

Events of the Week in Domain of Music

THE piano recital of Miss Dorothea Nash, which was given last Wednesday evening at the Unitarian Chapel, was an artistic and musical success and attracted the attention of many outside the musical circles of Portland. Miss Nash was assisted by Mrs. Imogene Harding Brodie, contralto, and her brother, W. Gifford Nash, played her accompaniments most sympathetically. About 50 invited guests were in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed the genuine musical treat offered them by a well-selected and rendered programme. List, Beethoven, Chopin and Wagner were given preference in the selection of numbers.

Miss Nash is a pianist of unusual talent and artistic training. She excels in fine sentiment and poetic interpretation, and her fine temperament brought out the exquisite coloring and shading of the lighter numbers most admirably, while she was also able to dispute the assertion that women cannot do justice to Chopin. The programme was full of variety, the first two numbers, the French-Tanzig Accents and Paganini and the Beethoven "Moonlight Sonata" being specially classical. The programme closed with a recital of the "Lullaby" by Schubert, which was rendered with breath-taking phrase and careful technique. The second group, three Liszt numbers, called for such different powers as to be a severe test of the player. "Lullaby," "Song to the Birds" in the group was particularly pleasing, the light and rapid birds' voices contrasting charmingly with the sustained melody of the more pastoral tones.

The only criticism of the McDowell "Sea Pictures" is that the three were in the same color tone, but this applies to the composer rather than the performer. These pictures have not been played publicly in Portland before. The last group of piano numbers, the Brahms-Wagner arrangement of the five scenes from the Valkyrie, and the two Chopin Polonaises, made the heaviest demands, not only on the memory but on the technique of the pianist, and were rendered nobly. The very difficult A Flat major Polonaise which closed the programme was the best of all and was brilliantly played.

The three songs given by Mrs. Imogene Harding Brodie were by no means the least delightful feature of the evening. "Swing High and Swing Low" was a delicious bit which brought out the melody of her rich voice admirably, and the Saint-Saens song, selection from "Sampson and Delilah" called for all her powers, demanding both compass, volume and expression. Mrs. Brodie gains in popularity with every public appearance. Her voice is rich and satisfying in low contralto register and her high notes do not fall in tone or quality.

Sixty invited guests enjoyed Miss Ditchburn's recital in the parlors of the Portland on Wednesday evening, and those who have not heard her sing lately were delightedly surprised at the progress she has made in her vocal studies. This young singer, who recently returned from New York where she had the advantage of study under eminent instructors, and her voice has broadened and deepened considerably.

Miss Ditchburn has an ideal stage presence and her execution and interpretation are satisfying to an unusual degree. She made a pretty picture as she received her guests and sang for them and few could realize that the handsome and accomplished young vocalist was the school girl of two years ago whom everyone knew and called by her first name.

The programme given at this affair was composed of groups of English, French and German songs, and an Indian love song by Woodford-Finden, the most artistic selection being "Heure Exquise." The selections were all given from memory and the accompaniment by Miss A. M. E. Jackson, who played with rare judgment and expression. It will be a pleasure to hear Miss Ditchburn again in the near future.

That charming song cycle, "Frauen Liebe," by Schumann, will be sung at the next meeting of the "Concordia" Holy Ghost Club by Miss Alice Juston, Miss Ethel Lytle and Miss Ethel Powers. Mrs. T. L. Perkins and Mrs. A. E. Jackson joined this club last week.

It is announced that Watkin Mills is to experiment with another American song set, the forty-fourth, "Concordia" Holy Ghost Club by Miss Alice Juston, Miss Ethel Lytle and Miss Ethel Powers. Mrs. T. L. Perkins and Mrs. A. E. Jackson joined this club last week.

Frederick W. Goodrich has arranged the following programme for today's services at St. David's Episcopal Church: Morning-Music for holy eucharist. Tournes in G, offertory, "Concordia Holy Ghost" (Cantata); postlude in D minor (Gullmark). Evening-Offertory (by request), "Vesper Bell" (Cantata); postlude, "Bridal Song" from "Wedding Symphony" (Goldmark).

St. David's Church now possesses a large and complete collection of every number of which gives voluntary service. The music performed is of a very high grade of excellence. Last Sunday evening Dr. Souding, organist of Oregon, was present at the service and paid a very high compliment to the choir and its director, Frederick W. Goodrich. A crowded congregation was present and the full choir of 16 voices performed the following music: Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis in C (H. Gadsby); anthem, "Worthy is the Lamb," from the Mass (Handel) and "Te Deum," from the coronation of King Edward by the King's special request.

