the spheroid. In the mixup the ball was accidentally booted across the last white yardage line and Palmer fell on the ball making the first touchdown.

This first touchdown was really chance. But thereafter every touchdown was earned by hard, scientific playing. Next came Cole's splendid 106 yard run. A few moments thereafter by line bucks and end runs another touchdown was made by McDonald. Not long after another touchdown came, but goal was not kicked. Score, end first half: Washington 23, Indians 6.

In the second half the Sherman players took a brace, but there occurred in this half a marvelous play. The ball was 25 yards from Sherman's goal. Fullback Galt stepped back for a kick. Crim, Washington's center, came tearing through the line and just as Galt's foot touched the ball Crim took it from his toe and without hesitating a moment in his run dashed behind the goal posts with the ball tucked under his arm. Score, Washington 29, Indians 6.

After this there was no more score making, but the ball was in Washington's territory. Washington players were carried from the grounds and through the streets on the shoulders of loyal students. No such demonstration of enthusiasm and college spirit has ever before been seen in Seattle. The crowd was frantic with delight. Washington fumbled only a couple of times in the entire game.

The Indians outweighed Washington about ten pounds. Their playing was slow while Washington's was fast and curious. The latter were equally effective in line bucks and end runs. In only one department of the game, in kicking, did Sherman have the better of Washington. Nearly 2000 people saw the game.

A great deal of money was lost on the game, the bets being as high as 7 to 1 in favor of the Indians. The line-up follows: Position. Washington. Kennedy, L. E. Grim, Coleman, L. T. Pullen, Morales, L. C. Rios, C. Coleman, C. C. Bricker, Blacktooth, B. G. Jarvis, Lubo, R. T. McDonald, Scholes, E. P. Cole, Neafus, Q. E. Cole, Magee, L. H. Winsor, Lugo, H. Shaw, Galt, F. Palmer. Referee, Best, umpire, Dr. Council; linesman, Inglis.

CHAMPION TENNIS PLAYER Beals C. Wright Is Entertained at Irvington Tennis Club.

In the history of Portland that the lovers of the game have had an opportunity to see a real champion and those present were not disappointed in the games witnessed.

Walter A. Goss and Dan Bellinger made bold to cross bats with Mr. Wright, who had for a partner, Richard Wilder. A very pretty game resulted and Goss and Bellinger felt very proud at getting one set. Three sets were played. Mr. Wright then played two sets of singles with Goss who succeeded in getting two games out of each set. The precision, planning and consistency which was shown in each of Wright's plays was wonderful. He is not a brilliant player, but each shot is planned and worked out in perfect form and style. Correctness and consistency are his strong points.

After the game he explained the principle of the twist service which has been used so effectively by the Americans against their English opponents and said that the service was so severe and was so much of a strain on certain muscles that it could not be used without careful training and preparation.

The Irvington Club has made much progress during the past season and its members felt much excited when Mr. Wright told them that their courts were the best clay courts he had ever played on. This means a great deal for Mr. Wright, who has played tennis all over the world and goes East with the receipt in his pocket for making courts like those found at Irvington.

POLICE INVESTIGATE HAUGH Think He Is Murderer of Three Women in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The Dayton, O., and Cincinnati police today put all their machinery in motion to trace the record of Dr. Oliver C. Haugh, who stands charged with the murder of his father, mother and brother, and who the police say may be involved in many other cases that have heretofore been mysterious. Dr. Haugh, it is claimed, first contracted the morphia habit while in Louisville, and now is a confirmed morphia fiend. He restlessly paces his cell, staring vacantly at those who attempt to question him, and making now and then incoherent utterances, from which the police have been able to gain very little.

Dr. Haugh's record in Cincinnati, while he was a student in a medical college, is being investigated. Today the Cincinnati police are also comparing Haugh's photograph and likeness with the descriptions of three Louisville murders of young and handsome women in one locality of this city, an obscure street known as "Lovers' Lane," all within a period of a few weeks. Haugh appears to be a rather dim and uncertain description of the mysterious "Jack the Ripper" of this city to a certain extent, according to the Cincinnati police.

