TAMPERING WITH POLICE

One Officer Loses Star—County Attorney Finds No Contempt in Orchard Interviews—Progress in Securing the Jurors.

BOISE, Idaho, May 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. W. D. Haywood did not appear in the court room this morning at the trial of her husband. She has been a pathetic figure in her chair during the trial and her face has reflected weariness. There has seemed something strained about it all, and a report now reaches Boise from Denver that she did not desire to undergo this ordeal. At first she declared she would not make the trip, but was later persuaded to make the effort. To those who know something of the life of the man on trial, this is not wondered at, and a statement credited to her in connection with her early refusal to come, to the effect that she had suffered enough, does not cause surprise. When she was asked about her husband the night of his arrest in Denver, she stated he had gone to a Russian bath, but he had then been captured in another place.

Better Progress With Jury. Today only two talesmen were excused for cause, while four passed the examination. That is a larger proportion of men passing than on any former day. M. H. Goodwin gave the lawyers a puzzle when he was summoned. He admitted a bias, but his explanations of his position were of such a character that the court overruled a challenge by the defense. At the next opportunity the defense excused him peremptorily in a manner that was rather suggestive.

Induce Soldiers to Desert. The commanding officer at the barracks is complaining that his men are being induced to desert. A dozen have disappeared in a week, two going last night. An investigation discloses that they are taken in hand when in town by persons who appear to be sympathizers with the defense, and the officers think they are furnished with money with which to make their escape. Complaint was made to the Chief of Police today and it is hoped the thing can be checked.

NO CONTEMPT WAS INTENDED

County Attorney Exonerates All Concerned in Orchard Interviews.

BOISE, Ida., May 18.—Prosecuting Attorney Koelsch has completed his investigation of the circumstances under which Harry Orchard, principal witness for the state in the Steunenberg murder case, was interviewed, and today presented the District Court with a report exonerating from the charge of improper motives all persons connected with the incident. He found that the only motive that the newspaper men had in interviewing Orchard was to obtain news of him. In announcing the report, Judge Wood said that it called for no action and directed that it be filed. The report is in part as follows: I of course investigated the matter with the view solely of determining whether there had been any infraction of our penal laws or contempt upon the court. I take it for granted that with the question of the propriety or taste of the publications under consideration I have nothing to do, at least not in an official way. In order to come within the purview of our statute defining and punishing improper attempts to influence a juror or person summoned as a juror, such attempt must have been made intentionally and corruptly and, if so done, it is a felony. A publication during the course of a trial, which reflects upon the court or assails the litigants or seeks to intimidate witnesses or spreads before the jury an opinion upon the merits of the controversy or threatens them with public odium or attempts to dictate their decision or in any improper way endeavors to influence their determination, is a contempt of court.

Simply Published as News. I am able to report that my investigation of the matter entirely disproves that any improper motive actuated any one connected with the publications under consideration. It was published purely as a matter of news, which the correspondents had been eager to get for a long time, but had been denied the opportunity of getting it. This opportunity was finally given to them, they seized it with avidity and with no thought other than that it would be a front page, scarehead matter. This was natural, Orchard, the chief actor in the tragedy that was perpetrated in the murder of Isaac Stephenson, New United States Senator from Wisconsin.

Ex-Governor Steunenberg, being denied to all newspapers for months. I had heard anything authoritative about him. He became mysterious. Speculation concerning him was indulged in. Stories of his physical and mental breakdown circulated and found their way into the press. Any wonder that newspaper correspondents should wish to see and interview him? Any wonder that newspaper publishers should overlook the impropriety of publishing such interviews at this time? The Associated Press men and others became so insistent to see him that their request was finally granted. I am able to state and do state that this privilege was granted them solely because of their repeated request—the slow yielding to the persistence.

No Improper Motives.

