Funds Not Accounted for—Far-
low Hypnotizes Streeter While Addressing the Court.

CONCORD, N. H., May 25.—(Special.)—Allegations of violently uncontrollable behavior on the part of Mrs. Eddy, culminating in "a paroxysm of insane rage and fury," started the Christian Science believers who crowded the court at yesterday's hearing of the application by the leader's relatives for an accounting of her property. To many among the spectators the statements of the plaintiff's lawyers carried conviction.

There has evidently been a revulsion of feeling among Mrs. Eddy's friends and neighbors in Concord since the bill in equity was first filed. The action of Mrs. Eddy's daily drives through the streets, her face screened from the gaze of the curious by a sunshade inside the closed carriage, is still kept up, but men and women who for years never thought of doubting now smile a little sadly as the carriage passes. Concord folk are anxious for a trial which will bring out the entire truth.

Believe Impersonation Story.

Not in a spirit of antagonism, but with the keenest interest and open minds, the majority of the Christian Scientists of this town listened to declarations of counsel yesterday. The story that a younger woman in the Pleasant View household had been used for years to impersonate Mrs. Eddy, at first ridiculed by the most devoted adherents of the Christian Science founder, is generally believed in Concord now, even by those who were most skeptical at first. The discovery of the hearing, telling of eternal strife in the Pleasant View elms, raging around the head of an aged woman, for years a nervous wreck, has shaken the confidence in the denials of the press bureau, so lavishly circulated at each fresh exposure.

Farlow Hypnotizes Streeter.

The actions of Frederick Farlow in court yesterday made an interesting study. He sat with the stenographers between the judge and the jury-box, where he could face counsel. As General Streeter hesitated and showed embarrassment under the hearing, telling of questions, Mr. Farlow fastened his eyes on those of his senior counsel and gazed at him fixedly. Women who are familiar with the methods of the cult whispered excitedly to one another and called attention to the chairman of the publication committee. Mr. Farlow never took his eyes from General Streeter. Those professing to know said Mr. Farlow was bringing all his powers of mental concentration to bear on the lawyer's mind, so as to impress his will on the embarrassed counsel and to force him into compromise. It was a curious courtroom incident, which was much commented upon.

Did Not Account for $100,000.

Not the least interesting thing about the day's hearing was the light thrown upon the alleged audit of Mrs. Eddy's accounts for 14 years back, presented in the form of an affidavit by Mr. Chase, of Boston. The accountant swore he had examined all the books, all statements of receipts and expenditures and had listed all bonds and securities, and as a conclusion found that Calvin A. Fry had accounted for every cent that he ever handled. Notwithstanding this, General Streeter was badgered into the admission in court yesterday that just previous to March 6, when the trial deed was executed and $371,000 turned over to the trustees, in excess of $100,000 was taken from Mrs. Eddy's funds and placed in General Streeter's safe. This was a trust fund, which Mrs. Eddy had hurriedly created for her son, George W. Glover. In all Mr. Chase's long affidavits and alleged "audit" there is no mention of this item. His "audit" in effect was an inventory, pure and simple.

Mrs. Eddy's Insane Fury.

What happened when Mr. Chase interviewed Mrs. Eddy in Pleasant View was partially revealed by Mr. Howe, attorney for the relatives, in his address to the court on law points. Mrs. Eddy, he says, flew into a paroxysm of rage and insane fury. She beat her chest and her head, shook with violent, nervous twitches. She acted like a crazy woman for ten minutes. Mr. Chase's cross-examination will reveal this and much interesting matter concerning the books and the fortune of the plaintiffs, lawyers believe.

UNVEIL GORDON'S STATUE

Daughters of Famous General Participate in the Ceremonies.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 25.—The equestrian statue of General John B. Gordon was unveiled here today with appropriate ceremonies. The unveiling was witnessed by thousands of persons. The dedicatory oration was delivered by General Clement A. Evans. Mrs. Francis Gordon Smith, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Caroline Lewis Gordon Brown, of Vermont, daughters of General Gordon, performed the unveiling. The statue was formally delivered to the state by Captain Nathaniel Harris and was accepted by Governor Terrell. The statue, which is cast in copper bronze, stands on a broad pedestal of Georgia granite at the northwest corner of the State Capitol grounds. Rising 25 feet from the base of the pedestal to the top of the head, it occupies a commanding position overlooking the business part of the city some distance away. The figure of Gordon is represented seated on his favorite mare, his head bared, the left hand holding the reins over the horse's neck, while the right hand hangs at his side. The pedestal raises the figure of the horse and rider about 10 feet above the granite coping which surrounds it. The words "Gordon" and "1862-1865" are cut upon the front of the pedestal, while on either side will appear a bronze bas-relief, one representing Gordon at the battle of Spotsylvania when before his division he insisted on General Lee going to the rear; the other bears figures typical of the three phases of Gordon's life, typifying the soldier, the statesman and the patriot.

The statue is the work of Sculptor Solon H. Borglum, of Norwalk, Conn. Ten thousand dollars of the cost of the monument was raised by private subscription, the remaining $15,000 being an appropriation by the Georgia Legislature.

