Put a MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE in Your Kitchen

It burns hard coal, soft coal or wood, and utilizes all the heating power of the fuel. Ordinary ranges are made of cast iron. Such ranges are rusted, warped, bolted to cast iron. It is practically impossible to make tight joints, without the use of stove putty.

Such a stove may work well until the bolts become loose, or the seams open between the rivets. The putty contracts, hardens and falls out. Then outside air leaks in through every seam and joint. The stove is practically closed openings at the even door; the draft door, the ash pan door, etc., and it takes twice as much fuel to keep up the fire.

The Monarch Range is different. It is constructed with malleable iron frames, to which the sheet steel is riveted—not bolted.

Only in this way can absolutely air-tight joints be made.

There is no stove putty in a Monarch. Each of the frames around the oven door, ash door, the nouch feed, back of oven, etc., is made of malleable iron, which insures air-tight joints without danger of leaks.

All this makes an even, perfect range, with perfect fire control—a range that cooks well and stays satisfactory for a lifetime.

MAY FORBID UNION PARADE

CHIEF OF POLICE FROWNS ON PROPOSED DEMONSTRATION.

Fears Repetition of Recent Riots in Streets in Sympathy With Striking Carmen.

It is altogether probable that Chief of Police Gritzmacher will forbid the contemplated parade of union men next Saturday night. He said yesterday that he doubted the advisability of the protest, and that in case the matter is pressed and it develops that a large demonstration is in reality to be arranged, he would advise with the Mayor and members of the Police Commission as to whether or not it should be stopped.

It was announced in the Oregonian of yesterday that the union forces were planning a big parade and demonstration in favor of the strikers. The parade, the striking streetcar employees, and the date for the big turnout was stated as next Saturday night.

While Chief Gritzmacher declares he is taking no sides in the controversy between the strikers and the officials of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, he is emphatic in the statement that the police will preserve order, peace, and that no riots or anything that may lead to trouble will be tolerated.

"I hardly think the union will make much of a turnout," said Chief Gritzmacher, "for I hardly think there is a great deal of sentiment among union men in favor of the strikers. If there should be in reality, however, a big demonstration planned and likelihood of it taking place, I would confer with the Mayor and members of the Police Commission to ascertain as to whether or not the parade should be allowed to go on."

The police have been very active concerning matters relating to the strike since the riots of Saturday night, six weeks ago, when the lawless element took advantage of the situation caused by the walkout and created much trouble at two or three points. Chief Gritzmacher announced at that time that he would guarantee to the public that no such trouble would occur again, and said that drastic measures would be used if necessary.

For a long time after the riots reserves were kept in readiness at police headquarters and they were frequently called out to suppress incipient outbreaks. New Year's eve there was considerable trouble, and several times since it has been necessary for the police to take a hand to stop disorder brought on by the streetcar strikers and their sympathizers.

Two weeks ago the police arrested President Fisher, of the streetcar employees' union, twice in one night and carried him and a dozen followers off to headquarters in a patrol wagon. All were released upon promising to leave the streets.

LECTURE ON FRUIT PESTS

Government Expert Will Instruct Horticulturists at Corvallis.

Arrangements have been completed for a three days' special lecture course, conducted by Professor Lewis and Professor A. E. Cordley, of the Government Experiment Station, to be held at Corvallis next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 15-17. This meeting is especially intended for the benefit of fruitgrowers and County Fruit Inspectors.

"All County Fruit Inspectors in this district, as well as many of those of other counties, are invited to attend this meeting," said James H. Reid, Horticultural Commissioner for the First District, last night. "This is a course that no fruitgrower, no matter whether large or small, can afford to miss. Insects, spraying and pruning, and the best methods of dealing with all orchard pests will be presented by these experienced horticulturists. Those attending this meeting will have an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the pests that infest orchards, as vermin of every description known to orchardists in this section will be exhibited at this meeting."

"The last meeting of the State Horticultural Society was the most successful ever held, the attendance being fully five times greater than that of last year. Colonel D. M. Dimes, of this city, has offered a silver cup for the best box of Newtons to be exhibited at next year's meeting of the society, and the Hazelwood Creamery Company has contributed two prizes of $30 and $20, respectively, for the first and second boxes of cooking apples at the same show. Any merchant desiring to offer prizes of this character for exhibits at the 1908 Horticultural meeting should communicate either with me or some other member of the Horticultural Society."

Stone Company Will Quit.

The Willamette Steel & Quarry Company was elated to appear before Circuit Judge Gantenbeta yesterday forenoon to show cause why an order of court had not been obeyed. Last October the company was enjoined from blasting in a quarry near the home of William Martzloff, in the outskirts of the city. Rocks and gravel from the blasting had greatly damaged the Martzloff home. Martzloff complained

Head of Chamber of Commerce Says

Their Action Was Unauthorized.

Believes in Merger of Publicity Bureaus.

S. G. Reed, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declares that he is not a candidate for the presidency of the Commercial Club and that if the office were tendered him he would be obliged to decline it. Furthermore, he says that he has never been a candidate for the position. It was planned by his friends to elect him as he is known to favor the merger of the publicity departments of the various Portland commercial bodies, but inasmuch as he has announced that he declines it, the action of the Commercial Club and the Chamber of Commerce would be unauthorized.

Miss Cordray made her first appearance with the organization at yesterday's matinee, and was very successful in the Ingenue role. TAKES HIS LIFE WITH GAS

Without Money to Pay Room Rent, Selig Robinson Commits Suicide.

Having been reduced to poverty through passion for gambling, and being despondent because he had no sufficient means with which to pay his rent, Selig Robinson, formerly engaged in business in East Portland, committed suicide by inhaling gas in his room at the Bushmark Hotel, and his lifeless body was found by Captain of Police Moore and Acting Detective Inskeep yesterday morning. He is supposed to have been dead at least 48 hours.

When Robinson took apartments at the Bushmark, a fashionable hostelry, last August, he paid two months' rent in advance and always seemed prosperous until he began reducing his time of advance payment on his room. He arranged for the room two weeks ahead on the second payment, and the next time he paid only one week's rent. The last time, he had only $1, which he gave the proprietor, and that was the last time he was seen alive.

The chambermaid grew suspicious when she tried two mornings in succession to open his door and could not get in. She reported to the proprietor yesterday and he called in the police. Captain Moore and Detective Inskeep responded. They were obliged to remove the glass from the door, through which they crawled, and the body was found lying on an improvised bed stretched from the open gas jet to his mouth, indicating the manner of death.

Robinson was called in and took charge of the body. He will endeavor to locate relatives of the deceased. Robinson once owned a small machine shop in East Portland and formerly was in good circumstances. He is said to have lost his money by gambling.
