PROTECTION OF SETTLERS

Opportunity Given for Release From Contracts Aiready Made, as Was Done in the Deschutes

Company Case,

SALEM, Or., Nov. 18.-(Special.)-The State Land Board has called upon W. A. Biate Land Board has called upon W. A.
Laidlaw, of the Three Sisters Irrigation Company, to have his company admit to the Board a set of rules and regulations governing the distribution of water in the Three Sisters segregation. That company has a contract for the reclam.

Many sales have been made to settlers, and this year a number of the settlers raised crops. Next season a great many sottlers will go upon their land, and so much water will be used that the set-tlers association has taken the initiative in asking that rules be adopted be fore the season begins, so that there may be no uncertainty or misunderstanding. The Board has also notified Mr. Laidlaw that forms and blanks for applications, releases of liens, contracts, etc. will be adopted and that all settlers must these blanks in securing land under Carey act. This means that the the Carey act. settlers will be given an opportunity, if they so desire, to release themselves from the terms of contracts already made between the company and the settler, as was done in the case of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company.

The action of the Board in the proceedings with the latter company indicates about what the policy will be in dealing with the Three Sisters Company. It is not expected that as much delay and discontinuous will be a second of the control of the c cussion will be necessary in establishing rules for the Three Sisters Company as for the D. I. & P. Company, for the resson that the questions involved have bewell understood on both sides.

RAILWAYS CANNOT BLOCK EACH OTHER'S PATHWAY.

Real Backers of the Scattle & Portinnd.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 18 .- (Special.) -Coupled with the statement that the building of two railroads down the north bank of the Columbia is now assured, one of the officers of the Wallula Pacific Company asserts that it is the present intention of the buckers of his road to resort to the provisions of what a known as the "canyon" act to a right of way along certain portions of The canyon act, which is found no only in the Federal statutes but also in the laws of the State of Washington, permits one road to condemn and acquire a joint use of another railroad in any pass, canyon or defile where there is not room for two right of ways.

The surveys of the Wallula Pacific and the Seattle & Portland Rallway Companies along the north bank of the Columbia conflict in many places. Along some portlons of the route the location stakes are from a mile to two miles apart, but in other localities the contour of the country and the moun-tainous character of the shore have resulted in survey stakes of the two ronds being driven side by side. In some in-stances the Seattle & Portland has apparently obtained the advantage in early acquirement of right of way, and in other instances the rival road has are likely to follow, and he will requier secured the advantage.

The above assertion, which was made in this city by an officer of the road who was here seeking state lands for the purposes of his company, puts the operations of the Wallula Pacific and the Columbia Valley Rallroad Co pany in a different light than that of a purely "block game" on the part of the Harriman interests unaccompanied by of the Seattle & Portland is not some railroad system other than the Union Pacific or Harriman lines which now have entrance to Portland along the south bank of the river,
