Speaker's Friendship Secures Bill Against Being Loaded Down With Other Appropriations, and Assures Prompt Passage.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash ington, April 14.-Speaker Cannon today assured Representative Jones, of Washington, and Chairman Burton, of the river and harbor committee, that he will permit them to call up the Columbia River bill on Monday under suspension of the rules. This is the most satisfactory arrangement that could be brought about. for it means that the bill must be con for it means that the bill must be con-sidered solely on its own merits, and can under no circumstances be confused or associated with any other river and har-bor or appropriation bill. The merits of the bill are so apparent that it cannot be assailed, unless by members who have been unable to secure reports on bills making appropriations for rivers or har-bors in their own districts, and it is not believed any such opposition can now de-feat the Columbia River bill. It will take but a few days for the Senate to agree to the House bill and, having passed both houses, it will certainly receive the approval of the Pres-ident, for he long since committed himgelf to lts passage.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST FENCING

President Decides to Prosecute Unless Fences Are Torn Down.

OREGONIAN NEWS EUREAU, Wash ington, April 14.-President Roosevelt after repeated conferences with Attorney-General Moody and Secretary Hitchcock, has determined to inaugurate a vigorous campaign for reclaiming Government land now unlawfully fenced in and used for pasturage by numerous large cattle-own ers. These men have escaped punishmen

The President will probably issue proclamation July 1, ordering cattle-own-ers to tear down their illegal fences and open up the country within a reasonable time, about 60 days, upon pain of punishment. If this order is not complied with, pending indictments are to be prosecuted vigorously, and it is probable other indictments will follow. The President does not want to resort to law if he can get the fences down by simpler means. He does not approve of Secretary Hitch-cock's plan of indicting every man who maintains an illegal fence unless these men, upon receiving due notice, refuse to tear down the fences.

Spring Catarrh,

Almost every one has come to believe that Spring is a season that brings de-rangements of the body dependent on blood impurities.

This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience.

Nervous Depression.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of Spring is a fertile source of bleed impurities. There are general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and ctimes loss of sleep.

That Tired Feeling. That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of Winter, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

The Correct Remedy. Spring with its lassitude is also fruit-

clated and his spirits seem to be crushed. Nearly all of Good Friday was spent by the Chancellor in prayer with the ex-court chaplain, Dr. Stoecker, who informed his friends that he was very much shocked at the helpless and reduced condition of the Prince. Dr. Stoecker declares that it is out of the question that Prince von Buelow will ever again be able to take up the government leadership.

KAISER SULTAN'S PRIEND.

German Capital Will Irrigate Dominions-Italy Also Stands Well. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 14.-(Special.)

-The report that was current in the early days of the Moroccan conference at Algecless that Germany was gaining gr in Turkey to such an extent that she would soon be the dominating power there is confirmed. The German Ambassador is active in a syndicate of German capitalists recently formed, which has given a large sum to the Sultan for farreaching concessions in connection with an irrigation scheme, whereby all of the big rivers in Asia Minor are to be connected by artificial waterways and water provided to make fertile hundreds of thou-sands of acres of arid land. The outcome is certain to be very faorable to German capitalists, and incidentally will afford an immigration outto agricultural Germany.

Italy is also becoming friendly with the ultan, and, as an example of his regard for Italy's King and Queen, the Sultan has dispatched a special mission to Rome laden with presents, including two Ara-bian horses of the purest breed, as saddle horses for Their Majesties. The mission also bears a pressing invitation to the King and Queen to visit the Sultan here.

WHY GERMANY HOLDS BACK

Lends No Money to Russia Till Douma Is Working.

CHICAGO, April 14.-(Special.)-A staff

In foreign politics, Germany still occupies the foreground. As foreshadowed last week, Germany has refused to par-ticipate in the Russian loan. A German diplomat frankly admitted to me that diplomat frankly admitted to me that one reason was the desire to pay Russia off for the rebuff at Algeciras, but another reason is less childish and more abtute. Roughly speaking Russia needs $500,000,000 to insure her solvency. The present loan, if successful, will only tide over matters until next Winter. A new loan will then be wanted, and Germany thinks it better to wait until that time when it it better to wait until that time, when it will be possible to see whether the Douma is working. If the new constitution ap-pears stable, financial security will be much better. As the diplomat explained, it is not at all likely that Russia will repudiate her debt, but it is quite possible that a new form of government may reduce the in-terest on old boars, and it is safer, therefore, from all points of view, to awalt the next loan. Unquestionably there is a good deal of common sense in this line of

