

Every Child Has Its Hobby

Men and women-being but chil-dren grown up-have hobbies too; and how we all do love to ride! each his or her own particular hot, What could give greater joy in, at the approach of Christmas-e, than to add to some loved one's pleasure by grooming the hobby she—or he—loves best, and bringing it forth for her—or him to mount and ride. Let's all lay aside our cares and be children again. What happiness the word "Christmas" conjures up! What a wealth of meaning it has alike for the world-weary heart and the child. It holds in its grasp sacred ties that bind our hearts together in fetters strong as steel and yield-ing as love. Ties that have power to draw us at Christmas time from the remotest corners of the universe to the dearest spot on earth—Home. After all, then, home is the hobby we all ride—and all that home contains—from the toddler up to Grandma. We've a wonderful lot of home brighteners and heart-gladdeners in this Christmas Shop of ours—and what gladdens the heart is sure to brighten the home—with the glow of Christmas cheerfulness and joy. The whole industrial world has studied and toiled to make your Christmas a perfect one this year, and this great store overflows, with gifts practical, beautiful and full of heart interest for every one, from Baby to Grandpop, at prices that make them gifts in double sense. at prices that make them gifts in double sense.
