Chicago and 282 rolls of matting for Logansport, Ind. There were 21 cases of curios for this port, as well as 18 cases of paperware and 145 cases of china-ware. Of the latter there were 55 cases for Chicago and 5 cases of paperware. were consigned to Seattle. Other important items are 167 tubs of camphor for oston, 567 tubs of campbor for New York, 6 cases of refined camphor for Port and 1573 bags of sulphur for Port-The balance of the cargo consisted of Japanese provisions and pickles, gun-nies and about 300 cases of spices and coffee for local merchants.

The Numantia began discharging yesterday and will be given as quick dispatch as possible. It is hardly possible that she will finish in time to clear during the present month, but her outward cargo will make a good starter for March. The steamer was 20 days making the trip across from Japan and heavy weather was encountered all the way.

When the Numantia came alongside the dock the usual number of runners were dock the usual number of runners were on hand to board the vessel and solicit for various firms. For the first time in years permission to board the ship was refused them. There is an old law which prohibits persons from boarding foreign vessels without the permission of the turned over to the customs officers of the district and has been made fast at a permanent berth. Lately it has been decided to enforce this rule rigidly.

COOK AND SAILORS DISAGREE

Crew of Undine Refuse to Turn To Until "Doctor" Leaves.

Trouble between deckhands and the cook on the steamer Undine delayed that steamer for several hours yesterday. Members of the crew complained of the The steamer F. A. Kilburn, manner in which food was served to them and refused to turn to until the matter was rectified. The result was that the cook went ashore and the crew returned

The main complaint of the men was that they were given the same bill of fare from one week's end to another. There was plenty of food and good, but the same menu day after day became thresome and as the cook falled to change it they took the matter in their own hands.

Turgot Will Sail in Ballast.

Captain Gerzay, of the French bark Turgot, has received orders to proceed to Sydney for orders in ballast. The vessel will be ready to sail by the end of the week. The French bounty law makes it possible for a ship to sail a few thousand miles in ballast and not be on the wrong side of the ledger at the end of the voyage. The Turgot came to Portland in cement for R. P. Fuller & Co. and was on the market for an outward charter. Nothing offered and her owners decided that bounty was better than lying idie.

Galena Will Be Floated.

William Shute, Jr., representing the owners of the wrecked bark Galena, returned yesterday from Clatsop spit, where he has been surveying the vessel. Mr. Shute states that an effort will be made to float the craft as soon as the weather settles sufficiently to permit steady work, Mr. Shute was accompanied by Captain J. McGashen, an expert wrecker, of London, who will have entire charge of the floating of the Galena. The work will be done by contract.

PLEA FOR BUILDING FUND Work of Associations Justifies Expenditure.

PORTLAND, Feb. 23 .- (To the Editor.) higher educational facilities for the ambitious, amelioration and assistance in life's sordid grind for others; any organization which works from these two points of view, from no motives of personal aggrandizement, are more than educational and philanthropic centers.

For the woman who has developed her it behooves every community to uphold, to regard it as their bounden duty as well as pleasure to assist in a move-ment which in the light of reason ceases to be personal philanthropy and at once assumes the more august proportions of from the toiling for their daily bread into municipal betterment and public welfare. the educational, ethical and spiritual life; Following this line of reasoning still further, institutions working on these lines free from corruption and graft, with no higher ambition than the uplifting of their fellow creatures and no newer way of doing it than the old one laid down by the Master in Galliee—such association over the land today. To aid and protect the stranger girl, to assist the sould not seem to be asking too much if they even aspired to Government aid in their projects. For is not the body more than raiment, and is not all; to stimulate the social side there are the moral walfare of the citizen ment all; to stimulate the social side there are the moral welfare of the citizen worth the sounday at-homes, and, above all, there are much as his physical surroundings?

Well paved, well lighted streets are mulcipal affairs and excellent things, but greater than these are the men and trial or trouble.

H. B. Claffin & Co., in their great system of department stores in Buffalo, New York and other cities, have found it to their interest to employ a woman so-cial secretary, to circulate among their hundreds of female employes, get in touch with them, listen to their personal troubles, their grievances, advise them, comfort them, assist them in many ways, even entertain them now and then by throwing open the employes dining-room for a lecture or social evening; in fact, PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—(To the Editor.)

-Every movement or organization which tends to better conditions for women, concern found this innovation that now each shop under their name has its own social secretary. The Larkin soap factory in New York City employs an extension secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of that city who gives her entire time to the girls, organizing clubs among congenial groups, getting girls interested in class work, and caring for the sick; she alos becomes the perbrain power by education and the morally sonal friend of any girl who so desires it. chaste woman are the pivots around in Chicago also there is an extension secwhich grows up a socially law-ahiding retary of the Y. It appeals to all that is highest and best in us: consequently I feel that help will come from even unexpected sources—it must surely do so when the object is good. So I say to the committees of workers, in John Burrough's words:

"Serene I fold my hands and wait.

Nor care for wind, nor tide, nor sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate, For lo, my own shall come to me.

The stars come nightly to the sky;

The tidal wave unto the sea;

Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high, Can keep my own away from me." EVELYN SPENCER, Manager Y. W. C. A. Tearoom, at Olds Wortman & King's. New Turpentine Plant.
