Coming Fight Likely to Be Most Bitter in City's History-Municipal Association Indorses Head of Democratic Ticket.

Never in the political annuls of the city of Portland perhaps has there ever been made a more determined fight against any mayoralty candidate than he now being waged against the re-election of Mayor Lane by the supporters of Thomas C. Devlin. Not in many years have the Republican leaders been so thoroughly organized. To defeat Lane and take the mayoralty from the Democrats and give to the Republican party the reins of power is the aim that will receive the concentrated efforts of those in charge of the is the aim that will receive the concentrated efforts of those in charge of the Republican City Central Committee.

Organization is the all-absorbing ropic with Chairman W. M. Cake and his committeemen. First the word has been passed along the line to get out all non-registered voters tomorrow. Tuesday and Wednesday. Precinct committeemen have been busy night and day for a week rounding up the voters who falled to reg-later. Their names and addresses are in the hands of Chairman Cake and when the registration books are once open these forgetful and indifferent voters will be urged to pay a visit to County Clerk Fleld's office and enroll themselves. Where a voter is found too busy to take time to register, he will be hustled into an automobile and given a free ride to the county building and back to his place of Fire First Gun Tuesday.

The opening gun in the Republican campaign, which was to have been fired tomorrow night at Selling-Hirsch Hall, has been retired until Tuesday night. This meeting is counted on by the campaign committeemen to be a rousing affair. All the candidates will be on hand, and all will speak. Well known Republican spellbinders will have an inning. The slogan of this meeting will be "Work, and work hard, for the head of the ticket." In the conjugo of those who are engineerthe opinion of those who are engineering the campaign, the rest of the Republican taket is as good as elected. Careful watch will be kept on all the candidates, however, and should any of them show lack of strength, then aid will be sent him in his district. But it is a case of "Boom Deviln and the rest of the ticket will take care the rest of the fleket will take care of itself."

Early next week will find the Democrats, too, flooding the city with campaign oratory. It is the purpose of Chairman Montague to make an oratorical campaign for Lane. A number of big rallies will be held with Lane as the drawing card. Other Democratic orators will take the platform and tell the "whole people" what a good Mayor Lane has been for the City of Portland. The Democrats do not hope to have anything like the money or organization that the Republicans are favored with, yet Chairman Montague is confident that his organization, when once it is completed, will be effective in vote-getting. He says the reports he is receiving so far are most encouraging, and in spite of the activity of the Republican campaign committee, he declares that he sees no cause for alarm.

New life was infused into the Allied Master Bakers' Association of this city

Master Bakers' Association of this city at a meeting in Alisky Hall last night, which was addressed by A. W. J. Gibbs, of San Francisco, organizer and assistant secretary of the Pacific Coast Master Bakers' Association.

"The success of our organization," said Mr. Gibbs, "depends on our adhering strictly to our motto, 'Get together and stick together."

The viritor then detailed some of the good results attained by the California bakers through organization and assured the members of the craft in Portland that their trade could be protected only by co-operation. A number of new members were enrolled at the close of the meeting.

WAR VETERAN'S TROUBLE

George Westfall Encounters Difficulties in Securing Inheritance.

George Westfall, an aged veteran of the Civil War, reached Portland yes-temiay after a journey of many hard-ships to Buffale, N. Y., where he went to assist in the settlement of the es-tate of his dead brother, William West-fall, valued at $80,000. The attorneys for the estate spent several weeks try-ing to locate the surviving brother, and after securing his statements and signature to the papers in the case, announced that it would be several weeks more before the estate would be settled up.

settled up.

In the meantime Mr. Westfall became anxious and started for New York after being supplied by the lawyers with $50 for expenses. This money he claims was stolen from him in Buffalo and he was again obliged to secure financial aid. He reached Portland without funds and the Coun ty Board of Relief furnished him a ticket to his home in McMinnville. He says that the settlement of the estate has been blocked by a bequest of $30,000 to a church at Burnt Hills, N. Y., while it had been repeatedly asserted by his brother that he intended to only give them $10,000, and Westfall thinks some underhanded work has been going on.

He will aid the attorneys in having the $19,300 set aside for the church, and the balance of $20,000 added to the estate, which is to be divided among the family of the deceased and the

What the Law Provides.

"The law under which this appointmen comes provides that in counties of more than 160,000 inhabitants, the district attorney of the judicial district in which said county is located, 'shall appoint such deputy district attorney as shall be satisfactory to the judge of the juvenile court, and it shall be the duty of such special deputy district attorney to prosecute cases arising under this act, and to pro-pare the necessary papers for the same, and also by and with the consent of the district attorney, and under his control.

"You will find this goes a little further than it does in Judge Frazer's statement. But however that may be, it seems to me that as I have named good men, Judge Frazer ought to be willing to confirm either one or the other. While Bob Galloway is probably as good as either of these men whom I have men-tioned, it does seem to me that some law-yer could be found in the city who would be equally as well-fitted for the place as

Mr. Galloway.
"I would like to have consulted with Judge Frazer on this appointment, but I don't like to be insulted when I undertake Judge Frazer on this appointment, but I don't like to be insulted when I undertake to make an appointment, which I consider my privilege under the law. It is easy to settle this question. I would be perfectly willing to leave it to Judge Sears, Judge Gantenbein, Judge Cleland, or any lawyer in the city, as to who has the appointive power. If Judge Frazer has it, I will be perfectly willing to have him appoint Bob Gelloway, and make him my appointee, but if I have the appointing power, and the deputy appointed is under my control, then I propose to name him. Judge Frazer has known me long enough to know that if he had not insuited me he could talk this matter over with me, and probably accomplish a great deal more than he could by writing me a letter naming his man. I think in appoint Mr. McAllister I made the best selection that could be made."

Chief Gritzmacher Takes Decisive Step Toward Making Department Stronger.

"As far as Mr. McAllister is concerned personally. I have the highest regard for him. He is a good man in every sense of the word, but this is not the question here." The question to be met is, who is the best available man for the place? Mr. McAllister might do other things better; I certainly do not question his ability as a lawyer or otherwise, but for this position and this work, I believe Mr. Galloway better fitted. This is all there is, or should be, to the question. It is not a matter of the personality of Mr. McAllister, or Mr. Galloway It is not a question of personal difference between Mr. Manning and myself. It is a question of what is best to be done in the interests of the public, and particularly for carrying on Five sergeants were appointed yesterday by Chief of Police Gritzmacher, and 17 patrolmen were added to the force, the new recruits having recently passed the civil service examinations The recruits came before Mayor Lane and the members of the police committee of the executive board at the City Hall, and were addressed by the Mayor on their duties, after which they were ordered by the chief to secure unforms and prepare for the annual inspection May 25. The appointment of five patrol sergeants by Chief Gritzmacher was a distinct surprise, as it was not ex-pected that any such action would be taken for several months. It is nov understood, however, that the East Side station will be equipped soon and the department placed on a much better working basis.

As great as was the surprise at the appointment of the five sergeants, still greater was the flurry in police circles when it became known that among those named for sergeanticles was Patrolman Stephen Hogeboom, who was reduced to the ranks through the influence of Inspector Bruin 18 months ago.
