SHIP SUBSIDIES SPELL FAILURE

Stimulus to Steamer Lines Is Condemned by German Shipping Magnate.

SHOULD LET NATURE RULE

Hamburg-American Line President Says Britain Succeeded by This Policy and Wastes Money on Cunard Subsidy.

BERLIN, June 15.—(Special.)—To the people in America who believe in government subsidy of steamship lines, the words of Herr Ballin, president of the Hamburg-America Steamship Company, to a representative of the Frankfurter Zeitung, will come as a surprise. Speaking of the alleged superiority of the British mercantile marine over the German, Herr Ballin said: "The British ships consist for the most part of second-rate tramps, constructed of the cheapest material and steaming only at the slowest speed." Referring to the subvention of the Cunard line, Herr Ballin stated: "In my opinion, every highly developed country should be content with those lines of steamships for which there is a natural demand. The British nation acted on this principle for many years and achieved her greatest success. It is only a few years since England abandoned her old-established methods, partly owing to fear of a gigantic shipping trust created by Americans and partly owing to resentment at the progress made by the German mercantile marine in the Transatlantic shipping trade.

"The British government would probably reject any proposal to sacrifice several millions sterling per annum to establish an express train service of unprecedented speed between London and Edinburgh. Nevertheless, Great Britain considers it advisable to sacrifice many millions yearly in support of two ships in the service between Liverpool and New York, whose speed enables them to compete with the Norddeutsche Lloyd and the Hamburg-America by one knot per hour. That appears to be foolish, and even not devoid of danger, because the relative planned and unventured companies of all nations have never been able to earn profits."

ROYAL LADIES' FANCY WORK

Costly Gergaws on Exhibition in Berlin for Charity.

BERLIN, June 15.—(Special.)—A most interesting exhibition is now going on in Berlin, gotten up entirely by ladies of royal blood and Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha is especially interesting in that it is a collection of work done in their own hands. In other patronesses are the Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia and the hereditary Princess Hohenlohe-Langenburg. Princess Beatrice, and taking charge of the exhibition.

Some beautiful hand work by Princess Beatrice and her sisters, including the Crown Princess of Roumania, is on view, but not for sale. It consists of hand embroideries of all kinds, lovely cushions and screens.

MAY DEMOLISH OLD PALACE

Crosby Hall, London, Doomed by Genius of Improvement.

LONDON, June 15.—(Special.)—American tourists may miss after this season one of the most interesting relics of Old London—Crosby Hall, Whitechapel, since the palace of Richard III (whose Duke of Gloucester), afterwards the residence of the Lord Mayors and of Sir Thomas More.

COMPROMISE WITH RITUALISTS

Archbishop Proposes Revival of Edward VI's First Prayer Book.

LONDON, June 15.—(Special.)—The struggle between the "High" and "Low" parties in the Church of England, which is mainly a matter of ritual, candles, incense, vestments, etc., may be settled by a remarkable scheme of compromise to be laid by the Archbishop of Canterbury before his convocation (the parliament of the ecclesiastical province of Canterbury).

It is believed that the Archbishop will propose to reintroduce the use of the First Prayer Book of Edward VI, which was in use about 1550. This liturgy, framed before the reformation had entirely wiped out all the "papist" observances of the church, recognises the use of candles, vestments and the word mass, thus establishing the legality of these bones of contention.

The use of the older liturgy will be granted under certain conditions to the ritualist churches, whose irregularities will thus be legalized. The question of incense will remain a stumbling block. The Archbishop may also make the use of the Athanasian creed optional.

MINSTREL SHOW MAKES HIT

American Artists in Paris Give a Unique Entertainment.

PARIS, June 15.—(Special.)—One of the most successful affairs ever seen in the American colony here was the "Quartier Latin" evening held by the American Art Association, at which nearly every American artist here, and a great number of French artists, were present.

The programme opened with a real old-fashioned American minstrel show, which set the French guests, who had never seen anything like it, wild with enthusiasm. There is little doubt that minstrel shows by amateurs will become as much of a rage now as was the now forgotten cakewalk.

The show was followed by a "monotone" play, which also was a great success and enriched the treasury. One artist after the other came up with a crayon or a pencil or some kind of brush and made a lightning sketch, landscape, caricature, or anything else, and the sketches were put up for auction immediately afterward. The auctioneer was exchanging clothes temporarily with the concierge.

WIFE RESCUED FROM OGRE

Old Romance Re-enacted in Irish Country House.

LONDON, June 15.—(Special.)—Quite in the style of the old romances, a distressed lady has been rescued from an ogre's castle, where she was immured and was in fear for her life.

The lady was the widow of an Irish peer and the "ogre" her second husband. Since her marriage a few years ago, the man has shown himself a tyrant, shutting her in lonely country houses and forbidding her to see her friends.

KAISER'S TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Reaches All Parts of Palace—Limit on Ringing Him Up.

BERLIN, June 15.—(Special.)—Like the American business man, the Kaiser believes in the telephone as an aid to business. He has just had a new and elaborate private telephone system installed in the palace, by which he can communicate with Chancellor von Buelow, the various government departments, army headquarters, etc. Hitherto his only private telephone connected him with the Emperor's apartments.

