HIS LIFE ALONE KEEPS THE PEACE

But Francis Joseph Is Expected to Die in a Very Few Months.

THEN DOMAINS WILL SPLIT

German Organ Gloats Over Probable Dissolution of Austro-Hungarian Union and Bids for the Throne for the Kaiser's Son.

BERLIN, June 22.—(Special).—I have very reliable information from Vienna that Emperor Francis Joseph's state of health gives cause for great alarm and that he is in fact not expected to live many months longer. His sudden departure from Buda-Pest is ascribed to this fact, which is carefully kept secret from the Austrian and German press. Not a word has been said in any of the German papers, but that something has leaked out is evident from an article in the Berlin Tageblatt, which deals with the all-important question: "What will be the future of the Austro-Hungarian empire when Emperor Francis Joseph dies," which is being widely discussed here today.

The paper predicts that the union between Austria and Hungary will be dissolved with or without bloodshed. It paints the future of Hungary as an independent state in the darkest colors and prophesies all kinds of troubles which may involve several European states in war. Eszka, the Tageblatt says, will probably not interfere, being too busy with its own revolution, and for the same reason Rumania will probably hold aloof. Serbia, on the other side, is apt to cause trouble by taking revenge for the loss of Bosnia and because a war might strengthen King Peter's dynasty, if he should be successful. A coalition of Rumania, Bulgaria and Serbia is possible and apt to create considerable disturbance, which might call for intervention on the part of the powers.

TWO DREAMS ARE VANISHED

Morgan's Wealth Secures Painting Which Figured in Battle Revolt.

BERLIN, June 22.—(Special).—J. Pierpont Morgan is said to have entered into negotiations for the purchase of a Wagner painting by the famous German artist Kaubach, now in the possession of a Russian Baroness von Breunern, but which was once the property of the mad King Ludwig of Bavaria. The history of the painting is exceedingly romantic. King Ludwig was a great admirer of Lohengrin, to such an extent that he has often been shot by the Russian authorities without seeing his dream of a republic realized and the Baroness, who is in need of money, is about to give up the painting to the American Croesus.

KAISER TO ADVISE THE CZAR

Two Sovereigns Will Meet on Visit to Copenhagen.

BERLIN, June 22.—(Special).—On July 2 Emperor William and the Empress will leave Berlin to visit King Frederick of Denmark. The fact that the Kaiser will meet at the Danish court the Czar of Russia as well as the Dowager Empress gives rise to the belief that the two emperors will confer upon political questions of the utmost importance. It is well known that the Czar has repeatedly sought the advice of the Kaiser in questions concerning the governing of his unruly Empire and until some six months ago couriers passed almost daily between Potsdam and Tsarskoe Solo, but recently this way of exchanging personal communications was given up because of the adverse criticism of the press, that complained because Germany was being used to "do boot black service for the Czar."

MAKES WAR ON NUDE IN ART

Father Ignatius Says England Is Returning to Paganism.

LONDON, June 22.—(Special).—Father Ignatius, Prior of Blanthony Abbey, has joined in the fierce controversy that has been raging over the question of the propriety or otherwise of living statuary. Preaching in London, he attacked not the "living statues" themselves, but their example, the nude in art, which he denounced as a sign that England is returning to paganism. "The day is drawing near," said Father Ignatius, "when we shall find England a pagan country. Our art in our morals, our pictures and our statues is being re-paganized. I have not a word to say against those who appear nude in public. They say they do it in the interests of art and I must confess it must be a very great sacrifice for them to do it for art. But if that is art, is not a Christian, take hold of it and pull a razor across its throat. "Living statuary is all right so long as it does not degrade an English woman. I cannot say a Christian woman, for England is not Christian. What is warring against is a new national evil. "The nude in art is diabolical and pagan, and you must have nothing to do with it. In fact, it is a living one shrinks from discussing, shall I keep silent? No; the question is one of national modesty. "There is no high art in stripping clothes off. Nude art ought to be swept away from the walls of the Academy, and it ought to be swept out of the country."

NEW KIND OF ELECTRIC LIGHT

Made of Incandescent Air and Has Breathing Apparatus.

