Wholesale Grocers' Association to Be Probed by Federal Grand Jury.

SHERMAN LAW IS VIOLATED

Five Portland Houses Said to Have Combined to Maintain Prices. United States District Attorney Driscoll at Work.

Alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law by associations of prominent business men in Poriland will probably be inquired into by the Federal grand jury, which will be convened this week. While United States Attorney W. C. Bristol will give out no information as to the prospective work of the grand jury, the report has gained currency that the principal work of that body, other than to clean up the land-fraud business, will be to investigate business combines which are said to be operating in Portland in restraint of trade, amounting to a direct violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Among such combines whose operation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Among such combines whose operations are said to invite legal inquiry is the Portland Wholesale Grecers' Association. This organization consists of the five principal wholesale firms of this city, as follows: Allen & Lewis,
Lang & Co., Mason, Ehrman & Co.,
Wadhums & Co., and Wadhams & Kerr
Bres. It is charged that this association has violated the provisions of the Sherman law by organizing a combination has violated the provisions of the Sherman iaw by organizing a combination among themselves that controls the grocery business of the entire territory for which Portland is the natural distributing point. It is said to have maintained a minimum selling price on other than goods handled under manufacturers' contracts.

Manufacturers Excluded.

More effective work is reported to have been done by this so-called trust in excluding manufacturers in other cities and states from entering Port-land and introducing their goods to the trade.

The Portland Wholesale Grocers' As-"The Portland Wholesale Grocers' Association would be an interesting subject for the grand jury to investigate," and a Portland grocer last night, "that is, provided the jury would demand the books and correspondence of the combine. This was done in a similar investigation at Los Angeles, and equally startling disclosures would attend such an examination of the Portland concern. This association has for years been operating in a high-handed manner, and the retailer has been at its mercy. It is perfectly legitimate for a minimum selling price to be placed on mercy. It is perfectly legitimate for a minimum selling price to be placed on all goods that are handled under contract with the manufacturer, but the combine has been handling other goods in the same way. Canned goods, rice and sugar are some of the staple products which have been disposed of, always with regard for the minimum selling price which has been fixed and invariably maintained. Startled lest its methods might be investigated by the methods might be investigated by the grand jury which has been convened, this association recently removed its minimum selling price from a number of articles the sale of which is not regulated by contract with the manufac-

If the manufacturer refused to accept the terms the association declined to handle the goods, which had the effect of excluding the outsider from doing business in this city. It is customary for the manufacturer to introduce his goods through the resident wholesalers, as it is found impractical to deal direct with the retailers, which he would be required to do if he established trade relations independent of the wholesallations independent of the wholesal-

"I am not ready to say anything." said United States Attorney Bristol last night, when asked if the grand jury would make an investigation of the reported infractions of the anti-trust law by local business combines. "The preliminary work of investigation, which must be done before the grand turn convenes has not been completed. jury convenes, has not been completed and I cannot indicate what particular ine of examination that body will take up. If any charges are made, alleging unlawful combinations in restraint of trade, they will be inquired into and, if the accusations are found to be based on fact, the violators will be prosecuted.

FOR RIGHTS OF GRANGE

Mr. Parrott Says Farmers Are Tired Paying Taxes, Silently.

BUTTEVILLE, Or. April 20.—(To the Editor)—I notice a communication in last Saturday's Oregonian from a Salem man signed "A. B. C." taking the Grange to task for presuming to dictate to the people of Oregon what laws should be held up. etc.

Now, as I am a Granger and a taxpayer of Oregon, I would like to know who "A. B. C." is, that he should dictate to the Grange what it should do I would not be surprised if he was smoked out that he would prove to be one of the many that are interested in just such grafts as the excessive appropriation for the State University.

