A TECHNICAL ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A Technical, a well known Portland man, said to be heir to a large estate in Switzerland, attempted to leap overboard from a steamer en route to San Francisco for Tacoma last Friday morning, but was caught and restrained. He was kept on the vessel until she reached Tacoma, when he was turned over to the police. He temporarily worked for C. F.
Pflieger of this city. Drink is said to have caused a mental derangement.

WILL REJECT ALL BIDS.—In the judgment of the Board of Control of the Catholic Young Men's Club, of St.
Mary's Parish, Alameda, the bids for the clubhouse are too high and will be rejected. The highest was $11,000. The clubhouse was expected to cost $10,000, and the bids were somewhat discouraging, but the directors hope for better results next time. The building is to be a frame affair. The concrete basement is completed.

DEATH A MYSTERY.—Frank Hubbard, of Dallas, Polk County, died at a local hospital Friday morning from unknown causes. The body was shipped to his former home for burial. He died in great pain. The skin on his abdomen and back looked as if it had been scalded, but if he knew how he was injured, he refused to tell. He was a timber cruiser, aged 40 years.

CONFESSES TWO MURDERS
McNulty Surrenders and Is Identified by Fellow-Townsmen.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—The man who yesterday delivered himself into the hands of the police, admitting that he had committed a murder in Yates-ville, Pa., has been identified as James McNulty, of Yatesville, Pa., by George Martin, formerly a resident of that city. Several years ago, according to Martin, a young man sitting in company with a lady under a tree was approached from behind and shot in the back. The young man died, but before expiring recognized the man who shot him and who subsequently fled the country.

McNulty also confessed to the killing of Kate McCreath in Yatesville. He said that he had persuaded his sister to go to a fortune-teller who predicted his father's death. The latter was accidentally killed a short time after.

Portland heretofore.

If you want a delightful experience—one that you'll talk about and tell your friends about—try a dinner at Sargent's.

Colville Will Celebrate.
COLVILLE, Wash., June 15.—The people of Colville have succeeded in raising about $500 to be used in the celebration has been chosen president of the day; Sheriff W. H. Graham will be grand marshal, and W. S. Gilbert, of Spokane, will deliver the oration. This will be the first celebration in Colville for four years, and it is proposed to make it a
