OBJECT TO A TEN-MILL LEVY.—The proposition to make a 10-mill levy in St. Johns for the coming year in order to wipe out the present debt, create a fund for expenses and to erect a city hall is opposed generally, so it is said, by the property-owners. According to the Assessor's figures the taxable valuation of property inside the city limits of St. Johns is $1,250,000, or three times what it was last year. A 10-mill levy would raise $12,500, enough to clear off the present debt and leave money to meet all current expenses. The debt of St. Johns, including the purchase price of the ground secured the past week, is above $500, for which the city has public dock, some fire apparatus and grounds for a hall. All of this debt is in the form of warrants bearing 6 per cent, issued by the city, confining judgment for the claims. Part of the debt is for salaries of the officers. Warrants were issued as the city has no income. Some want a 4-mill levy, which would not pay the present debt, but what that levy will be made in apparent at this time, but it is expected that the Mayor will call a meeting and get an expression of the people as to what they consider reasonable. The Board of Finance recently received for license to sell liquor quite a slice from the debt.

SAYS HOLD EAST THIRD STREET.—Joseph Supple, who has a shipyard on the East Side, says that the city has public dock, some fire apparatus and grounds for a hall. All of this debt is in the form of warrants bearing 6 per cent, issued by the city, confining judgment for the claims. Part of the debt is for salaries of the officers. Warrants were issued as the city has no income. Some want a 4-mill levy, which would not pay the present debt, but what that levy will be made in apparent at this time, but it is expected that the Mayor will call a meeting and get an expression of the people as to what they consider reasonable. The Board of Finance recently received for license to sell liquor quite a slice from the debt.

MICHIGAN SOCIETY WILL ENTERTAIN.—The Michigan Society will hold a turkey feast at the rooms of the Commercial Club Thanksgiving eve, and have arranged an interesting programme for the evening, which includes a duet entitled "The Girl From Kayak" by Nordstrom brothers, club singing by Professor Ringler and the Misses Ballin, vocal solo by Miss Edith Nordstrom, buck and wing dancing by the Nordstrom brothers and the distribution of turkey, after which dancing will be indulged in by those in attendance. All members of other social societies are cordially invited to attend. The Michigan Society will give a masquerade ball on December 13.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.—John Kow, a native of Russia, was found dead last evening in his home, 884 Delay street, near the aldermen shops. He had been employed as a shoemaker in one of the downtown shops, but had been ill and unable to work for some time. He was 41 years of age. Last night his son, Stanley, upon going home from school, found his father very ill and went to summon a friend to his aid. Upon returning, the father was found dead in his bed. Coroner's inquest was held, but as there was no suspicion of suicide or foul play, an inquest will not be held.

TO IMPROVE EAST BURNSIDE STREET.—A petition has been signed for the improvement of East Burnside street, from the bridge to East Tenth, with bitulithic pavement. It was reported last evening that enough signatures had been secured to insure the improvement being made.

DEATH OF A TEACHER.—Miss Josephine Preston, who died the middle of the week, was a teacher of the St. Johns School, and was highly valued in that capacity. She had been in the charge of the third grade in the school for some time. The funeral was held in Fairview.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

We want to thank all our friends and the public in general for the encouragement given our efforts to provide the people of Portland with a reliable jewelry store, where all may get a "square deal" and the best value for their money.
Especially do we thank the many of you who, after finding our goods, our prices and our ways satisfactory, have told your friends and thereby increased the number of our customers through the best kind of advertising—the spoken words of approval. We thank you for your confidence in our earnest desire to do right for the sake of right.
Finally, we thank our critics for calling attention to our faults, for we now may avoid the worst of them, and thus more agreeably and efficiently serve you, and you, and you.

THE HILL

Attractive and Strictly Modern New Resident Hotel.

The new resident hotel on Washington street—Lauretta Place—is filling a long-felt want in Portland. The building is thoroughly modern in every respect, having hot and cold water, steam heat, electric lights and telephones in each room, and elevator service day and night. There are a number of rooms, both single and en suite, with private bath, on each floor, and several general baths. Mrs. S. V. Hill, the proprietor, needs no introduction to the Portland public, she having been to a great extent responsible for bringing the resident hotel business in Portland up to its present high standard. The kitchen is in charge of G. W. Woods, one of the best chefs in the Far West, and a very efficient crew of colored waiters are giving the best dining-room service ever offered to Portland people. The Hill is giving all the luxuries of the higher-class American-plan hotel, together with the comforts of home life. Mrs. Hill is being assisted in the management by C. L. Morgan, an Eastern hotel man of wide experience.
