THAW'S MIND PUT TO SEVERE TEST

Gives Evidence of Sanity, Which Makes Jerome Call for Time Extension.

WANTS EXPERT EVIDENCE

Lanacy Commission Shuts Out Hamilton's Opinion and Calls for Mc-Guire's - Jerome Irritated at Failure of His Programme.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The plans of the Thaw lunacy commission to complete its work today and to submit a report to Justice Fitagerald Modday morning as to the present mental condition of the slayer of Stanford White were upset late this afternoon by an appeal from District Attorney Jerome to be allowed to produce more witnesses before the commission reaches a decision. After an all-day session the commission adjourned until next Tuesday morning, at which time it will hear experts offered by the District Attorney. Chairman McClure served notice, however, that the witnesses will be compelled to confinct themselves to facts and opinions which deal with the present condition of Thaw and will not be allowed to go into details of the past or future.

Jerome's First Chance at Thaw. NEW YORK, March 30 .- The plans of Jerome's First Chance at Thaw.

Thaw was under direct examination by the commissioners for more than three hours today and then for forty-five min-utes he was under the fire of Mr. Jerome utes he was under the fire of Mr. Jerome on cross-examination. This cross-examination was allowed by the commission only after a vehement protest from the prosecuting officer that he had not been allowed sufficient latitude in the inquiry. Engoying his first opportunity of questioning the defendant. Mr. Jerome attempted to go into Thaw's past life, but objections to this line of examination by Thaw's counsel were sustained by the commission and held the District Attorney to the direct lesse before the lumacy board—whether Thaw is capable, is board—whether Thaw is capable is weakening the character of the proceed-sings against him and is rationally ad-vising his counsel.

Hamilton Put to Silence.

Thaw's direct and cross-examinations today were held behind closed doors and the commission took extraordinary precautions to have the hearing kept secret. The anorneys connected with the prosecution were cautioned not to discuss the case in any way. When Thaw's ordeal was ended, the doors were thrown open and it was announced that the executive sessions were at an end.

As soon as the session became public, Mr. Jerome called Dr. Hamilton to the stand. The commission had summoned

Mr. Jerome called Dr. Hamilton to the stand. The commission had summoned Dr. Hamilton. As the allenist took the stand, however. Thaw's counsel pleaded the professional privilege to bar any testimony to be offered by him. Dr. Hamilton himself asked to be insurated on this point. Mr. Jerome maintained that the defense, by introducing Dr. Hamilton as a witness in the trial, had waived the privilege. The commission held that, as the privilege had not been waived before it. Dr. Hamilton could not testify as to his personal examinations of Thaw.

Jerome Grows Angry.

Then protested that commission bar the lunary ring pertinent testimony, declared the commission had refused to "illuminate" its intelligence" from documentary evidence which he presented and had neglected to hear expert testimony. He asserted with some feeling that if he were allowed the proper latitude be could prove beyona a reasonable doubt that Thaw is insane today and incapable of advising counsel in a rational manner.

Mr. McClure told Mr. Jerome in the head of the new government is the favorite candidate. It is also reported in Port Limon, according to Commander Winterhalter's dispatch, that President Bonilla is completely surrounded. The dispatch does not state exactly where Senor Bonilla is, but it is believed that he is somewhere near Amapala on the south coast of Honduras.

Mr. McClure told Mr. Jerome that, if he could produce any experts who could give a competent opinion as to Thaw's present state of mind, the commission would hear them next Tuesday morning.

"That is all I desire," said the Dis-trict Attorney.

Thaw Stands Test Well.

When the public session began Mr. Jerome seemed irritable and was constantly thereafter involved in wordy clashes with members of the commission. His insistent manner of urging that he had a right to adduce additional testimony before the commission rendered its verdict was generally remade a favorable impression during his long examination. During the District Attorney's cross-examination, it was said. Thaw comported himself most creditably and answered Mr. Jerome's sharp, pointed questions with calmness anad deliberation.

Thaw appeared jubilant when the public was allowed to enter the court room. To a reporter who leaned over and congratulated him on the show-ing he had made. Thaw replied: "Thank you very much, but I thought that was to be kept a secret." Thaw's attorneys expressed themselves as entirely satisfied with the final stages of their client's severe examination. Altogether he was on the stand about six hours, counting Thursday's session of the commission. Mr. Jerome's cross-examination, one attorney declared, did not shake Thaw in the least. Mr. Jerome declined to discuss the hearings. He seemed much disappointed at the ruling which shut out Dr. Hamilton's testimony, the physician having aiready gone on record as saying that Thaw is a paranolac with but a slight chance of recovery.