TAKES UP JAPAN'S PLAINT

ROOT LEARNS WORK OF MOB IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Restaurant and Bathhouse Wrecked.
Federal Inquiry Ordered—Appeal Made to Gillett.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Information that Japanese have been subjected to treatment and indignities in San Francisco came to the State Department today from two sources, and Secretary Root has taken measures for the protection of the Japanese through two channels. Ambassador Wright at Tokio cabled that a Japanese restaurant and a Japanese bathhouse in San Francisco had been demolished by a mob, and Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador here, laid before Mr. Root dispatches from the Japanese Consul-General at San Francisco detailing the same occurrences.

Sets Authorities at Work.

Mr. Root at once made request on Attorney-General Bonaparte that the United States District Attorney in San Francisco be directed to make an immediate investigation. Mr. Bonaparte thereupon telegraphed both the United States District Attorney and the United States Marshal at San Francisco to forward reports by the fastest means possible. Besides setting to work the machinery of the Federal Government, Mr. Root telegraphed the information to Governor Gillett of California. In this telegram he called upon California to perform the duty imposed upon her by the treaty between the United States and Japan, which stipulates that Japanese shall have the right to reside in the United States and shall have full protection for their persons, property and business. No reply has been received from Mr. Gillett.

Federal Authority Weak.

The double move affording protection to Japanese was taken by Mr. Root because of what is regarded as doubtful authority vested in the Federal Government to prosecute violations of the criminal law. The Secretary does not go so far as to say that the Federal Government is without authority in the respect, in the absence of procedure by a state, but he admits that Federal jurisdiction may be weak. As to the merits of the case, Mr. Root is inclined to ascribe the occurrences, both reports of which have come through Japanese channels, to the disturbed labor conditions existing in San Francisco.

NEW ATTACK ON JAPANESE

Outbreak at San Francisco Causes Indignation in Japan.

TOKIO, May 24.—A report from the Consul for Japan in San Francisco confirms the news of attacks made recently upon Japanese restaurant keepers in that city. The public here is indignant, but the press refrains from hostile comment, trusting the Washington Government to prevent the repetition of similar occurrences.

The disturbance referred to occurred in a restaurant conducted by Japanese on Polson street and was followed by an attack upon a Japanese bathhouse on the opposite side of the street. The trouble arose from the expulsion of two white men from a Japanese restaurant on Eighth street. They were followed by a mob when they went around to the place on Polson street, wrecking both places, the men themselves escaping through a rear entrance. The police say the reason that there was no interference was because all of the patrolmen on the street had been withdrawn for duty in other sections of the city where disturbances prevailed owing to the strike of the carmen.

News to California Officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Adjutant-General Lauck, in charge of the state military headquarters being maintained in San Francisco by Governor Gillett incident to the various labor strikes now in progress, was shown the complaint from the Japanese authorities at Washington. General Lauck said: "This is absolutely the first intimation I have heard of any violence shown to Japanese in San Francisco. I shall have the officers of the staff investigate thoroughly and lay their reports before the Governor."

WIN HONORS AT WHIST

Portland Takes City Championship at Tacoma Tourney.

TACOMA, Wash., May 25.—(Special.)—With Portland taking the city championship this afternoon and Seattle the pair championship tonight, the honors of the whist tournament went to the visitors. The pair championship was the most interesting event of the tourney and was taken by Preston and Thorngren with a score of 153, which was 10 above the average.

The second pair in this contest was Hutton and Clark of Portland, with a score of 138 and Slocum and Holmes, of Portland, with an equal score. Portland also took the des Chapples trophy with team No. 1, with a gain of 25 points.

FAMOUS TRIAL RECALLED

Charged Benefactor With Alienating
Wife's Affections—Jury Disagreed
After Being Locked Up for a Whole Week.

PARIS, May 25.—Theodore Tilton died in this city this afternoon. He had been unconscious for hours before he passed away. Mr. Tilton's last illness was very brief. Wednesday he took his customary walk and, when he returned, he mounted the five flights of stairs to the apartment of Miss Fuller, where he resided. He then complained of fatigue and went to bed. A physician diagnosed his illness as pneumonia. No definite arrangements regarding the funeral have yet been made except that the service will be held Monday in the American Church. Mr. Tilton's death from pneumonia will decide whether his body will be sent to the United States.

HIS SUIT AGAINST BEECHER

Charged Famous Preacher With Alienating His Wife's Affections.

Theodore Tilton, who was born in New York in 1835, was known to the world at large only as the man who sued Rev. Henry Ward Beecher in 1874 for $100,000 damages for alienating the affections of Mrs. Tilton. Tilton was Beecher's associate and afterwards his successor as editor of the Independent. While a committee of Plymouth congregation, Brooklyn, of which Beecher, then 61 years old, was pastor, was investigating the charges, the damages suit was entered. The church committee declared the charges baseless.

The suit was tried in the City Court of Brooklyn before Judge Nelson and lasted 112 days. It resulted in a disagreement after the jury had been locked up for more than a week, the vote being three for the plaintiff and nine for the defendant.

