

EXCURSIONISTS STOP OFF HERE

Washington Business Men, on Junket to California, Pay Portland a Visit.

SPEND 7 HOURS IN THE CITY

Visitors Given Trolley Ride to Portland Heights and Tended Reception and Luncheon at Commercial Club.

On their way to the land of the orange and palm, carrying with them their enthusiasm for their own Washington cities, the Tacoma and Seattle excursionists to California reached Portland yesterday afternoon and graciously accepted the hospitality offered. During their seven-hour stay in Portland they were shown every courtesy by the Commercial Club, the Portland Railway Company and the Portland Hotel. They left late last night with and said that while Tom Richardson is the founder of the excursion idea, with exploitation of cities and commercial interests as a side line, he has heartily taken up the plan. He said the first trip to the Washingtonians have undertaken to California, which occurred last Winter, was so successful that it was thought best to repeat it. This year the excursion has increased about 25 per cent. Mr. Pratt said he recognized the debt that Tacoma owes to Portland. He said the city owed her existence to a pioneer starting from Portland to found a city on Puget Sound. The very name, he said, was derived in the trustees' room of the First National Bank here. Tom Richardson, manager of the Commercial Club, spoke in his own inimitable vein and divided his compliments between the visitors and the Rose City. He said the common Northwestern country is such a one as to make Heaven ashamed of itself. Lunch was served to the guests, and dancing was indulged in in the gymnasium. John S. Ross, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco, came to Portland yesterday to accompany the party on the trip as the representative of the Southern Pacific. Mr. P. Jones, traveling agent here, will accompany the party south to Ashland as the representative of the Oregon lines. There are 116 in the party from many Washington points. Seattle sends 23 and Tacoma 61. The excursion will include points of interest in California, and a number will make a trip into Mexico.

expressions of appreciation on their lips. The bond of kindly feeling between Portland and her nearest neighbors on the Sound was strengthened by the fraternal visit of yesterday. The excursionists were never so well pleased with the Rose City and the sun never shone brighter on any 8th of February than in welcome of the pilgrims from the Evergreen state. There were many exclamations of delight from the travelers as they rode around the Heights yesterday afternoon in four special cars and watched the sun gild their own beloved mountain with its last rays. "See how beautiful Mount Tacoma looks!" said one, whose home is on Commencement Bay. "Take your last look at Mount Rainier for two months," said another, who claims Seattle for his home. But both factions thought it a good omen that the setting sun should throw a halo upon the peak that looks down upon both Sound ports and is so well beloved that it is claimed by each.

When the junketers arrived at 8:30 in their special train of Pullmans they were met at the depot by a number of Portlanders, who showed they were really glad to see the visitors. When the Washington party left at 10 o'clock last night over the Southern Pacific for the land of sun and flowers they were waved a farewell from the station platform by a crowd of people who wished the parting guests a happy trip and a safe return.

Fraternal Spirit Prevails.
The visitors felt the kindly spirit that prompted their reception here. They responded to the friendly speeches made to them in the same vein and when they left Portland they carried with them a keen appreciation of Portland's courtesy to the flowers they of different sections of the Pacific Northwest was non-existent last night. The Seattle spirit was forgot. The Tacoma champions "boasted" for the whole Northwest instead of any section, and Portland speechmakers exploited the two states as a paradise like no other any country.

Upon reaching Portland the city's guests found four special cars, furnished by the Portland Railway Company, ready to carry them about Portland. A telegram had already been received by the party tendering the use of the Portland Hotel parlors, and upon the completion of the trolley trip they made that place a rendezvous. After dinner the Commercial Club was the rallying point. The Ringler gymnasium, adjoining the club quarters, was thrown open and the Washingtonians gathered there. Senator Hodson, president of the club, received the guests and Governor Chamberlain welcomed them to Oregon. The Governor spoke of the common purposes of the two states and told how closely he interlocks the two are united. He said Oregon is going to help the Alaska Yukon-Pacific Exposition, and bespoke the assistance of Washington in deepening the Upper Columbia, which he said is a common waterway.

A. B. Titlow, a prominent Tacoma lawyer and chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee, responded happily. He graciously acknowledged what Washington owes to Oregon and what this state has secured for its northern neighbor.

Mayor Lane turned the city over to the Puget Sound party. He said he recognized the common bond that united the two sections and made it imperative that both should work together for common good. He wished the excursionists a successful and happy trip.

Tacoma Man Responds.
Louis W. Pratt, secretary of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce, who is at the head of the party, was called out

WILL BUILD NEW HOME

Portland Rowing Club Members Take the Initial Steps.

Officers of the Portland Rowing Club met last night and discussed plans for the building of a new clubhouse. The old boat, which was swept away by the flood last Wednesday, has been recovered and everything found in good condition. It was decided last night to tow the scow back to its moorings and rebuild the boat-house on it. A rough sketch of the proposed new clubhouse was made at the meeting, and the officers decided to inaugurate a campaign for money with which to build it. A meeting of the members of the club will be called for next Wednesday evening and at that time steps will be taken to arrange for the building.

The new club will be built on shore, about 40 feet above the bank of the river. The club owns a number of lots directly behind the moorings of the present boat-house, and the house will be built on these. It will be about 60x75 feet, three stories high and facing the river. The building will be on the plan of a country club, with dance hall, billiard rooms and all modern conveniences.

The members of the club seem to be in favor of the plan, and as soon as the meeting is held, definite steps will be taken to arrange for raising the money.

PERSONAL MENTION.

G. M. Hyland and family have returned to Portland after an absence of several months in Washington. John Mock, well-known pioneer resident of Peninsula Station, is recovering from severe sickness that confined him to his home for several weeks.

Mrs. Annie Lord Hynson, a sister of ex-Governor William P. Lord, arrives in Portland this morning from Milford, Delaware, and will spend the spring and summer with her sons, Lee and Ned Hynson, who are already acclimated to Oregon and known among Portland's young set.

the Young Women's Christian Association to raise a fund for the purpose of erecting a building in this city for the promotion of the good work of the Associations was discussed. The result of the discussion was the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest highly commends the aims and purposes of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in their respective fields of endeavor, and heartily approves of the efforts of the building committees of the Associations to raise a fund for the purpose of erecting in this city a building to be devoted to the uses murder in the first degree for having killed J. H. Smith, Sheriff of Mendocino County, December 22, 1905. When the Judge was signing the commitment of Willard to the insane asylum, the latter jumped to his feet and declared angrily that he was not insane. He started to run from the courtroom, and the Sheriff deliberately and shot the official dead. As a result of the decision of the Supreme Court, Willard must be sentenced to death.

A God-Given Medicine

Rev. John C. Orebaugh, a prominent clergyman and temperance advocate, says that DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is a God-Given Medicine.

Thousands of temperance advocates and clergymen throughout the country agree with Dr. Orebaugh, and have the courage of their convictions, to recommend DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY as the greatest tonic stimulant and body-builder known to science.

"I have suffered from irregular appetite, diarrhoea, then constipation, abnormal temperature, often below normal; at times the memory is dull and I feel stupid. I have tried many treatments with no beneficial results. Pardon me to furthermore say that I have always been opposed to whiskey as a beverage, but have always believed that PURE whiskey used as a medicine was a God-Given one. I NEVER found PURE until I got 'DUFFY'S.' The best I could get seemed to increase my trouble, but I find nothing disagreeable with DUFFY'S. It has done me a vast good and I trust others may use it through my recommendation."
(REV.) JOHN C. OREBAUGH, Anderson, Ind., Oct. 2, 1906.