LONDON'S BIG BILL FOR TEA

Everybody Drinks It and Caterers Make Big Dividends.

LONDON, June 15.—(Special.)—London's business, it may be said with some truth, is largely run on cups of tea. There is no more profitable trade than the tea-shop business in the City of London, where the consumption of tea and coffee, especially tea, is enormous. It has enabled Lyons & Co., the great catering firm which has tea-shops everywhere in London, to pay 40 per cent on its ordinary shares and to reap a profit of about $1,000,000. On an average, Lyons opens a new depot in London every month.

KAISER DISPLAYS HIS WARES

Advertises Own Pottery by Exhibit in Store Window.

BERLIN, June 15.—(Special.)—The versatile Kaiser is now displaying his aptitude for business. To advertise his pottery works at Kadenen, where artistic terra cotta and majolica ware is manufactured, he is making a special display at a small shop in Berlin.

COLONIST RATES CENTRAL FEATURE

Will Figure Largely in Proceedings of the Development League.

STATE TO BE ADVERTISED

Delegations Representing Nearly Every Commercial Organization in Oregon Will Attend Portland Convention June 20.

Judging from advices being received by Secretary Richardson, the Oregon Development League convention will be thoroughly representative and there will be big delegations from all sections of the state.

The presidents, secretaries and executive chairmen of the different bodies, and others who take an active interest in publicity and the advancement of the state, will meet in the convention room of the Portland Commercial Club Thursday evening, June 20.

At least 100 well-known business men of Portland will act as a reception committee and be present at the Marquam Grand Theater 8:30 p. m., Friday, June 21, on the opening of the convention. The Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, Manufacturers' Association and officers of the rose show will have special delegations present to receive the delegates from other parts of the state.

A unique feature of this reception is in the hands of Messrs. T. W. B. Jordan, F. E. Beach and S. M. Luders, who expect to have every member of the recent business men's excursion through Oregon and into Idaho present to meet those who were so kind to them on their recent trip. Badges for the reception committee and the delegates will be ready in the lobby of the Marquam Grand Theater at 10 o'clock registration so that a complete record may be kept of the delegates from the different points.

Features of Convention.

The central feature and dominant thought of the proceedings of the Oregon Development League convention will be the colonist rates and the system of advertising and co-operation with the railroads, through which they can get the best possible returns, and each and every member of the commercial and industrial bodies of the state are making these colonist rates which begin September 1 and continue until October 31, the mainspring of their advancement.

In the absence of T. E. Wilcox, president of the league, Hon. E. L. Smith, of Hood River, the only ex-president, will preside.

A rare treat will be given on Friday evening when it is hoped that the First Presbyterian Church will be filled to its capacity with visitors from all sections of the state to hear an organ recital by Edgar E. Cousins. All are welcome. There will be no admission fee and there will be room for the delegates and their friends.

As an instance of the character of the programme, President B. F. Johnson, of the Benton County Citizens' League, will tell the visitors from over the state just how his organization was able to secure 5000 inquiries about the resources of Benton County, and something about the number of people who have been citizens of that country during the past two years.

President Loggie, of the North Bend Chamber of Commerce, will briefly relate his experience in advertising Oregon in a trip over the United States, not overlooking the fact that the two largest towns in the Coos Bay district, Marshfield and North Bend, succeeded in raising $14,000 for advertising purposes.

Good Work at Ashland.

The work done at the depot at Ashland and the results achieved will be given in detail by Captain M. F. Eggleston, president of the Ashland Commercial Club, telling as well how they went to work to get up their all-year-round show of products, and the results of this kind of exploitation.

A question box will be placed in the body of the convention giving all an opportunity to make any inquiry desired, as to advertising. Every paper delivered will be discussed, and it is expected that the visitors from over the state who have made a success of their business will be so plain and direct that every man present will be benefited. Oregon has as much ability in this line as the rest of the union, and it is the purpose of the Oregon Development League convention to develop that talent and make it possible for the state to be better known by introducing practical, economical, common sense ideas, that can be handled by every community.

Direct and simple methods in advertising is a subject that can be handled by every man, and then discussed. Community advertising that can be secured without cost is another feature the convention will discuss. It is the desire of the league, in fact, to get the ideas of practical men and give all portions of the state the benefit of those ideas.

DRIVEN OFF BY CRUISER

Armed With Gun Raises Dispute and Is Arrested.

COLVILLE, Wash., June 15.—H. W. Jackson, a timber cruiser, whose principal business is the locating of set-upters upon Government land, was yesterday driven off the land by a cutter and brought to Colville. The complaint was lodged against Jackson by a man named Johnson, who alleges that the defendant made an assault upon him with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

The evidence submitted by Johnson is to the effect that Jackson brought a man to the land where Johnson lives, evidently for the purpose of locating him there, but departed when he found the land had been previously claimed. Shortly afterward the defendant returned with a gun and drove the complaining witness from the land. Johnson claims that his brother came to his rescue and can corroborate his story.