OLGA'S VOICE STILLS PANIC Actress Brings Frightened Women Back to Their Seats.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A fire panic in the Illinois Theater was checked this afternoon by the presence of mind of Miss Olga Netheroid, the actress, who, as scores of frightened women started for the exits, addressed the audience and said there was no danger. The clanging of bells of passing fire engines on Jackson boulevard was responsible for the fright. At the sound, women in the crowded auditorium arose in their seats. No one screamed, no one cried "fire," but a murmur of fear spread rapidly. Manager Will J. Davis ordered the ushers to open the exits. The steel curtain was lowered, but Miss Netheroid stopped speaking her lines and ordered the curtain raised.

"There is no necessity for excitement," said Miss Netheroid, "there is no fire." Her calmness had its effect on the audience. A dozen women who had left the auditorium returned on discovering the situation. "I would like to shake hands with every one of you," said Miss Netheroid, "when you see the actress was over. Everything passed with the audience in a panic, and you have acted admirably." The scare interrupted the third act of "The Labyrinth."

PRINCE LOUIS SEES INDIANS DEFEAT CADETS.

Spends Exciting Day at West Point and Reviews Students—Admirer of Indians.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Prince Louis of Battenberg, accompanied by many officers of his squadron and of Rear-Admiral Evans' fleet, visited the Military Academy at West Point today, going up the Hudson on the steamer Charles W. Morse.

Tonight the Prince was the personal guest of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, president of the Naval Academy Alumni Association, who was in charge of the arrangements for the trip to West Point. The Prince paid his host the compliment of attending the dinner in civilian dress, the first function at which he has not appeared in uniform.

On arrival at West Point the visitors were conducted to the reviewing station in review in double time. Prince Louis, passing the battalion of cadets drawn up in front of their barracks. The cadets then marched to the parade ground and were reviewed by the Prince. The reviewing party walked around the line of cadets front and rear. Then the latter were put through various maneuvers by Colonel Howse and at the conclusion passed the Prince in review in double time. Prince Louis expressed great admiration for the cadets and the excellence of their drilling.

The Prince was much pleased with the football game at West Point, in which the cadets and Carlisle Indians. The entrance on the field of the Indians, each wrapped in a red blanket, greatly interested the Prince, who asked General Mills to tell him all about the Carlisle team.

The Prince was greatly excited when the Indians scored their touchdown by a long run down the field and, with the crowd, sprang to his feet to witness the plucky runner with the ball. When Benvers, the hurdler of the West Point team, jumped clear over an Indian and started down the field, he was fascinated by the player's activity. The cadet corps then started cheering and the Prince asked all about that. Between the halves the Prince and Commander Winslow walked up and down the side lines, smoking and stopping here and there to chat with friends.

The Prince and his party returned to New York by train. On Monday night they will attend the horse show.

The registration of students this year at Yale University is 3572 against 3442 last year.

AMAZING TRIBUTE

This is to certify that the following is in the office of the John J. Fulton Co. yesterday when a prominent old school physician of an adjoining city came in. He came in to report in a friendly way to the manager of the Fulton Company the astonishing results of the Fulton Company's amazing medicine. He stated that to his utter amazement the patient had disappeared in both these cases within a week, and that there was later complete recovery. He was willing for the facts to be known. The idea of results being so miraculous that it was best not to give them in their entirety and to temper them with such an amazing tribute to the astonishing results being obtained by the Fulton Compound, said for pamphlet that are considered incurable the world over that upon being asked to certify the fact I have had gotten in two cases of Bright's Disease, which has been completely cured. I have known. H. W. KNOLL, Manager L. F. Fisher & Co., 425 Montgomery st. Facts subscribed and sworn to before me by H. W. Knoll this December 10, 1904. Attest my hand and official seal. THOMAS S.
