and entertained after the order of 6-year-olds. The young ladies wore chic French doll dresses and the men were attired as schoolboys, Buster Browns and Highlanders. The big den of the Benson home was made into an impromptu nursery, in which all the games dear to childhood were played, including everything from blowing soap-bubbles to building block houses and drawing in picture-books. At 10 o'clock bibs were furnished each guest and bread and milk served, a more substantial supper following at midnight. The guests were all of the younger Multnomah Club set.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Mackie entertained the gentlemen of St. David's choir on Thursday evening last at their charming residence on Poplar street. The chief feature of the evening was progressive whist, the prize for which was a handsome gold pin with pearl setting. This was won by James Mancur, after a very evenly contested game. After music furnished by various guests the party adjourned to the dining-room and enjoyed the chafing dish supper deftly carried out by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Mackie are among the most enthusiastic supporters of the choir of St. David's.

WEDDINGS.

Knight-Fawk.

The marriage of Miss Moree Fawk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fawk, of Salem, and Mr. Claude Knight, of The Dalles, was a most interesting event, which took place Wednesday at 12 o'clock at the Fairmount Hill home, in the presence of over 75 relatives and friends.

The decorating throughout the rooms was very artistic and was a pleasing setting for the many handsomely gowned ladies. The reception-room was in red, as was also the dining-room. Red dahlias and carnations were everywhere in evidence, and Autumn foliage added much to the effect. The parlors where the ceremony was performed, were in white and green, garlands of ivy and chrysanthemums were extensively used. At the appointed time Mrs. Harrie Parrish-Hinges sang "My Beloved Queen," and then to the strains of "Hearts and Flowers," played by Mrs. D. F. Carnes, accompanied by Miss Lilie Stege on the violin, the bridesmaid, Miss Eleen Fawk, sister of the bride, entered the parlors, immediately preceded by the bride, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Allen T. Bates, of Portland. Rev. W. H. Selleck, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, performed the ring ceremony. The musicians played softly throughout the time.

A wedding supper was served at the close, after which Mr. and Mrs. Knight left for The Dalles, where they will reside.

Mrs. James Walton, Jr., of Portland, sister of the bride, and Miss Edna Knight, sister of the groom, received the guests at the door. Mrs. Walton wore her wedding dress of champagne crepe de chine and real lace, over pink taffeta, while Miss Knight wore white mulle, with trimmings of valenciennes lace.

The bride wore a handsome gown of brocaded silk trimmed with renaissance lace over an under dress of peau de cygne silk en train and a long tulle veil. She carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore cream crepe de chine, elaborated with hand-embroidered festoons of roses, over medallions of de spagne lace. She wore a coronet of pearls and carried cream carnations. Mrs. Ernest Wiggins assisted in receiving in the parlors and wore her wedding gown of ecru crepe de chine, over taffeta of the same shade, with trimmings of duchess lace. The bride's mother wore a handsome costume of mirage silk in pastel tints, with baby Irish lace trimmings. The groom's mother wore black silk. Miss Blanche Fawk, cousin of the bride, who received on the second floor, wore accordion-plaited chiffon over old rose taffeta. Miss Lenna Cavanagh caught the bride's bouquet.

In the bride's cake, Miss Blanche Fawk got the ring, Miss Cecilia Haines the thimble, Miss Bessie Frisby the heart, and Mrs. D. F. Carnes the dime.

The presents were many and costly. Telegrams of congratulation were received from friends abroad.

The bride is very popular in Salem society circles, and will be greatly missed. The groom is connected with a large mercantile house at The Dalles.

Eyre-Emerson.

A Salem wedding of interest was that of Miss Sable Beryl Emerson to David Walter Eyre, which took place at the home of the bride's uncle, W. M. McIntire, in East Salem, Wednesday at 8 o'clock. A number of the relatives and a few intimate friends were present.

In the dining-room Autumn foliage and the red dahlias made an attractive scene. The parlors where the ceremony was performed were in white and green. Miss Lena McIntire received the guests at the door. Miss Hazel McIntire played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and just before the bridal party entered Dr. C. M. Parvin sang "O Promise Me."

The bride were cream silk crepe de chine with trimmings of real lace, and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Edith Eyre, sister of the groom, wore turquoise blue silk crepe de chine, and carried jasmine blooms. Dr. B. H. White acted as best man for the groom.

A wedding dinner was served at the close of the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Eyre left for Newport. They will return in a few days and take up their residence in the groom's new home on Sixteenth and State, where they will be at home to their friends after November 1. The groom is the assistant cashier at the Salem State Bank, and the bride is a talented musician, as well as a vocalist, and is a charming young woman. One of the features of the wedding was that Rev. P. S. Knight, who performed the ceremony, officiated at the bride's parents' wedding, the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Emerson, in this city, 25 years ago.

Dr. and Mrs. George Hoeye and son Emerson Hoeye, of Oregon City, were among the out-of-town guests.

Barnett-Cleave.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Immanuel Baptist Church Wednesday, October 10, when Miss Laura Cleave and Shirley L. Barnett were united in marriage by Rev. G. W. Griffin. Promptly at 8:30 P. M. the bridal party entered the church, to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by Miss Ethel Hoffman. The ushers, Charles Hesenner and Ray Groves, were followed by Miss May Norcross as maid of honor, Miss Lenna Cleave as bridesmaid, and Mamie McCurdy as flower girl. The bride entered, leaning on the arm of G. E. Norcross, and was met at the altar by the groom and best man, Vernon Guthrie. The bride wore a beautiful dress of cream silk crepe de chine over white silk, veil and orange blossoms, and carried white carnations. The church was tastefully decorated with palms and Autumn leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett will be at home to their friends after the 15th at their new home at Kern Park.

Martin-Went.

Miss Sophie Lue Went and Walter A. Martin, both of Portland, were the participants of a quiet home wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Went, Glenwood, on Thursday evening, October 18, Rev. H. D. Chambers officiating. Autumn leaves and evergreens uniquely arranged were the principal features of the well decorated room. The bride wore a beautiful gown of crepe de chine and carired a bouquet of bride roses. After the ceremony, the guests partook of a wedding supper, at which toasts were given to the continued health and happiness of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Martin left Friday morning for a short trip along the coast, and after their return will reside in Portland. The bride and groom
