DEADLOCK SURE AT ALGECIRAS

France Will Demand Control of Police, Germany Will Stand Firm.

NO HOPE OF AGREEMENT

Germany Points to Absorption of Tunis as Warning Against Yielding—France Will Offer Solemn Guarantees.

ALGECIRAS, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—At the Moroccan conference next week France will enter a demand that she be allowed to police all the regions of Morocco except those contiguous to Spain. The republic is willing that the policing shall be watched by the powers with the assistance of the officers directing it, but claims practically a free hand in the suppression of the anarchy that is regarded at the present moment as threatening every foreigner and foreign interest in Morocco.

France will also require an agreement regarding ports on the Moroccan coast, insuring their freedom from operations that might eventually result in the establishment of national strongholds commanded by foreign powers. Morocco in French Sphere. The essence of France's position is that Morocco lies within her present sphere and must therefore be regarded with relation to the future security of the Republic, whereas the other powers, with the exception of Spain, are interested only in economics.

The French Republic is ready to give the most solemn guarantee for an open door, not only for the 30-year period specified in the Anglo-French convention, but for all time. Its delegates hope thus to get the support of America and the sympathy of every power except Germany. They will contend that France's position for dealing with anarchy and the raids of brigands, which are causing the greatest uneasiness in Tangier, is peculiar in that alone of all the powers she is prepared with troops immediately available to secure order in the interest of all nations.

CRITICAL STAGE IS REACHED

Germany Will Never Let France Repeat Operation With Tunis. BERLIN, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—Advices to the government indicate that the expected critical stage in the Moroccan conference has arrived. The delegates of Germany and France are practically at a deadlock on the police question, the French claiming exclusive rights and the Germans insisting on putting their police in control. Germany alleges that the conciliatory attitude of France has undergone a sudden change and that the republic now aspires to special rights far removed from the Algerian frontier. These Germany will oppose to the bitter end. If France does not retire from the position she has taken, the conference must come to a sudden finish, because Germany will not consent to anything that will permit France to "accomplish the Transification of Western Morocco." The Germans say it is now time to remind the public opinion of the world that France is attempting to play exactly the same game in Morocco that she played in Tunis in 1881. The republic then demanded of Tunisia, just as she is now demanding of Morocco, the right to occupy only such portion of Tunisia as was necessary to insure the safety of the Algerian frontier. France agreed with the Bey of Tunis to withdraw the troops as soon as both governments were agreed that the local authorities were able to preserve order. After two years of occupation of the frontier, France "induced" the Bey to sign a new treaty reading: "In order to make it easier to carry out the French protectorate, the Bey agrees to institute such administrative reforms as the French government considers useful." France then persuaded the Bey to relinquish his sovereignty, under cover of which the republic proceeded to cancel all the rights that the nations previously had acquired in Tunisia. Germany has not forgotten how Tunis thus came under the French flag and is determined that history shall not repeat itself.

EL MOCHO MAY LEAD REVOLT

Veteran of Venezuelan Revolutions Does Not Deny It. NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—General Jose Manuel Hernandez, "El Mocho," when seen last night and told that it was reported that he was to lead a revolution against the rule of President Castro, of Venezuela, said: "About my future plans I have said nothing. How this information could have come I do not know. I can say nothing." The report, which lacked confirmation, had it that Hernandez hoped American business interests in Venezuela would finance the revolution. El Mocho (the cripple), so called because he has a maimed hand, is about 52 years old, and comes from a family which has been identified with revolutions in Venezuela since the time of the revolt against Spanish rule. He headed one revolt against Castro, but was captured and lay in prison for 18 months. He was released from prison and made a General in the army. Later he was made Minister to Panama, but held the office only four months before removal, and on the declaration that he was a traitor, sentenced to exile.

BRITISH TARS' SOUVENIR TO AMERICANS.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The blue jackets of the British second cruiser squadron will shortly present the American Atlantic fleet with a handsome silver cup as a souvenir of the former's recent visit to the United States. Another Warship to Whip Castro. PARIS, Feb. 11.—The Journal's Toulon correspondent says it is stated there that the French second-class schooner Du Chailu has been ordered to be held in readiness to start for Venezuela.

BATTLESHIPS REACH TRINIDAD.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Four big battleships, the Maine, Missouri, Kentucky and Kansas, and seven torpedo-boat destroyers, have reported at Port of Spain, Trinidad.

Book, in which she consented to the international conference, but laid down the express condition that she shall maintain her special rights and retain absolute liberty to accept or reject the decisions of the conference should her preponderating position be affected. Germany or any other power naturally possesses the same liberty of action, and a refusal from any quarter to agree to the resolutions of the conference would merely mean that Morocco will still remain in a state of disorder, but the European relations will not necessarily be disturbed. SAYS CONFERENCE AGREES. LONDON, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—The Sunday Times this morning prints a dispatch from its correspondent at Algeciras stating that the Moroccan conference has practically agreed on a method of settling all of the points in dispute. According to the correspondent, Germany will agree to give France a free hand in Morocco, the latter nation agreeing to the nationalization of the State Bank, which would make the Sultan equally dependent on all of the powers financially. This is declared to be the main object desired by Germany. The Sunday Times is an entirely distinct paper from the famous London Times.

