SMITH'S NORMAL BILL IN THE LEAD

Stands Good Chance of Being One That Passes Both Houses.

WINS SUPPORT IN VALLEY

Concerted Action Perhaps Impossi de if House Turns Down This Solution, Which the Senate Has Already Sanctioned.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 9 .- (Special)-The prospect seems good for Senator J. M. smith's Normal school bill to become law. Since the bill passed the Senate Thursday, a number of Representatives have been studying it and have come to the conclusion that it is as good a measure as could be framed and that there is more hope of securing decisive action upon this bill than upon any other designed to settle the normal question. The fear is that if the House does not pass the bill, the Legislature will adjourn without set-tling the Normal school question. A number of the Valley delegations have decided to support the bill and are working among the members of the House to secure support enough to insure its passage. The argument used is that this bill gives every school a chance upon its merits and that it provides for reducing the Normals the number most generally demand-it also provides for control by one board, a reform that has been urged for a number of years. It has been felt all along that it would be difficult to secure united ac-tion upon any measure and that there was danger of an adjournment without settling the question, thus leaving the Legislature open to censure. It is now orged that if the House refuses to pass the Smith bill, it may be impossible for the houses to agree upon any other bill, thus defeating action. With one house already upon record, if the other house can be brought to the support house can be brought to the support but the ceremony of the bill, the whole matter will be after the operation.

The Smith bill provides for the creation of a Board of Normal School Regents, composed of the Governor, Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction, together with two members to be appointed by the Governor. It has been said by some that this places the responsibility of choos-ing two Normal schools upon the Gov. ernor. While this bill would place the power of choosing the two schools in the hands of the Governor, if he saw fit to sound his appointees upon their preference before appointing them, in reality it would probably leave the selection of two schools to the whole board. The Governor probably has troubles enough of his own without trying to dictate to two of his appointees what they shall do in the seection of two Normal schools to be continued as state institutions.

In a somewhat joking way a close friend of the Governor's told Senator Smith that if his bill passed the Govsernor would appoint Smith on the board, thus placing upon him the unpleasant task of choosing from among the four, Normais. "Well, I wouldn't shirk the responsibility," Smith replied. "It's a Job, I'm not looking for, but it is a son to make the place of the service of the s piled. "It's a job, I'm not looking to but if it were put up to me I would to those which seem most worthy of continuance. I think that is the way the question should be settled, and hat is what is contemplated by my

The Smith bill carries an appropriation of $75,000, to be expended by the board upon the two institutions as they may deem best.

they may deem best.

The report has been published that Senster Smith's activity in behalf of the normal school bill is due to a plan to have one of the normals located at Salem, with himself as a member of the board of regents. That this could not be the case is evident from the fact that the bill particularly provides for maintaining two normals, and that these must be selected from among those now in existence.

Officers in surrounding cities have been notified of the escapes, and employes at the Reform School are searching for the fugitives.

at the Reform School are searching for the fuglitives.

There were two gangs of boys in the plot to escape, and they laid their plans and executed them perfectly. About 4 or 5 o'clock this afternoon, eight boys were working in the orchard pruning and spraying trees, and when quitting time came two started for the school, while six made a dash over the hill for the timber, and all succeeded in cluding the guard.

After supper this evening, a crowd of boys was in the washroom, with Principal Martin and another officer watching them and conversing about the six who had escaped. Suddenly there was a grating sound and a snapping of fron and the outside door on the opposite side of the room opened and six boys dipped out and disappeared in the darkness.

By placing a long bolt back of the hasp which held the door, the boys had pried the hasp until it broke. The work was done so quickly that the boys were gone before the officers realized what was happening.

BULLET WAS FOR M'CARTY

Fatal Tragedy Takes Place in Pendleton Saloon-Late Last Night McManus Was Still Too Drunk to Tell His Story.

PENDLETON, Or., Feb. 9 .- (Special.)-John P. Mc Manus, editor of the Pilot Rock Record, shot and killed Bob Estes, a gambler, in a saloon on Main street about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

McManus was drunk at the time, and generally believed that he thought he was shooting a man by the name of McCarty, who, he says, robbed him twice and was trying to rob him again. Estes was shot in the back as he was standing in the toilet in the rear of the Pullman saloon.

McManus is yet too drunk to give an intelligent statement of the shooting or of the events that led up to it. The offi-cers believe that McManus was robbed as he says last, when he was in the city on a protracted spree. They also believe that McManus purchased the gun this afternoon for the purpose of shooting McCarty, and that the latter gave him the slip in the saloon where the tragedy occurred just a moment before the shoot-state as a newspaper man. He is naturally possessed of much ability, but drink has proved his ruin. His wife, who was formerly Mrs. Ida McCallister, of Sa-lem, is now here, having come in from Pilot Rock with him this afternoon. The coroner's jury found that McManus was guilty of the shooting, but did not name the crime.

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 9.—(Special.)—W. Borah, Senator-elect, left tonight for lars' worth of property and practically shutting Bellingham off from the outside world for two days, the floods in Whatcom County are subsiding. The situation is still serious, and hundreds of acres of farm lands are covered by water, but the worst is over unless the snow in the mountains melts, as is feared. In Sumas, several houses were marooned and the occupants were forced to flee to places of safety. Streets were also flooded. At the mouth of the Nooksack tain matters in the departments.
