NEGRO REPORT RAISED.—The police last night raided a room at 29 Planders street occupied by negroes and arrested Beatrice Lewis and three other colored women. The Lewis woman was charged with selling liquor without a license and the others with being inmates of a disorderly house. All were released on bail. Evidence in the form of bottled beer, was seized. It was in this house three days ago that a sailor was robbed of $50, the money being found by the police after a search of the whole establishment. It was under an old carpet. Beatrice Lewis is out on bond, charged with the theft. Chief Gritzmacher announced last night when the raid was made that he would never allow the house to reopen.

VIEWS OF OREGON SCENERY EXHIBITED.—One of the finest collections of Columbia River scenery, including several views of Mount Hood, is being temporarily exhibited at the Portland Commercial Club rooms. The collection was gathered by Gifford, a photographer of The Dalles, and will be used by the O. R. & N. Company for distribution among hotels throughout the East as a means of advertising Oregon. A better group would be hard to find and the collection, which is displayed in the room that was formerly occupied for a billiard parlor, is greatly admired by the members of the club and their visitors.

IT IS NOW CONSIDERED by all shrewd investors, and that is the reason why there is such a scramble for property in South Portland that the Oregon Electric Railway, the Portland and Salem interurban line now being built so fast and will be in operation between the two cities in September of this year, that real property on this line will advance more rapidly than in any other part of Portland. The Oregon Electric runs through Capitol Hill the choicest property in all of Portland—high, slightly all in grass plot, and the best lots can be bought for $200 per lot, 50x100 feet each. Capitol Hill, located as it is on the West Side, no bridges to cross in the city limits, at $200 per lot; title perfect. The Hiberman Savings Bank, of this city, executes all deeds and contracts of sale to these lots and will give terms. For any information send or prospectus of Capitol Hill, call on or write Chloessy & Smith, 401 McKay building, Portland.

ROSE CARNAVAL FOR JUNE.—Portland will have a rose carnival in June, when the blossoms will be most abundant. It will last from three to six days and the carnival will center about the Forestry building. At a meeting of the Park Board yesterday the use of the Forestry building at the Lewis and Clark Fair grounds was granted. E. C. Gillmer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is taking the initiative. Associated with him is the Rose Society.

SELLWOOD G. O. P. MEETS

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES TELL WHAT THEY WILL DO. Several Patriots Outline Their Municipal Platform and Declare Themselves on Various Issues.

The Sellwood Republican Club listened to words of wisdom from a number of candidates for various offices at a well-attended meeting last night. H. Hume was chairman of the evening. Louis Zimmerman, candidate for Mayor, outlined his platform in a brief talk, declaring that he was in favor of the erection of a new bridge at Madison street. He said he favored the improvement of city streets in preference to the building of boulevards and driveways around the city. He declared himself as opposed to gambling in all its devious forms, including slot-machines; he hoped to have the saloon business regulated in better manner than at present and wanted all saloon men held responsible for the peaceful operation of their places of business. He said he approved of Sunday closing of all places where liquor is sold.

Mr. Zimmerman said there should be a restricted district in the city for the proper control of the social evil. He reviewed his career in the City Council and made the usual declaration, common to all candidates, resting on a firm mental basis. We offer you a well-improved corner on this leading thoroughfare for $45,000. If in quest of "safe and sane" investments, we represent the business interests of the city and would give a business administration. Judge Cameron made a strong impression although he spoke very briefly about his record as public magistrate. He promised a clean administration in case he were elected.

O. P. Miller, candidate for auditor, discussed debt limit and economy, and favored a new Madison-street bridge, as well as another pipe line to Bull Run. A. L. Barbur, another auditorial candidate, he gave Monday night at Woodmen Hall at the Hellig Theater tonight. The subject is "The French Situation From a Layman's Standpoint." This lecture is an original treat which the professional portion of the community especially should not fail to hear. Owing to the capacity of the theater, children under 12 years of age will not be admitted. No admission will be charged.

WILLIAM DEVENTY, candidate for Councilman-at-Large, is from Montavilla, where he organized the first Board of Health. He fought incorporation and brought about annexation. He also worked for and secured free mail delivery, the purchase of a strip of land for the O. R. & N. depot, and assisted in the "clean-up" movement. Sometimes vigorously opposed, but never defeated, he always stands for the people's interest and usually succeeds.

TAKE THE SELLWOOD CAR today and tell the car conductor to let you off on Harold street, on the river bank, and right there you will see the sign "Atton Park," with an unobstructed view up and down the river. Streets are graded, sidewalks and city water (Bull Run) piped to every lot. Every lot cleared in lawn. You can buy them from $200 up now; 50x100 each. Title perfect; free abstract to every purchaser. Chloessy & Smith, 401 McKay building.
