The Misses Veda, Mildred and Faye Nichols were the honor guests at an ar-tistic Chinese luncheon given by Miss Elia Stevens. The table was arranged with Oriental red mats, Chinese candlesticks. Oriental red mats, Chinese candlesticks, chopsticks and burning punks. The entire ceiling was hung with vari-colored lanterns of the Flowery Kingdom. At the conclusion of the luncheon a pretty compliment was shown Miss Mae Whidden, the bride-elect, by introducing the Chinese bridal custom of pouring warm water over the hands into a brass bowl water over the hands into a brass powi-held by the maid, and passed to the re-maining guests. Present were Miss Alta-Rush, Miss Louise Carey, Miss Imogene Rafferty, Miss Whidden, Miss Brady and Miss Maida Hart.

Now that the dates are decided upon Now that the dates are decided upon for the big society circus which will appear at the Armory April 18, 19 and 28, there is much talk going the rounds as to what it's going to be like.

"Are you in it?" and "What are you going to do?" are the questions asked.

The announcement that 100 girls will be used in the division of ansarching the days and ansarching the days are the days and ansarching the days and ansarching the days are the days and the days are the days are be used in the dances and ensemble features has created a new enthusiasm. As the speciacle calls for a "circus queen" the decision is being awaited with interest. She will no doubt be chosen from the younger ranks, her beauty being the main qualification.

Miss Alice K. Cole, of Boston, who arrives this evening, will be warmly welcomed, as she has friends galore in Portland, where she formerly resided. She is a cousin of Mrs. W. C. Alvord, with whom she will visit during her brief stay. Miss Cole is a woman of marked mental attainments, has a charming manner, and is the possessor of a beautiful contraito voice. On Monday evening Miss Cole is to sing at the invitation recital of the Scottish Rite Masons, and on Thursday evening will give a song recital, which will be of interest socially as well as musically.