I want to emphasize that my investigation absolutely disproves any improper motives on the part of anyone who permitted these interviews. That the statements contained in the publications under consideration were not made at this particular time with any improper motive is further evidenced by the fact that various statements have been reported and for a long time prior thereto appeared in the public press. During the investigation my attention was directed to the fact that for a long time a certain paper had devoted itself almost exclusively to publishing matter tending to discredit persons likely to be called as witnesses in the pending case and, when I answered that two wrongs could never make one right—that the fact that others had not been punished for contempt was not a defense, I was assured by both the Statesman and by the Capital News and by each correspondent of outside papers circulating in Ada County whom I was able to interview that they would gladly obey and abide by such rules as your honor might lay down forbidding any publication that would in the slightest degree tend to obstruct the proceedings of this court or anything in the nature of an opinion as to the merits of the cause on trial.

I therefore recommend that your honor make any pronouncement as to these lines as stringent as the law will permit and promise to make every effort within my power and authority toward a rigid enforcement of same and to bring before the proper court every infraction of same, regardless of who the offender shall be.

Using of Challenges.

Progress toward the completion of a jury to try William D. Haywood is being made by expending the peremptory challenges allotted by law to state and defense, if by no other means. Up to adjournment this afternoon the state had consumed five of its 10 and the defense four of its 10 challenges, so that there remain unexpended 11 challenges. The special venire of 100

LEAVES SOLITUDE; FINDS NEW WORLD

Marvels Strike Recluse of Forty Years.

MONK'S FIRST SIGHT OF CHICAGO

Eyes Dazed by Progress, Ears Struck by Din.

BUT HE WILL TELL NOTHING

Father Andrew Sees Elevated Railroads, Modern Steamships, Sky-scrapers, Automobiles for First Time, Then Re-enters Cell.

CHICAGO, May 18.—(Special.)—Brother Andrew, a monk from the Trappist abbey, known as the New Melleray Monastery, in Iowa, today landed in Chicago and lived 40 years in a few hours. It was like stepping into another world. For the first time in 40 years the aged man stepped from the strict seclusion of the monastery walls into the bright glare of public activities. He was dazed and bewildered by the transformation, and longed again for the silence and seclusion of the abbey. He is here on a five days' leave of absence to attend the burial of his sister, Mrs. Catherine Sheehan.

When on Monday the doors of the abbey once more inclose Father Andrew in the mystery of silence which has been maintained for nearly a thousand years by members of his order throughout the world, he will have within his memory a whirlwind of images of a world entirely different from the one he renounced in his young manhood. But not one of those images will find utterance if the monk keeps his vows.

Sees Wonders, Hears Awful Din.

Among the things Brother Andrew has never seen until today are: Elevated railroads; modern steamships; big buildings, or which the Masonic Temple and the Great Northern Hotel are among the earliest examples; automobile trucks, carrying as great a load as can be drawn by six horses; the interior of sleeping cars, electric lights in each section; roller-lift bridges.

On the moment of Brother Andrew's arrival in the city his nerves, schooled to sympathy with the slightest sound, were assailed by a pandemonium of noises. Hideous screechings, the bangings of car trucks across switches and through it all the great roar of traffic rose about him and clamored louder and louder, and all the days and nights he has been in the city this thunder of a human surf has never ceased. It passes all other wonders to the man of solitude, and brings to him a longing for the noises of the abbey bell at New Melleray, ringing across fertile acres where even the insects seem still.

Expresses No Surprise.

But whether it be the din or the trains running in air which make the din, or whether the great buildings, shooting higher even than the chapel tower at New Melleray, no one but this simple-minded monk will ever know which most impressed him. Upon his mind, attuned by years of thought to sympathy with great things and deeds, the magnitude of the most astonishing city in the world has burst without eliciting a feeling of surprise or any comment at all. Words with him are reserved for those crises in human emotion where their use may preserve life itself.

announced in the chapel. Thereafter 50 monks used of their scanty store of words the prayers for the dead.

