DYNAMITE IN CALDWELL

Explosive Supposed to Have Been Cached by Assassins Found.

CALDWELL, Idaho, Aug. 11 .- (Special.) -A sensation was created here last evening when G. H. Fuller, the town Marshal, discovered two sticks of dynamite, a box of dynamite caps and a lot of fuse in a box at the rear of Porter & Stone's drugstore and John Steunenberg & Co.'s shoe shop. The box containing the explosive was labeled Cambridge, Idaho, and had evidently been exposed to the ele-ments for many months.

It is thought here that the explosives were deposited in the rear of the Steunen berg place about the time of the assassination of the late Governor Steunenberg, and were overlooked when the premises were searched after the murder the construction nor the operation of the railroad, they say, offers any danger to the water supply.

Two changes in the ordinance authorizing the building of the line are suggested by the sanitary experts. The ordinance prohibits the establishment of any stations along Cedar River unless authorized by the city. The experts declare no stations should be established and recommend employment of a sanitary engineer to superintend SWEETHEART TRUE TO MAN OF Pardoned by Governor Higgins After of a sanitary engineer to superintend

The St. Paul can agree to fulfill both conditions and this will end a bitter warfare waged by the King County Medical Society against the railroads paralleling Cedar River, from which comes the city water supply. Dr. Parke Willis, the Northern Pacific's local physician, was the most active doctor in the fight, and there has been a general belief that the attack was insured by the Hill roads to delay the nspired by the Hill roads to delay the Bass With Rables Swims Amuck. North American.

Henry Allen, of Clay, Pa., who is an observing man, declares the story of the fish that died of hydrophobia in No. 2 ore bank pond to be true. He witnessed the dying spasms of the big bass.

According to Henry, the bass had contracted hydrophobia from the carcass of a dog which had died of the rables and been thrown into the pond About two weeks later persons living near No. 2 pond noticed the peculiar antics of the In the deep clear water it could be seen pursuing pickerel and perch, snap-ping at them victously, while from the jaws flocks of white froth exuded.

During its most violent paroxysms this bass carried its tail between its pectoral and sentenced to imprisonment for life, with the exception of Plate, who died in jail. Bristol later died in prison, but Hildreth and Hubbard were pardoned less than a year ago. Hildreth had met Miss Ryding before his arrest and an attachment sprang up, and during his incarceration a correspondence was kept up. It was due, to the efforts of Miss Ryding that Governor Higgins consented to pardon the two youths. The couple are new in the Middle West on a wedding tour. They will reside bass carried its tail between its pectoral fins Four old women attending a temperance picnic near by saw it distinctly. They also say that while the fish did not bark, it growled some.

Finally it took an antipathy to water, and Henry, who sat on the bank for two hours watching the poor thing die, avers that it leaped two feet in the air to established the water.

AMES KYLE, a fruit and produce man staying at the Imperial Hotel, and H. U. Welch, Deputy County Assessor and Captain of the First Battery, O. N. G., look so much alike that they are always getting each other into trouble. Mr. Kyle has never seen Mr. Welch; Mr. Welch has never seen Mr. Kyle. But each hears the name of the other a dozen times every day he is on the streets of Portland.

Both are large men, well proportioned and each weighs exactly 250 pounds with his clothes on. Their features are strikingly similar. Each has a dark complexion, is smooth shaven and is usually smoking a cigar. Besides, their clothes are very much alike.

Mr. Kyle explains good-naturedly that ever so often during the day he is approached by some one who wishes to file a complaint about his taxes or wants to make an appointment with him at the City Hall. Some one else is constantly saluting him with "How do you do. Captain?" His friends are constantly asking him why he spends so much time at the city building. When Mr. Kyle in-forms them that he seldom if ever goes o the City Hall, his acquaintances shake helr heads, look at him rather doubt-uily and walk away. And Mr. Welch has the same troubles.

And Mr. Welch has the same troubles. People are always stopping him on the street and wanting information about the wheat crop, or the condition of the fruit in this or that section, or a thousand and one other things that a produce man has to contend with. Then Mr. Welch is compelled to explain that a mistake has been made and that he to the Deputy City Assessor.

sire for Narcotic Drugs.

St. Louis, Mo.—The vast army of drugueers who make annual pligrimages to institutes or sanitariums to escape the distressing effect of narcotic drugs will be delighted to learn of the latest importation and discovery in medical research. This wonderful discovery is the product of the Egyptians, and this drug or anti-dote, which is taken hypodermically or internally, in 19 or 20-drop doses, four to eight times a day, is called Morphia-Cura-Comp. Its success in drug addictions is marvelous, as it will not only cure the drug habit, but is very efficacious in refleving the drug habitue of asthmatic and catarrhal conditions and stomach troubles, also in relieving pain and producing refreshing sleep. It can be used in combination with opiates of any kind, and in this way the habitue is enabled to cut his daily dosage of drug down from 30 to 35 per cent and effect a perfect cure without pain or inconvenience, no matter whether he is taking a grain or 100 grains. An absolute free trial treatment of this wonderful specific for drug habits of all kinds can be obtained from Woodard, Clarke & Co., druggists, 250 Washington street. Portland, Oregon. Persons who cannot call at the above druggists are requested to write in confidence to the Delia Chemical Company, Colonial Security building, St. Louis, Mo., for a free trial treatment, which will be sent in plain cover, postpald.
