WOMAN IS CLEVER DIAMOND THEF

Mysterious Damsel, Thought to Be American, Steals Fortune in Gems.

IS AN EXPERT SWINDLER

Bunco Artist Poses as Wife of Eminent Madrid Physician, Who Is Hoodwinked Into Helping Out Thief's Game.

(Special Cable to the Central News and The Oregonian.) MADRID, July 28.—A very clever woman, believed to be an American, yet speaking Spanish perfectly, has just secured $20,000 worth of diamonds in a most daring manner.

She called one day in what looked like a private carriage, at the Golden Gate and Silvermine, the jewelry store of Spain. Here she looked at a large assortment of valuable diamonds and chose some $20,000 worth of the best stones. She begged that someone would accompany her home in the carriage with the diamonds, as her husband approved of them he would pay cash immediately. She gave the name of Dr. Arzo as her husband. He is one of the famous alienists and a very wealthy man. One of the principals of the jewelry company agreed to go.

Arriving at the doctor's handsome residence, which is also his office, the woman got out of the carriage and marched quickly into the ante-room. She invited the jeweler in and then asked him for the diamonds to take to her husband and show him privately. They were handed over and the woman marched into the doctor's private office. She came out in a minute or two and asked the jeweler to kindly step in and get his money, as her husband approved. The jeweler walked in, and the woman disappeared. She had a good ten minutes' start before the discovery of a swindle was made.

His bride and the woman called on the doctor and represented herself as a woman of wealth with a husband who showed signs of going insane. She desired to have him examined. The doctor made an appointment for the following day at the hour when the woman and the jeweler arrived. She went first in to the doctor and told him that her husband was in the ante-room. The doctor held the door open as she asked the jeweler to walk in, and he greeted the man with a cordial smile. The doctor asked the jeweler a number of questions, and his answers made him certainly think his "patient" was insane. There is no clew to the woman. The carriage she used was hired from a livery stable.

WOULD HAVE NEW WORLD

London Priest Says He Has Little Use for Old One.

LONDON, July 28.—Father Vaughan, the man who has been attacking the smart set in a series of remarkable sermons, has been interviewed scores of times recently, but his latest talk with a newspaper man is by far the most startling than usual. Father Vaughan says he has no use for the world as it is today. If it were possible he would wrap it up in a bundle and send it to the moon. He wants an entirely new and better world.

WOMAN KILLED OUTRIGHT

Los Angeles Suburban Trolley Is Half Way Over Track When Engine Appears Around a Sharp Curve.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 28.—One woman was killed, two or three persons fatally injured and upwards of 35 hurt, many of them seriously, in a collision this afternoon by a local Southern Pacific passenger train running between this city and Pasadena and a car of the Sierra Madre division of the Pacific Electric Railway. The accident happened at Onsetta Junction, in the suburbs of South Pasadena. Following is a list of dead and injured:

THE DEAD. MEXICAN WOMAN, about 60 years of age, unidentified; killed outright. Seriously Injured.

Miss Jessie M. York, daughter of Superior Judge W. M. York, Los Angeles; contusion of the side, face and arms lacerated.

W. H. Kellogg, Sierra Madre; leg and arm broken. C. Stanley Tooley, Sierra Madre; hurt internally, unconscious, maxilla dislocated.

Miss Edith Adams, Los Angeles; right arm and leg broken. Miss Blanche St. George, Los Angeles; hurt internally, unconscious, maxilla dislocated.

E. W. East, brother-in-law of Miss St. George; spine injured, probably will recover. W. E. Chapin, attorney, Redlands; head lacerated.

S. M. Kennedy, assistant manager Edison Electric Company, Alhambra; head cut. Mrs. S. M. Kennedy, Alhambra, shoulder broken.

Dr. Wallace, brother of Mrs. Kennedy; body badly bruised, both arms crushed. Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Los Angeles, both bruised and slightly hurt.

The electric car left here with 42 passengers on board. Arriving at Onsetta, the car stopped and the conductor went ahead to the Southern Pacific crossing at this point. As the train approached, and the car started ahead, reaching the center of the crossing, when the train from Pasadena for Los Angeles suddenly rounded a curve and crashed into the car with terrific impact.

Train was Running Fast. The train was running at a high rate of speed, and the effort was made to avert the crash. The electric car was struck squarely in the center by the pilot of the engine. The body of the car was torn from the trucks and carried for 200 feet down the track before portions of the wreckage went under the wheels and threw the engine from the rails.

Tossed About by Engine Pilot. The passengers on the electric car were hurled in every direction, and many of them thrown beneath the train and horribly cut and mangled. One woman was killed instantly, and several others were believed to be dying were taken from the wreckage. The injured were at once placed on an electric car and taken to the various hospitals in Los Angeles and Pasadena. Scarcely a person in the car escaped injury.

Engineer Blames the Carmen. So far as ascertained, none of the passengers on the train were hurt. The one coach of the train remained on the rails, and none of the occupants was hurt beyond a severe shaking up. A car loaded with surgeons was dispatched from Los Angeles, and rendered aid to the injured before they reached the hospitals.

Engineer L. A. Potter, of the Southern Pacific, said: "It was entirely the fault of the crew of the electric car. They attempted to get across the track in front of the train and miscalculated the distance."

None of the crew was hurt beyond cuts and bruises. The Pacific Electric Company issued the following statement regarding the accident: "It has been impossible so far definitely to place responsibility. We know that the car came to a stop for the purpose of the conductor flagging the crossing, but whether the motorman started before getting proper signal from the conductor, or whether the conductor gave the motorman a go-ahead signal without looking in both directions, it is impossible to determine until a thorough investigation has been made."

LOS ANGELES CARS COLLIDE

Misunderstanding on Right of Way Results in Man's Death.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 28.—In a street-car collision at Corra Pico street and Grand avenue at 9 o'clock this evening one man was killed and seven persons were injured, at least two of whom are expected to die. The dead was A. A. USMAN, bicycle manufacturer, Los Angeles. Two of his ribs were crushed and thrust through his heart.

The serious injuries, Dudley Cavanaugh, Los Angeles; Mrs. Daisy Cavanaugh. The accident is said to have resulted from a misunderstanding as to right of way. The Grand-avenue car, running at high speed, struck the Pico Heights car fairly in the center, and overturned it.