The choir of the First Congregational Church will render the following programme today: Organ, "The Ascension" (Redhead); quartet, "Still With Thee" (Woods); quartet, "Hold Thou My Hand" (Gounod); quartet, "Gloria Be to God" (Buck); organ, concluding voluntary (Page); organ, "Reveries" (Nicola); quartet, "Jubilant Yea" (Mitske); quartet, "Lord of Our Life" (Pohl); organ, "March in G" (Smart).

Miss Ethel M. Lurie and Mrs. Sylvia MacGuire visited Dallas last week, having been engaged for the second annual recital given by the Dallas Free Library Association. Miss Lurie was in subordinate voice, singing every number of her difficult programme with a beauty of tone and interpretation which won for her an ovation. Mrs. MacGuire's readings, which were mostly negro dialect, were given as only a daughter of the South can read them and were greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Kathryn Ward Pope, of Oregon City, will leave about November 1 for New York City to perfect her musical education. She goes to study with Victor Harris, who is regarded as the greatest musical coach in America, and also Paul Savanne, the celebrated teacher of voice culture. Mrs. Pope is a pupil of Mrs. Walter Reed, of Portland, and has many friends who wish her success and safe return.

Yvette Guilbert is in America once more and will immediately begin a series of engagements. She is accompanied by Charles Hagermann, a brilliant accompanist, and is singing in concert with Albert Chesadter. The public seems anxious to learn whether the bewitching little French singer has learned to speak English since her last appearance in this country. For the benefit of Yvette's finances it were better she had not, for it she could be thoroughly understood her charm would sink into mediocrity. She has been famed for her characteristic and artistic rendering of risqué French songs, but she is now devoting her talent and voice to the folk songs of her country and is said to do them imitatively.

Dr. George Ainslie, tenor of First Presbyterian Church, is not away from the city on a vacation, as was reported, but has given up his church position until the first of January, at which time he will take his place again with the choir.

Shanna Cumming, the well-known dramatic soprano of New York, is booked for a tour which includes the Pacific Coast. As her family lives in Portland, this city will doubtless enjoy a visit from this eminent singer, an event which will be anticipated with much pleasure.

Ellen Beach Yaw, the Californian who was once heralded as having the highest soprano voice in the world, will be one of the musical attractions of this season. Miss Yaw has put in several years at hard study and work and since her return from abroad has created a decided sensation. She and her company are booked for November at the Helix.

At the musicale given by the Knights of Columbus last Wednesday evening, Miss Catharine Covach received many congratulations for her effective singing of Harris' "Hills of Sky." Miss Alice Juston accompanied Miss Covach most sympathetically.

At the morning service of the White Temple today Mrs. Reed will sing Roma's "Resignation," and in the evening there will be a trio for soprano, tenor and baritone—"The Lord Will Comfort Zion," and an anthem, "Light of the World," by Starves.

Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer entertained the Operatic Club charmingly last Wednesday night. The next rehearsal of this rapidly increasing organization will be at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Knight, near Milwaukie.

Little Eleanor Fields, a 7-year-old child of Royersford, Pa., has the distinction of being the youngest organist in America. This child is described in the Philadelphia North American as being quite a musical prodigy, and it is said she can play any instrument, wind, string or reed, without instruction, and is a good critic of music. Her repertoire for the piano includes 200 classical selections, and she has appeared in concert in various parts of the country.

Joseph Meredith Rosenzantz, the young violinist, will appear in a testimonial concert at the Helix Theater in the near future. Much interest has been aroused in Portland musical circles by this young man's playing, and Rowland B. Lloyd, came as a complete surprise. The ceremony, though so quiet, was an extremely pretty one and was performed by Rev. Hare at the First Presbyterian Church, only the family of the bride and Mr. George F. Englesby for the groom being present. Mrs. Lloyd is an Oregon girl and a graduate of the Portland High School. Mr. Lloyd is from Trenton, N. J., but has been on the coast for the past five years, during which time he has been connected with the Acme Mills Company and the Railway Mail Service. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd left at once for the Sound and British Columbia and will be at home after November 1 at 40 Sixth street.