The trial was one of the famous trials of American history and some of the greatest lawyers were employed upon it. Tilton was assisted by General B. F. Butler, while Beecher was defended by General B. F. Tracy, William M. Evarts and Mr. Shearman. The sympathy of the audience was with Beecher.

According to a review of the trial made by the Nation, neither party came out unscathed. That paper said it was very like a defeat for Beecher, adding: "What he either failed to remember or failed to explain on his cross-examination was why the more his answers perhaps suggested nothing positive against him."

But the Nation was severe in its discussion of Tilton's conduct, saying: "In these great straits, being desperate and apparently shameless—the idea of turning his wife's relations with Beecher to worldly account seems to have taken possession of Tilton, and for four years he treated it as a vein to be worked up the more assiduously the more his fortunes were falling. His go-between was Francis Moulton, an old schoolmate of Tilton's. In Beecher these two men found an easy prey. They kept Beecher on the rack for four years. Tilton standing in the background as an injured and threatening husband, Moulton running to and fro as a mediator and pacifier, extracting confessions and letters of contrition from Beecher by the handful, making him believe that his communications were strictly confidential, and then showing them or repeating their contents to half the town."

Tilton got his wife to sign a paper accusing Beecher of having made improper proposals to her. Tilton and Moulton got $7000 from Beecher and, then by way of tightening the screw, made the charge of adultery. His temptation to actual adultery, and finding the orange squeezed dry, produced the budget of filth to the public. Beecher had four times taken to a smart young reporter, took him under his patronage, pushed him into a position on the Independent, which, small as it was, was usually prevalent during the past winter, and in many cases is likely to be followed by an attack of pulmonary rheumatism. This is the most common variety of that disease and least dangerous. There is no swelling of the joints and the pain is not so excruciating as in acute or inflammatory rheumatism. It is sufficiently severe to disable a man, however, and every movement increases the pain. Keep as quiet as possible and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely with a thorough massage, and you are certain to get quick relief.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

Christian Endeavorers of this city are to hold a mass meeting and rally at 4:15 to-night at the First Presbyterian Church. The address of the evening will be by Rev. B. H. Langenfelder, of Seattle, who will speak on "Christian Endeavor Conventions. Special music will be prepared, and a mixed chorus of 20 voices will help in the preliminary song service. Herman Clausen will be among the soloists of the evening. It is expected that every Christian Endeavor society of the city will be represented.

New Look Out for Rheumatism.

The grip has been unusually prevalent during the past winter, and in many cases is likely to be followed by an attack of pulmonary rheumatism. This is the most common variety of that disease and least dangerous. There is no swelling of the joints and the pain is not so excruciating as in acute or inflammatory rheumatism. It is sufficiently severe to disable a man, however, and every movement increases the pain. Keep as quiet as possible and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely with a thorough massage, and you are certain to get quick relief.

Recover Stolen Land

Government Sues Coal Company for $1,000,000 Worth.

DENVER, May 25.—Charged with conspiring to defraud the Government out of 9000 acres, worth over $1,000,000, located in Routt County, near the town of Lay, the Wisconsin Coal Mining Company, its officers, agents and others, are made defendants in an equity suit filed in the Federal Court today for the recovery of the land, which, it is alleged, they secured through the means of dummy entrymen and entrywomen who conveyed the lands to the corporation as soon as they had secured patents.

Criminal action is prevented owing to the fact that the statute of limitations has run against the entries.

Body Found in Brush.

The body of a middle-aged man was found in a secluded spot a short distance from the Barnes Road, near the Washington street entrance to the City Park, at noon yesterday. All efforts of the police and coroner to identify the remains were futile. The body is that of a man about 5 feet 9 inches in height, weighing about 150 pounds, dark hair, small sandy mustache and attired in a cheap, dark suit. Beside it lay a revolver, with one empty chamber, and it is believed to be a case of self-destruction. The bullet pierced the head, just above the right ear, evidently causing instant death. The body will be held for identification.

Argue for New Trial

Preston and Smith Under Conviction for Killing Silva.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., May 25.—Judge Langan's court today was occupied in hearing the arguments for and against a motion for a new trial in the case of Preston and Smith, convicted of the murder of Tony Silva, the restaurant keeper, during the late labor trouble. Affidavits for the prisoners were presented to show that a deputy sheriff had tried to influence one of the jurors. Counter affidavits were filed. Judge Langan will announce his decision Monday morning.

Affidavits were also filed today in the case of the state against St. John and half dozen others asking for a change of venue. St. John and co-defendants are charged with conspiracy in the killing of Silva. The affidavits assert that their arrest was the result of a conspiracy hatched up by the mine-owners, that Judge Langan was present at a secret meeting when the conviction of St. John was discussed, and the arrest and the trial of the prisoners were urged and agreed upon, hence he was not qualified to try the case impartially.

Senator George Nixon, Judge Malone and ex-Governor Charles S. Thomas are made prominent in the affidavits. The matter will come up for consideration next Tuesday morning.