DOUBTS GERMAN GOOD FAITH.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The Figaro, in an editorial, this morning says it doubts the good faith of Germany with regard to Morocco. "Germany," the paper says, "refuses us the general mandate we have so well earned. Several intermediary solutions of the question have been discussed by the conference and no doubt more will be found, for the diplomats have nimble wits, and the French language is most elastic. With the exception perhaps of Germany, all governments and all peoples desire peace. A rearrangement of the situation would be most welcome to us, but not an arrangement that would oblige us to pay too dear a price for Mussulman tranquillity in North Africa. We fear, however, that although Germany has already exhumed for our benefit so many Bismarckian traditions, she still has some more in reserve."

GREATEST WARSHIP LAUNCHED

Dreadnaught, First of Her Type, for British Navy. PORTSMOUTH, England, Feb. 10.—The monster battleship Dreadnaught, which, when finished, will have cost $2,000,000, was launched here today by King Edward. The ceremony was the most simple possible, the King having vetoed all decorations and pageantry on account of the death of his father-in-law, King Christian. There was a moment of suspense after the King touched the electric button removing the last block as the huge ship heeled and appeared reluctant to take the water. But slowly she began to move, and glided down the ways in safety. Among the occupants in the royal stand were the American naval attaché, Lieutenant-Commander John E. Gibbons, and the other attaches, the Admiralty officials and a few privileged persons. The launching of the Dreadnaught, the largest and most powerful battleship the world's navies, marks the first stage in what the British Admiralty claims as the greatest achievement in naval construction. October 2, 1906, work was commenced on the Dreadnaught, which has more than made good its boast to launch her within six months. Another 12 months, all going well, the Dreadnaught will be commissioned and join the Atlantic fleet, thus beating all previous records in battleship-building by six months. The ship is to some extent an experiment, and it is desired to give her a good trial before commencing construction on any more of her class. Great Britain was the only power having attaches of observers on Japanese ships during the Russo-Japanese war, while expert British constructors were given every opportunity of learning wherein the ships of Japan proved weak or strong, as the case might be. These men, after the battle of the Sea of Japan, came home with their data, which was submitted, with suggestions, to a special committee, and the Dreadnaught is the outcome of their deliberations, a ship apparently invincible, capable at one discharge of her guns of throwing an unparalleled force of metal as much metal as any foreign man-of-war now afloat, while her armor will render her immune from attacks by any enemy's guns, and, some claim, even against torpedoes, fired at the usual battle range. The details of construction are secret. The displacement will be 18,500 tons, she will have ten 12-inch guns capable of throwing 350-pound projectiles 25 miles, or penetrating 16-inch armor at two miles. She will be the first battleship with turbine engines.

PLANS FOR WEDDING TOUR

Visit to New Orleans and Mardi Gras Settled On.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—That New Orleans and the Mardi Gras have been included in the wedding itinerary of the White House couple is a known fact. The couple will pass the first few days in Georgia at the home of Miss Roosevelt's mother, and then the New Orleans festivities will follow. They will take their wedding journey in the private car Republic. There has been quite a bit of talk among diplomatic circles over the fact that ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland have not been invited to the wedding, in the light of the fact that Mr. Cleveland is the only living man that has served as President of this country besides Roosevelt. Mrs. Cleveland was one of the most charming women that were married in the White House. The slight has more than ordinary significance. "If it is true that the Roosevelts have succeeded to include Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland among the guests, I look upon it as a very great breach of White House etiquette," a member of Washington's most distinguished old families remarked today. The wedding is being made as much a private affair as possible in every way, but has not deterred Congress from adjourning before the wedding in order to give every member who it invited an opportunity to attend. The Cincinnati friends of Mr. Longworth will make up a party 150 strong and charter a number of cars and make the trip to Washington as one big family. They are expected to arrive here February 15. The Taft gift will be presented early in the week, as it has not been entirely completed as yet. The stone, which is a rare aqua marina, is in color neither a blue nor a green, but looks like the depths of an ocean wave. It will be set, about with diamond hearts, very tiny, and the chain will carry out the same idea, tiny diamond hearts being set in it at intervals.

COLD WATER WOMEN OBJECT

Protest Against Punchbowl or Loving Cup for Bride.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10.—The various societies representing the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Columbus are up in arms at the announcement that the Ohio delegation in Congress decided to give Alice Roosevelt a punchbowl as a wedding gift, and their indignation is not abated at the later announcement that the delegation had decided to present her with a loving cup, which many of the church and W. C. T. U. women believe to be practically a punchbowl. At a meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday it was decided to send a letter to Congressman Webber, thanking him for his stand against the punchbowl, and also to pray that the delegation shall not present the gift of a punchbowl.

LONGWORTH IS MUCH BETTER

Bridegroom Has Tonsillitis and Must Keep Quiet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Representative Nicholas Longworth, who is suffering from an attack of tonsillitis, was reported as much better today. It will be necessary, however, it was stated at his home, for him to remain quiet for several days.

TRAIN WRECKED IN TEXAS.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 10.—The express eastbound on the Texas Pacific was wrecked today at Odessa, 100 miles west of Dallas. Four passengers were badly injured and 21 severely. Only one name has been learned among the injured, that of Conductor McCord, of Fort Worth.
