Loggers Organize to Protect Their Industry.

ARE ELECTED OFFICERS

Plan Is Either to Curtail Output of Camps or to Make Minimum Price of Logs $11.00 a Thousand.

Protection of the yellow fir timber industry, either by curtailing the output or by maintaining a minimum price which this product shall be sold, is the object of the Columbia River Yellow Fir Loggers' Association, which effected permanent organization in Portland yesterday at a meeting at the Imperial Hotel. Officers were elected as follows: President, W. F. McGregor, of Astoria; vice-president, Albert Brix, Astoria; secretary, P. Sorenson, Portland: treasurer, F. C. Littie, Portland. These officers are also members of the executive committee of nine members, the other members being R. S. Farrell, A. W. Clark, J. S. O'Gorman and H. O. Alger, of Port-land, and H. C. Clair, of Marshland. land, and H. C. Clair, of Marshiand.

Owners or representatives of 18 of the principal logging camps on the Columbia River and its tributaries attended yesterday's meeting. This representation includes practically all of the large camps in that district, with the exception of those operated by sawmills. The minimum price at which logs skill be sold by marshers of the logs shall be sold by members of the association was fixed at $11 a thousand, slithough logsers at the meeting re-ported several sales at $12. A constitution and by-laws for governing the association were adopted. E. H. Brehm. of Scattle, manager of the Washington Logging & Brokerage Association, addressed the Oregon log-gers, detailing the operation of a simflar association across the Columbia River in Washington. He said through this organization the Washington deal-ers are able to control the output of fir timber and at the same time regu-lats its market price. Another meeting of the Columbia River Loggers' Association, from which the yellow fir organization resulted, will be held in Portland next Saturday. The old association was organized dur-ing the recent lumber-mill strike in this city, and by closing down all camps while the strike was in progress, was successful in preventing the accumulation of any great surplus of logs to the injury of the market. It differs from the more recently organized association in that it includes in its mem-bership dealers in all classes of logs, independent of the sawmills. Fully 90 per cent of the logging output on the Lower Columbia River and its tributaries is represented in the member-ship of the association.

CAN BAR MAN IN UNIFORM

Sailor Thrust From Dancing Pavilion Can Recover Only 25 Cents.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 20.—Chief Yeoman Fred J. Buenzie, who was barred from a dancehali in Newport because, as he says, he was wearing the uniform of the United States Navy, can recover at law only the price of his admission ticket, according to a decision handed down by William H. Sweetland, chief presiding officer of the Rhode Island Superior Court. The decision, which overrules the demurrer raised by the superior Court. The decision, which verrules the demurrer raised by the defendants, says the legal rights of a man wearing the United States uniform are not different from those of any other well-behaved person who possesses a ticket of admission to any piace of Judge Sweetland rules that Buenzle excluded because he was wearing a naval uniform, is in no different position, le-gally, from one who is excluded because he is not in evening dress or for any other reason, though it may have been but the whim of the defendant. In other words, the Judge said, the pro-

In other words, the Judge said, the proprietors of a place of amusement are not under any obligations to admit any person whom they may choose to exclude. Suit was brought against the Newport Amusement Association, proprietors of a dancing pavilion at Newport, from which Buenzie claimed he was excluded last September because he was wearing a naval uniform. The management tendered to him the 25 cents he had paid for life ticket, but Buenzie brought suit for damages. He was given financial support by naval officers stationed at Newport, and President Roosevelt sent a check to belp defray the expenses of prosecuting the case.

resect to bein defray the expenses of prosecuting the case.

The court holds also that the action is not properly one for damages for the wrongful exclusion of the plaintif, but is an action for breach of contract because of the fallure of the defendants to carry out the contract they made when they sold the ticket. This covers only the recovery of the admission price and the expense incurred in attempting to obtain admission to the pavillon.

On the breach-of-contract phase of the case the demurrers of the defendants are overruled and they are ordered to plead on or before April 30.
