Surrounds House at Seattle, Where Young Chester Thompson Barricades Himself and Defies Arrest_Father Is Prominent.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7 .- (Special.)-Chester Thompson, the 19-year-old son of Will H. Thompson, lawyer, poet and orator, shot and seriously wounded ex-Superior Judge G. Meade Emory tonight, because he imagined the latter was try ing to prevent him from meeting Miss Charlotte Whittlesey, Judge Emory's alece, and daughter of a former King County Treasurer, with whom young Phompson has been infatuated for two years. Judge Emory was scated on porch tonight with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keith, when young Thompson, coatless and hatless, rushed up and demanded that he be allowed to see Miss Whittlesey.

"You cannot; she's not here," said Judge Emory, and he put out a hand to restrain young Thompson as he attempted to dart into the house. "I know where to find her," snarled Thompson, as he swung about, revolver in hand. Three times he fired at Judge Emony, one bullet striking the left lung within three inches of the heart, a second striking in the flesh above his hip, and the third missing

Young Thompson sprang up stairs toward the nursery, grabbed Clara Emory, aged 3, and Tom Emory, aged 4, away from their toys and hur-ried them into a bedroom. A bed was hurriedly turned against the door, and then, from behind the barricade, young hompson defied anyone to take him. For an hour and a half, while the police gathered and an angry crowd below should for his blood, young Thompson remained barricaded in the room, threatcular to shoot any one who interfered with him. In the meantime his father had been summoned, and after a long wait he mrrived.

Will H. Thompson, a veteran of the Confederacy and a man grown old in the practice of the law, leaped from a carriage and ran up the stairs without speaking to any one. He knocked at the bedroom door and called:

"Chester, do you know your father? am here and everything is all right. Come out and give yourself up to the po-

There was no immediate response, and Mr. Thompson called again to his son. The latter replied that he was taking the shells out of his gun, and a moment later stepped out of the room and walked up to his father. Mr. Thompson seized his oy's hand, held it a moment, and ther turning to Captain of Police Ward, said:

The police formally arrested the boy, then made a hurrled search of the room, finding that after he had shot at Judge Emory young Thompson had reloaded his gun and prepared for a fight.

Children Fall Asleep.

In the meantime the two children with him had snuggled up in a corner and fallen asleep. The police smuggled young Thompson down a back stair-way and into an automobile, then hurried him to the Police Station. He is held there pending the outcome of Judge Emory's wounds.

An uncle of Judge Emory's assailant was Maurice Thompson, the famous historical novelist and poet. A brother is an officer in the National Guard and nother is a young newspaper man. Years ago, while the couple were in the

This has caused a somewhat acrimonius correspondence between Constantinople and spondettee between Constantinople and athens. Passengers Adrift Eleven Days Carry Captain on Shoulders.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The Italian steamer Dinnamare, which towed the disabled and overdue Fabre Line steamer America to Bermuda on July 4, arrived here tonight. According to the crew of the Dinnamare, the 115 passengers of the America were greatly alarmed throughout their drift of 11 days at the sea's mercy, and when Captain Penco, of the Dinnamare went aboard the America at Bermuda, the passengers swarmed about him and carried him about the deck. The men, as well as the women, of the steerage halled him as their saylor and it was with difficulty that he got ashore.

When picked up, the America had been adrift 11 days with a broken shaft. There was no chance for repairing the break and the only hope for those on board was a tow to the nearest port, which was Bermuda, 1166 miles away.

"We were going along our regular course on June 27," said Captain Penco, when I saw something off the port bow at 4 P. M. that looked like a saliboat. Through the glass it looked like a fishing schooner, and I was somewhat puzzled at her presence in such an out-of-theway place. When we got closer I saw it was a steamer in distress with signals set for assistance.

"I bore down at a safe distance and halled the America. The captain said he was proken down beyond repair."

WRITES TO EX-SENATOR JONES

Country Needs Application of Jeffersonian Democracy.

DOES NOT ASK NOMINATION

Willing to Sacrifice Freedom of Public Life if His Leadership Holds Out the Best Hopes of Victory.

WASHINGTON, July 7. - Ex-United States Senator James K. Jones, of Arkansas, who was chairman of the Democratic National Committee, when William J. Bryan made his campaign for the Presidency in 1896 and 1900, has received a letter from Mr. Bryan, in which he announces that he will accept the nomina-tion for President for the third time if it is tendered to him. The letter is dated June 18, at Stockholm, and is as follows:

"I have been watching political developments and have noted with gratifica ion the vindication of Democratic prin ciples. You have correctly stated my position. As I wrote to Colonel Wetmore I shall do nothing to secure another non nation, and do not want it unless the conditions seem to demand it. I may add that I enjoy the freedom of private life and feel that I can do some good without

"There are, however, certain reforms which I would like very much to see accomplished, and to assist in the accomishment of these reforms I am willing to become the party candidate again, it, when the time for the commutation arrives, the slovocates of reform are in control of the party and think that my candl dacy will give the best assurances of victory. If some one else seems more avail able I shall be even better pleased.