MEN SELL FOR $100 EACH

Statement of Alleged Woman Kidnaper in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 18.—Mexican men are worth $100 each when sold like chattels, according to the declaration made to the police by Mrs. Dolores Gonzalez, who was arrested today with several other alleged kidnappers.

The accused claim that contracts were signed by those sold in peonage and thus no crime was committed.

Franco-Japanese Treaty Ready.

PARIS, May 18.—The Franco-Japanese treaty has been completed. The text was cabled to Tokio May 16, for the approval of the Japanese government, and a reply is momentarily expected. Foreign Minister Pinchon and M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister to France, will then sign for their respective governments.

BABY PRINCE IS MADE CHRISTIAN

Stately Ceremony at Spanish Baptism.

CAREFUL WATCH OVER INFANT

Spain Guards Against Receiving Changeling.

PROCESSION OF GRANDEES

Representatives of Pope and Great Sovereigns Attend Service in the Chapel—Prince Is Called Alfonso and Nine Other Names.

MADRID, May 18.—Alfonso, Prince of the Asturias, was baptized at noon today in the private chapel of the royal palace in the presence of the royal family, the state and court officials, the representatives of the foreign powers and a host of grandees. The Pope was represented by Cardinal Rinaldi; King Edward by Prince Arthur of Connaught; Emperor William by Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern; Emperor Francis Joseph by Archduke Eugene of Austria, and King Charles of Portugal by the Duke of Oporto. The people began gathering before noon and at that hour the reception halls were filled, while outside were large and enthusiastic crowds.

Watch Against Changeling.

The greatest watchfulness had been observed over the young Prince since the hour of his birth. Special guards have been stationed outside the bed chamber, for Spanish custom does not permit any possibility of a changeling being foisted on the nation. The task of the watchers was not over till this morning, when the infant became the central figure of the brilliant scene. In the chapel, seats were allotted according to precedence to the personages invited. In the center was a hassock, on which had been arranged the famous baptismal font of Santo Domingo de Gusman, brought from the monastery of Santo Domingo. Before the high altar were two benches covered with gold-embroidered tapestries for the sponsors, while another was placed behind the lectern for the officiating cardinal. In the Queen's antechamber were exposed on seven golden salvers the ewers of holy water and other appurtenances of the sacred rite.

In this ante-chamber, when the guests had assembled, the King, accompanied by the members of the royal family, the representative of the Pope, the sponsors and the royal child, entered the apartment. Then, with slow steps, the brilliantly arrayed company began its march along the galleries.

Stately Procession to Chapel.

The way to the chapel was led by two mace-bearers, followed by gentlemen of the chamber and chamberlains. After them came two more mace-bearers, two kings-at-arms, the grandees of Spain, two more kings-at-arms and seven more gentlemen of the chamber, bearing the golden salvers with the holy water and other necessities for the rite. Immediately afterward followed the royal babe, in its nurse's arms, accompanied by the mistress of the robes and escorted on the right by Cardinal Rinaldi and the other godfather, His Royal Highness Don Carlos de Bourbon, and on the left by the godmother, Queen Maria Christina, and His Majesty, Alfonso XIII. Then came the Lord High Chamberlain and the other Lords Chamberlain, various functionaries, the members of the royal family and the Queen's ladies in waiting. Next came the representatives of foreign powers, most of the Ambassadors and Ministers to the court of Spain, including the American Minister, Mr. Collier, with their wives, accompanied by the introducer of the Ambassadors, and followed by the Cabinet, all with their wives.

Great Functionaries of Spain.

The great functionaries came next, the principal personages noted being the Marquis del Campo, president of the Supreme Court of Judicature; Don Marcelino Catalina y Cobo, president of the Commercial Tribunal; Lieutenant-General Don Ponsilev, president of the Supreme Council of the Army and Navy; the Queen's physicians; the Mayor of Madrid, with the deputation of Municipal Councilors; two canons of the Madrid diocese and the palace attendants, the rear being brought up by the musicians of the halberdiers and a detachment of the same corps.