The Grange is composed almost exclusively of farmers, and the farmer is supposed to pay taxes and say nothing. It has been the pay taxes and say nothing. It has been the custom so long that when the farmer does excessive appropriations for universities or any other purpose, the Grange begs leave to differ with them. In regard to "A. B. C's" mud-slinging about the Grangers not being represented on the Board of Regents of the State University, I will pass by as "A. B. C." says the Grange as a worth; "A. H. C." says the Grange as a worthy and excellent order should not assume a dictatorial attitude in its treatment of public matters, etc. Oh. no, of course not. As long as the Granger will consent to pay taxes and say nothing he is all right. But it he has the presumption to ask for his just dues he is presumption to ask for his just dues he is presumption. The Granger should do in the future as in the past—allow every one who wishes tramp on him: he is a slave to all grafters and a good fellow.

Mother England Admits Colonies Have Grown Up.

CONFER EVERY FOUR YEARS

Colonial Conference to Be Made Permanent With Bureau in Colonial Office-Will Co-operate in Defense of the Empire.

LONDON. April 20.-At today's session of the Colonial Conference it was unaninously agreed to change the title to "Im perial Conference." The conferences will be held every four years to discuss the common interests of the empire. The Pre-miler of the United Kingdom will be ex-officio president and the Premiers of colonics and the Colonial Secretary will be ex-officio members. The various delegates will appoint their members, but except with the special permission of the conference not more than two representa-tives of each government shall partici-pate in the discussions. Each govern-ment will have but one vote.

New Bureau for Colonies.

This new department of the Colonial Office is created with a permanent sec-retarial staff, charged with obtaining in-formation for the use of the conference and dealing tentatively with such mat-ters of general imperial interest as arise between conferences. It was further de-cided that, when matters arise requiring the consultation of two or more governments and which can not conveniently be postponed, a subsidiary conference may be held between several representatives of the governments concerned. The Earl of Eigin, Secretary for the Colonies, referring to military defense, outlined the general principles of an imperial military organization and the Premiers concurred in his views. The Premiers then explained the defense organization of their respective colonies and the extent to which the general organization or their respective solomes and the extent to which the general organization could be put into practice. The draft of a resolution creating a general staff for the empire was tabled. It was resolved that the colonies be authorized to refer to the committee of imperial defense for advice on local questions.

Canada and Transvaal Object.

Apparently in response to a deman for greater publicity, the Colonial Office tonight issued a lengthy summary of the proceedings for the week. The only striking feature communicated was the objection of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premie of Canada, and General Botha, Premier of the Transvaal, to designating the con-ference "Imperial Council." General ference "Imperial Council." General Botha thought the adoption of the word council might be an infraction of the rights of the responsible governments and Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggested the title 'Imperial Conference," which

LONDON, April 26.-While officials minimize the importance of King Edward's tour of the Mediterranean, it cannot be denied that the visits to Cartagena and Gaeta were more than exchanges of courtesies between the monarchs of Great Britain, Spain and Italy. NAVIGATING THE

If Man Wishes to Succeed, Let Him Study the Honey Bee's Flight.

EUGENE. Or.. April 20.—(To the Editor.) In an article appearing in The Oregonian of April 16, J. J. Berg expresses the opinion that birds float in the atmosphere by reason of their feathers containing vacuums. From my observation this cannot be true, because feathers themselves even without the weight of the bird, will not float, but fall to the ground and always with quill end down. Feathers are made hollow for the same reason that wheat straw and your bleyels frame are made hollow, vin. The greatest strength with the least weight is thus attained Feathers are not necessary to flight, as bats clearly demonstrate. Birds are able to float in the almosphere by reason of the upward currents therein caused by the warmer and lighter air at the earth's surface rising and in favorable localities with sufficient force to sustain birds with no effort of their own save their outsiretched wings.

I do not know any more reason for imitating the bird in the flying machine than for following the pattern of the horse in constructing a wagon. There is no longer any mystery about the flight of birds and insects, it is only a question of power spelled to atmospheric resistance. Flow to Apply the power and get the buccessary re-instructive and likely to lead to success in human flight than is the study of the flight of birds.

Mr. Borg suggests if we could learn to float in the air we could soon learn to fly We have already done this in the baloon and airship, but floating is not flying. The thistledown floats to perfection will not fly. It takes power to flyto overcome atmospheric resistance in fro by developing atmospheric resistance in the rear. GEORGE MELVIN MILLER.