With regard to Anglo-Russian relations. there is reason to believe that the present British government contemplates an agreement in the immediate future more far-reaching than anything intended by Lord Lansdowne. Possibly Sir Edward Grey, the present Foreign Minister, wishes to emulate the Angio-French agreement, which made such a reputation for the last government, but if, as seems likely, he intends to give Russia a free band in the whole of Persia in return for an ac-knowledgment of British supremacy it Afghanistan, the agreement would be dis-tinctly unpopular. It would mean surrendering important British commercial interests in Southern Persia for a position

ABOUT SENATORIAL VOTE

Expects Republican Legislature to Elect Republican Senator, Regardless of Majority in Popular Vote.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., April 14.-Senator John M. Goarin, the only Democratic candidate for United States Senator in Oregon, is more frank than the Democrafic leaders at home, more frank than the Democratic press of his State. He admits that even under the Oregon primary law a Repub-lican Legislature is bound to elect a Republican Senator, no matter what the republican Senator, no matter what the re-sult of the primaries may be.

In talking over the Oregon situation,
Mr. Gearin has time and again expressed the opinion that the Oregon primary law will not operate to force a Republican Legislature to elect a Democratic Sena-tor any more than it will compel a Dem-ocratic Legislature to elect a Republican Senator.

Prior to the time when he consented to have his name placed on the primary ticket, Mr. Gearin informed the Democratic leaders in Oregon that this was his belief and conviction. Whether or they agreed with him in private is not known, but publicly they evidently take a different view. The fact remains how-ever, that John M. Gearin, who is more ever, that John M. Gearin, who is more directly interested in the coming elec-tion than any other Oregon Democrat, believes that primary elections are bind-ing only within the respective parties. He believes that the Republican receiving the highest vote at the primaries will prob-ably be elected when the Republicans control the Legislature, even though the Democratic candidate may receive a Democratic candidate may receive a larger vote at the primary election than the most popular Republican candidate.

Mr. Gearin does not directly discuss his own case, but, applying his own statements to the approaching election, admits that, though he himself may receive more votes at the primary election than any one Republican candidate, that fact will not operate to compel a Republican Legislature to elect him to succeed himself. He recognizes the con-stitutional right of the Legislature to elect a Senator, and it is his honest opinion that the Gregon Legislature and every other State Legislature will always Senators belonging to the purty

Mount Vesuvius presented a majestic spectacle from this point of vantage at the observatory. This was far inside the outer circle of smoke which hides the vol-cano from Naples. The great monster atood out clearly under the bright sun-light. It was entirely white, like a snow-covered mountain; the ashes had changed its former deep green color. Its contour also had changed. The gigantic, jagged cone no longer rose like the setting of an enormous jewel. Instead, the top now forms a graceful curve, harmonizing the gradual slope of the foothills. The white surface of the mountain is slit here and there with a clear, subsection leave. there as with a giant sabre-stroke, leav-ing guiches through which lava courses. The wrecked remnant of the Funicular Railway lies at the bottom of one of these guiches, some of the twisted cable protruding from the ashes. Singularly, an American scientist is the only one sharing Professor Matteuccl's post in his observations. This is Professor Frank A. Perret, of New York.

"I've only been here three months," said Professor Perret. "I came to Italy originally for my health. I had studied volcanic disturbances, and met Professor Matteucci. We became mutually inter ested, and he honored me by inviting me to share his observations as an honorary assistant. The post of assistant, to which I was recently appointed by the City of Naples, came at a most fortunate moment, as it permitted my observation of this tremendous disturbance, which is be-yond the faintest conception of those outide the immediate terrors of Vesuvius.

"The most terrible moment came Saturday night. I had gone to Boscotrecar for the purpose of photographing the lava stream that was then deluging that town.

I returned to the observatory about mid-night. The dynamic force of the main cruter increased enormously and new crater mouths opened in the mountain side within ten minutes of each other. This caused immense havoc. From Naples crowds flocked to Boscotrecaz to witness the sight, which was grander there than at any other point. At midnight the situation at the observatory was terrible. The roaring of the main crater was deafening; the volcano operated like a fountain, its discharge rising and side within ten minutes of each other. spreading and then falling over a great area. The electric phenonema were ter-rifying. The claps of thunder were in-cessant, with a lurid play of lightning. The cause of this phenomenon was fric-tion from the ascending particles gen-erating electricity, which displayed itself in incessant lightning and thunderclaps.

No Sleep That Awful Night. "No one thought of sleep, but all stood gazing at the awful scene. At 3 o'clock in the morning the lowest station seemed to be burning, and at 3:30 o'clock the whole cone broke open with a tremen dous earthquake shock. Redhot protectiles were dons earthquake shock. Redhot projec-tiles were precipitated toward Mount-Somma and the observatory. That seemed to be a critical moment, and the Brigadier of the carbincers ordered a re-treat. We made our way to a small house down the mountain side, but even there the rain of stones continued. One of the arribners was struck on the head of the carbineers was struck on the head and badly cut. After this the intensity