At the entrance of the royal chapel the King was greeted by the superior clergy and the choristers, who preceded the cortege up the aisle. When all had reached their allotted places, the halberdiers faced the walls of the edifice, the mace-bearers took up their positions at the doors and the four kings-at-arms stood one at each angle of the hassock, on which the font had been placed in position.

Child Given Ten Names.

The ceremony of giving the names to the royal child was only of short duration.

Mrs. Howard Gould, Who Sues for Divorce.

He was christened Alfonso Pio Cristiano Eduardo Francisco Guellermo Carlos Enrique Fernando Antonio. Immediately after the rite had been performed the nurse took her seat, with the baby, surrounded by the mistresses of the robes and the sponsors, and Cardinal Sancho officiated at a "Te Deum" of rejoicing, in which the brilliant orchestra of the royal chapel assisted.

The usual prayers over, the procession formed in the same order in which it had entered, passing again into the reception halls, where King Alfonso, surrounded by the members of the royal family and foreign princes, shook hands with most of those present. The newly named child was in the meanwhile taken back to the apartments of Queen Victoria.

HOWARD GOULD SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife Anticipates Him in Making Move.

SAYS HE HAS ABANDONED HER

Legal Battle Will Be Over Alimony Question.

GOULD RESISTS DEMANDS

Allows $5000 a Month, but She Wants Amount Doubled—Buffalo Bill Says Gould Sought Evidence Against His Wife.

NEW YORK, May 18.—(Special.)—Differences of long standing between Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould culminated today in the service of a summons and complaint in suit begun by Mrs. Gould in the Supreme Court for a limited divorce. Clarence J. Shearn is Mrs. Gould's attorney. De Lancey Nicoll, as Mr. Gould's representative, accepted service of the papers. Mrs. Gould seeks a decree of separation on the ground of abandonment, and does not make any sensational allegations in her complaint.

Will Be Fight for Alimony.

It is probable that the main legal contest will be on the question of alimony. Since Mr. Gould has lived apart from his wife he has given her $5000 a month for her maintenance. She asserts that this sum is inadequate, and that her husband's income is sufficient to justify him in paying her twice as much. It is said that members of the Gould family held a council to discuss the question whether Howard Gould should pay her $10,000 or even $20,000 a year and that their decision was that her demands were excessive. In the litigation the first move will probably be a motion for alimony and counsel fees and, unless some agreement is reached in the meantime, this application will be sent to a referee, who will determine how much should be paid pending the final adjudication of the case.

Buffalo Bill Turns on Gould.

Selden Bacon, counsel for Colonel William F. Cody, has returned to New York from New Haven to lay before Police Commissioner Bingham the facts concerning the effort of detectives to induce Colonel Cody to give testimony derogatory to Mrs. Gould. The detectives told Colonel Cody, so the latter says, that he would be paid from $10,000 to $25,000, if he would tell of events in Mrs. Gould's life. The implication was that the story Colonel Cody would be required to tell would reflect discredit upon Mrs. Gould.

HAS LOST CONTROL OF ZION

VOLIVA DEPOSED AS SUCCESSOR OF DOWIE.

Federal Court Recognizes John A. Lewis as Leader and Voliva's Following Leaves Him.

CHICAGO, May 18.—(Special.)—Zion City was in a turmoil today when it became known that Judge T. M. Landis, in the United States Circuit Court, had recognized Deacon John A. Lewis as the legitimate successor of John Alexander Dowie, the dead founder of the North Shore city, and has thus practically ousted Wilbur Glen Voliva from leadership. Coupled with this sensational development, it became known that, in stinging letters, three of Voliva's supporters have denounced him as a demagogue and a traitor. It is rumored in Zion City that if Voliva attempted to lead an exodus he could not secure a following of more than a dozen persons.
