The Sale of Sales!

The People's Providing Time When Saving Rules Supreme. You Know the Rule That Guides This Great Annual Event, for Which Thousands Wait to Provide for the Wants of a Full Twelvemonth. Absolutely Every Article in the House—"Contract Goods," Upon Which Makers Regulate Prices, Alone Excepted—Is Forcibly

Anent Extra Specials: The tremendous business of the past year, supplemented by the enormous holiday trade with which we have been favored, has left us with thousands of dollars' worth of small lots, endments and oddments of best selling merchandise, some laggards that have not sold so well, a few overstocks, etc. The Christmas business has left behind some goods that show fingermarks, wrinkles, or soiling from handling, and we realize that all such merchandise must be offered at the very lowest of prices to arouse your interest in our efforts to close them out at once. We therefore announce, in connection with the great Clearance Sales, a Series of Matchless Special Sales to open Tuesday, continuing through the month and until the closing of the Clearance season on February 3. All lines of merchandise mentioned above will be offered at Unparalleled Sacrifice Prices! Special Bargains that are Positively Sensational!

We print below a few extra special opening bargains. A host of other will appear in Monday evening and Tuesday morning papers.

A Sincere Acknowledgment of Our Grateful Appreciation

the day's early meal, please add to the sweetening in your cups a great big lump of sincere thanks and kindest regards from "Your Store"—the Olds, Wortman & King organization. Possibly it may add nothing to your joys, or your Christmas to know how we feel, but it surely increases our pleasure this morning to put into sympathetic ink our hearty thanks to our public for their kindness to us, and their evident appreciation of our efforts to serve them best, not only through the strenuous holiday senson, but during the full twelvementh of everyday store-keeping—

Thanks for the good humor, the patience and generous patronage of all the year and especially of the past fortnight. You have brought to us the largest business in the store's history-largest by far. You have told us, "You never saw the store to such advantage," and have spoken in most pleasing and flattering terms of the splendid facilities and excellent service with which the store is endowed. We've worked hard all through the year to bring this state of things about. That store doesn't exist nor the man-that can please everyone, sure enough, but when everybody tries to be pleased, as our patrons seem to try, and recognizes the sincerity of the effort made by the store to please, it would be queer indeed if we didn't do better than common. Apart from the extremely satisfactory sales, we are pleased most with the manifest appreciation of our efforts, and for this extend a great double portion of cordial gratitude.

TO OUR ASSISTANTS

To our immense army of helpers, the largest store force employed by any house on the Coast, who used their every causest, patient and sincere endeavor to make such a success as this of ours possible; who have worked faithfully, longer and harder than ever through the lengthened hours of a Christmas season, we extend our heartfelt thanks. No dictionary ever printed contains words to express our appreciation. We return next week to the usual schedule of shorter store hours for our helpers—with pleasure. A Merry Christmas to all.

SUITS, COATS AND FUR-LINED WRAPS Women's Winter Fashions

In Varied Attractiveness-Every Article of Attire in SECOND PLOOR.

A fur year, and all furs reduced one-fourth-A velvet year always means a fur year-The soft, deep velvet gowns of this season are calling for ermine furs as plainly as if they said: "Nothing else in all the world sets me off so well as the rich, warm-looking furs." We always sell furs at fair figures and do not put exorbitant prices on them simply because so few customers know their value that we could safely deceive them into paying too much.

Our prices at all times are the lowest in the city, while the furs sold here are the choicest and best. And yet, right now, in fur season, the beautiful, luxurious furs, coats, or fur-lined coats, neckpieces, long or short, are a quarter less than their original modest price each. The range of values is wide-$3.50 to $75.00.
