The exhibits of strawberries did not for 36 hours, but were very favorably ommented upon by hundreds of people, sany of whom came from Portland. Vholesaters from the metropolis were here, and W. B. Glafke, of the W. B. Glafke Company; T. Pearson, of the Pearson-Page Company, and Frank H. Poge, Jr., of Page & Son, judged the exhibit, and made brief talks. Mr. Page complimented the Clackamas County growers on the splendid quality of the berries shown and gave excellent advice relative to cultivation.

Organize, Urges Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Glafke said that the growers Mr. Glarke said that the growers should find the berry best adapted to the soil and location, and then specialize on that particular berry in order that cars containing one variety could be made up. He praised the quality and condition of the berries of the county and said there was no reason why Clackamas County should not compete successfully with Hood River later on.

Mr. Pearson urged the growers to or-constully with Hood River later on.

Mr. Pearson urged the growers to organize at once. He alluded to the Clark Seedlings in the exhibit, and said he considered them as fine as the same variety from Hood River, which specializes on the Clarks. He emphasized the importance of careful packing, and said that berries, when crated, should be arranged so as to present an excellent appearance. Mr. Pearson illustrated his Evidence All In and Both Sides Rest in Land-Fraud Cases.

UP TO JURY WEDNESDAY

Prosecution Intimates That Indictments for Perjury Will Be Brought Against Some of the Witnesses.

MOSCOW, Idaho, June 8.—(Special.)
—The last bit of evidence in the North Idaho land conspiracy case was given to the jury this afternoon, and both sides rested their cases. The arguments will begin Monday morning. It is expected that they will last two days, which means that Judge Dietrich's instructions will probably not be delivered before Wednesday.

Today's proceedings were void of anything resembling the sensational. The defense concluded at noon with the exception of one witnesse, and the afternoon was devoted by the prosecution to character-witnesses, impeaching witnesses, and the reading of the conviction records and indictments upon which W. Dwyer and Clarence William Robnet, timber cruiser and bookkeeper, respectively, for the Lewiston National Bank, were last Fall convicted of subornation of perjury. It is intimated that indictments for perjury growing out of some of the testimony given during the progress of this trial are likely to follow either at the hands of this grand jury or the one which sets in Bolse this Summer.

RIVALRY IN PRIZE STOCK

BENTON COUNTY FARMERS GO IN TO WIN REWARDS.

Lively Interest Stimulated by Cor vallis Fair-Exhibitors Surprised at Showing.

CORVALLIS, Or., June 8 .- (Special.) -- A record-breaking crowd and a magnificent display of fancy livestock were the features of the second and closing day of the Benton County Livestock Show. So great has been the success and the recognition of the beneficial effects that a show for next year and every year thereafter is as good as determined upon being in the minds of all stockmen. The ompetition for prizes developed into a strenuouslty that astonished the general committee, and as a result of it of exhibitors who were beaten for first places are leaving for home tonight, de-claring to their friends that they are going to commence now to prepare for next year's show, and with a determina-tion to win first places.

It is a common remark on the street that the stock on display averages up with that exhibited at the state fair. The with that exhibited at the state fair. The standard is so high that the show has been a revelation, not only to visitors from abroad, but to all people residing in the county. A feature is that the exhibits come from so many farms, showing that attention to the best grades of thoroughbreds is widespread and not confined to a few notable farms. The entries so far exceeded the expectations of tries so far exceeded the expectations of the committee that additional sliver cups have to be ordered to satisfy the claims of prizewinners.

A writer on an Oregon farm paper who is here, and who visits all livestock shows for his publication, declares the exhibits of horses, cattle and sheep have been splendid, and that the horses and beef cattle equal the best standards anywhere The crowd in attendance today stimated at 6000.

ROAD POLL TAX IS UPHELD

Judge Galloway Decides Against Man Who Contests Payment.

SALEM, Or., June 8.—(Special.)—udge William Galloway rendered a decision today in the case of the City of Salem against N. Moffit, in which he upholds the road poll tax law. There has always been doubt as to the validity of such a law, for the reason that it is a personal tax and not a property tax, and men over 45 and volunteer firmen are exempted. The Countitution provides that taxation shall be equal, and it is contended by many that this law violates that provision. In rendering his decision, Judge Galloway did not discuss the questions of In rendering his decision, Judge Galloway did not discuss the questions of law involved. It is altogether probable that the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court, as that was the intention when the case was begun. The outcome will be of wide importance, for road poll taxes have been collected for many years in every part of the state.