Guards and Counsel Testify.

During the public session the com examined four prison guards mission examined tour prison guards—one of them Thaw's personal warden in the courtroom—and a visiting physician to the Tombs. All declared that Thaw had acted rationally ever since his incarceration. One said that Thaw had a haunted look in his eyes when he first came to the Tombs, but it be-gan to disappear last September. D. M. Delmas and Clifford Hartridge, Thaw's counsel, also took the stand. They declared Thaw had fully comprehended every phase of the trial and had made helpful suggestions from time to time. Mr. Jerome asked Mr. Hartridge if Thaw had not repeatedly expressed a desire to address the court. expressed a desire to address the court.

Mr. Hartridge said he could recall no such instance. Asked if his associate counsel had not informed him of Thaw's wishes along this line, Mr. Hartridge was elleneed by an objection from Mr. Gleason, which was sustained by the commission. Mr. Jerome then said he would undertake no further cross-examination of counsel. ther cross-examination of counsel, cian, had not been produced before the commission. Mr. Jerome said he had not seen the physician today.

"We last saw him in the District Attorney's office," interrupted Mr. Hartridge, "and we supposed he would surely be here."

A messenger was sent to summon the doctor, but he could not be found. "Why has he absented himself?" inquired Mr. McClure, looking from one counsel to another. No answer was forthcoming and the chairman directed that the doctor be subpensed for next Tuesday and at the same time remind Mr. Jerome that, as he had made the suggestion on the court record as to Thaw's present insanity, the burden of proving it rested with him. Mr. Jerome said that, when his seven experts are allowed to testify, he will submit to them a group of facts upon which they will give a scientific opinion that Them is now of unsound mind.

Tests of Thaw's Sanity.

Tests of Thaw's Sanity.

Thaw during the executive session was carried over nearly every detail of the trial, it is understood, and was asked regarding the testimony offered by various witnesses as to the effect he thought this testimony might have he thought this testimony might have on a jury and the general tenor of the court's rulings on the broader points of taw. On cross-examination Mr. Jerome sought to question Thaw regarding the letters he wrote to J. Dennison Lyon, of Pittsburg, since the tragedy on the Madison-Square Garden roof. Mr. Jerome said he based his contention as to Thaw's present insanity partly on those letters. The commission ruled that the letters could not be accepted as evidence. Mr. Jérnot be accepted as evidence. Mr. Jerome argued the point, but in vain.

That Mr. Jerome had been in frequent clashes with the commission even during the secret session was apparent from the tenseness of feeling which existed after the doors had been tor win open.

The jury will report before Justice Fitzgerald Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Prior to that time the presiding Judge will consult with the lunacy commissioners as to the amount of time they will require to complete their work, and will then dismiss the jury for as many days as are necessary. It was partly due to the fact that the jury is to report Monday and partly because Mr. Jerome and Thaw's lawyers wish to call the attention of the commission to certain points of haw that Tuesday was fixed for the resumption of the lunacy proceedings.

One of the entries in the prison record book which Mr. Jerome said was made by Brunjes, one of the keepers, and which he sought to have introduced in evidence, was as follows: The jury will report before Justice

In this event, said Mr. Langdon, it is likely that he and Special Prosecutor Hiram L. Johnson will appear against Ruef, while Mr. Heney engineers the investigation before the grand jury.

Mr. Langdon said that today's proceedings before that body had been "very satisfactory." He stated that additional indictments would be returned as a result of the telephone in-

Is certain if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine cures those eruptions, pimples and boils that appear at all seasons; cures scrofula sores, salt rheum or eczema; adapts itself equally well to, and also cures, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles; cures rheumatism and catarrh; cures nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling.

Sarsatabs-For those who prefer medicine in tabbarsatabs—for those who prefer medicine in tab-let form. Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in choco-lated tablets called Sarsatabs, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsatabs have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accu-racy of dose, convenience, economy,—no loss by evap-oration, breakage, or leakage. Druggists or promptly by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.
