Miss Catherine Harker, of Palo Alto, Cal., is spending the Christmas holidays with her sister, at 67 Davis street.

A Spokane paper states that the wedding of Miss Rena Kuhn, a former Portland girl, to Carl H. Well, of Chicago, eclipsed in splendor any wedding that has taken place in that city.

The bride's father, vice-president of the "Traders' National Bank, presented her with 100 shares of the worth $5,000.

Preparations for the wedding required weeks of work. The decorations of the dining-room and the ceremony room are estimated to have cost $1000 and the wedding supper, including service, will exceed $30 a plate.

As the bridal party entered through the aisle of flower-filled baskets and satin streamers, the orchestra, concealed behind a cluster of green bay trees, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and during the pretty Jewish ceremony, Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" was played.

The bride's father, vice-president of the "Traders' National Bank, presented her with 100 shares of the worth $5,000.

At the home of Mrs. J. D. Hayes, the Tuesday Afternoon Club met for the home of Mrs. J. D. Hayes.

Three Christmas trees filled with gifts for the Portland poor were given last week under the auspices of the People's Institute.

The settlement work conducted by the industrial club is present in a flourishing condition, and consists of a mothers' class, kindergarten, boys' gymnasium, cooking school and a kitchen garden.

The kitchen garden class, under the direction of Miss N. Wood, Mrs. Frank Kerr, Miss Frances Lewis and Miss Susie Stoll, entertained for the little ones of that class on Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Frank Kerr.

The largest tree of the week was given at the Institute on Fourth and Burnside streets last night.

WEDDINGS. Hollis-Pennington. The following from the Spokesman-Review describes the wedding of a former Portland girl.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hollis left last week in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis left an hour later over the O. R. & N. lines for San Francisco, whence they will sail via the steamer Sonoma for Honolulu, December 27. The trip to the Hawaiian Islands will be for the honeymoon, as they will be back to Spokane by February 1.

The bride, who was born in Oregon 29 years ago, lived in Portland until 1901, when she came to Spokane and opened the Pennington Hotel, which she has made a conspicuous success. There will be no change in its ownership or management.

Mr. Hollis is a native of Ohio, born in Astabula County 22 years ago, but was brought up in the timber districts of Wisconsin and Minnesota, in the days when lumbering there was at its height. Since boyhood he has been engaged in the various branches of the timber trade, except for a few years spent in the study of architecture.

When the Minnesota forests gave way before the ax, he came to Spokane as the most promising field for a lumberman, and has been actively connected with the forestry interests of this country for eight years.

He is the vice-president and treasurer of the Central Lumber Company, which recently secured the holdings of the Edwards-Bradford Lumber Company.

Mrs. Hollis is a sister of Mrs. L. M. Davenport.

Doyle-Godley. One of the prettiest church weddings witnessed in Chehalis, Wash., for some time was celebrated Wednesday, December 13, when Miss Lucie Godley, of that city, was united in marriage to Albert E. Doyle, of Portland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald McKenzie, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, which was handsomely decorated with Oregon grape and Autumn leaves for the occasion.

Duber, Miss Amanda Cheldelin, William Danner, of The Dalles; Mr. Hauser and Master Harry and little Florence Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Karlin departed for their new home in Eastern Oregon.

Tucker-Klump. A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Klump, 265 East Third street, North, Saturday, Dec. 15, at 5:30 P. M. when their daughter, Velma, was married to Stanley C. Tucker. The bride and groom were attended by George M. Allen and Miss Elsie Romsteth.

William S. Ewing and Miss Gertrude Eddy were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Leas, performed the marriage ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Amanda Cheldelin, of Kenasay, Or., and Mr. Huber, of Eastern Oregon, acted as best man.