"I need not assure you that I am more interested in seeing our principles trium-phant than I am in the personnel of the ticket. The country needs to have Jef-fersonian Democracy applied to all the departments of the Government, state and National, and I am content to help make this application. "W. J. BRYAN."

LONDON, July 7.—(Special.)—William Jennings Bryan and John Burns, member of Parliament, breakfasted together at the Nebraskan's rooms in the Hotel Cecil yesterday. Mr. Bryan left his guest long enough to say:

Franklin MacVeagh, of Chicago, who heard Mr. Bryan's speech, July 4, said:
"His recognition of the 'white man's burden,' unless it shall remain a plous abstraction, must lead him, if he ever gets the power, to concrete acts indistinguishable from what one would expec from an avowed anti-imperialist.

MIDDLE WEST IS FOR BRYAN

WASHINGTON, July 7 .- (Special.)-Rep esentative Charles A. Towns passed through the city today from a trip to South Dakota and Illinois, where he gathered some distinct impressions of politi-cal conditions in the Middle West. He is taken for granted that he is to be the Democratic candidate for President, without any consideration, and conceded that the people are discussing politics and platforms. There is absolute harmony among Democrats in the West, the Gold Democrats and the former opponents of that faction being in thorough accord as to Bryan's candidacy. "I was struck by the confidence that the people seemed to have in the prospect of electing him. Democrate sentiment is running high through the Western country and the Democrats will go into the Presidential campaign with great enthusiasm. Moreover, this spirit of zeal and harmony will be manifested in the coming Congressional campaign and will do us good. I predict that many of the seats now occupied in the House by Republicans by virtue of Democratic votes that went astray two and four years ago, will hold Democrats in the next Congress. "The people out West are following Bryan's movements with great interest and keep track of all he says and does. I heard many commendatory comments about his tour; the idea was that he was broadening himself and would be benefited by getting acquainted with the nations and the governments of the earth."

When Californian Found Victim, He Is Shot Down.

AUBURN, Cal., July 7.—A sensational shooting took place this morning at Last Chance, a mining town in the mountains, as miles from Auburn. From what can be learned of the tragedy here, it appears that Charles Dorka, a saloonkeeper, be-came Jeslous of Frank Tillotson, superin-tendent of the Home Ticket mine, and started out to kill him. He met William Polifika, and taking him for Tillotson, shot him dead.

Learning the mistake he had made, Dorka continued his hunt for Tillotson. The latter had been informed of the shooting and its cause, and when Dorka approached Tillotson shot him. At last accounts Dorka was not dead, but it was believed that he is mortally wounded.

Dominion Bill is Very Much Modified.

Restrictions on Other Methods of Transportation Remain, but Legislatures Are Given Large Measure of Control.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 7,-(Special.)-The Lord's day bill passed its third reading in commons early this morning after an allnight session and vote of 77 to 39. It was a party vote and about 100 members were paired or absent.

The bill at one time threatened to disrupt the Liberal party in Quebec by its vexatious interference with settled cus-toms in that province. It has, however, emerged from the committee stage in the House in such an amended and modified form as to render it fairly satisfactory to the masses of the French people.

Sunday is now declared a day of rest throughout Canada by force of Federal law and its infringement is punishable by criminal process. But an amendment to this clause, and the most important accepted by the government, makes its application subject to any law new in force or that hereafter may be passed by provincial Legislatures acting within scope of their legislative authority. This sweeping amendment largely delegates to the provinces the power to make regitions for the observance of Sumlay.

Another radical amendment from the operation of the bill all sti rallways under Dominion charters. clause authorizing Constables to enter any suspected premises without a war-rant is eliminated.

The exemption proposed for Jews and Adventists was defeated, and upon this question the Cabinet itself was divided. the Premier voting for the exemption. It is said that an attempt will be reintroduce the clause when the bill comes The restrictions placed upon railroads

The bill has undergone such a transformation as to make it more acceptable to the public generally. The government nowever, does not yet appear to be rid of its dilemma, for the measure promises to assume a politico-religious aspect for the future. A clause has therefore been inserted providing that the act shall not come into force until March 1 next. This will give the provinces an opportunity to enact laws and will also afford time if necessary by the federal Parliament in the Autumn session.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where it is believed it will be passed through all its stages without serious opposition. It has proved the most contentious piece of legislation during the present session Parliament prorogues next week.