LONDON, June 21.—(Special).—An entirely new and wonderful form of electric light is now used to illumine the courtyard of the Savoy Hotel, the great American rendezvous in London. It is the invention of a young American, McFarlan Moore, who has perfected his system after 12 years' work. The light, which resembles daylight in color, is produced by making rarefied air incandescent by an alternating current of electricity. The air is contained in a vacuum tube, 200 feet long, with its ends meeting in a terminal box containing a motor-generator. The tube glows with a strong, steady light, but it would flicker and go out if the air was not constantly renewed by an automatic valve, by which it practically "breathes." When the resistance in the tube is lowered by the exhaustion of the air by electrical action, a minute cone of porous carbon is lifted automatically from the mercury in which it rests, and through this porous cone fresh air passes. As soon as the interior resistance is restored the cone sinks again, and the covering of mercury prevents the entry of more air. Thus the supply of air is kept up by this novel breathing apparatus.

RECORD PRICE FOR OLD BOOKS

American Collector Tries to Duplicate Shakespeare Collections.

LONDON, June 22.—(Special).—The boom in old books reached a climax at a sale at Sotheby's auction room, when record prices for Shakespeareana were reached. An almost unique quarto of the first part of "Henry VI," printed in 1594, was bought for an American collector by Mr. Albert Jackson for $850. This American collector is credited with a determination to form a library uniting replicas of the gems of the British Museum and the Bodleian Library, Oxford. Some years ago he secured the best of a group of quartos found at Great Missenden in 1905, including the quarto "Richard III," which belonged to Admiral Sir William Penn, father of the founder of Pennsylvania, for which he paid $8750.

The agent for the wealthy bibliophile also secured for $950 a copy of the rare play, "Ardor of Faversham," attributed to Shakespeare, and published in 1592. It is merely a black-letter pamphlet of 37 leaves, but it was sold at the rate of $143.50 a leaf. Twelve thousand dollars was paid for a Shakespeare first folio at this record sale, in which the total of prices was nearly $70,000.

PRINCESS IS BREAKING DOWN

Victoria of England Ordered Off on Another Yachting Cruise.

LONDON, June 22.—(Special).—King Edward and Queen Alexandra are despondent about the health of their daughter, Princess Victoria, which is going from bad to worse. Although she has only just returned from a prolonged tour abroad, she has not received much benefit, and is not to remain in England for any long period. Princess Victoria will soon start for another yachting cruise, joining her sister, the Princess Royal (Duchess of Fife), who herself has recently recovered from a severe illness. The Duke of Fife has chartered the Duke of Sutherland's steam yacht, and the royal party will make a prolonged cruise around the picturesque coast of Northern Scotland during the summer.

The further trip for Princess Victoria was ordered after she had been examined by two specialists on her return from her Continental tour with the Queen, but extreme precautions have been taken to prevent the true seriousness of her state of health becoming generally known. An alarming fact about her health is that she has lately developed epileptic symptoms.

GLADDENS ARTIST'S HEART

Lawson Buys Ten Pictures of Fontainebleau Scenery.

PARIS, June 21.—(Special).—Thomas W. Lawson, who has been making a tour of Europe purchasing a good deal of statuary and numbers of pictures in Rome, has just made one young painter's heart glad by acting as the enlightened patron to his budding genius. On his way to Paris by automobile, Mr. Lawson lunched at Fontainebleau at a hotel where there were a number of pretty studies of the forest and neighborhood hanging on the walls. Mr. Lawson inquired about these works and found they were the work of a New York young artist named Laurence Mazzanovitch, who has a studio at Moret sur Loing, near the forest. The young artist was actually on the premises and was sent for, and to his astonishment the well-known financier bought one after another of the pictures at the price asked by the artist until he had secured ten, and left Mazzanovitch blushing with pride and pleasure. The pictures are very much admired by Mr. Lawson's friends in Paris.

France Has a Carrie Nation.

PARIS, June 22.—(Special).—At Amiens M. Noel Vitall has just carried out a feat reminding one of the exploits in bar-smashing of the notorious Mrs. Carry Nation, and which if she should happen to see it might be calculated to bring a blush of shame to her cheek. M. Vitall, like the American lady, is an anti-drink apostle. Entering a freight car he saw a number of barrels of wine, which so infuriated his teetotal mind that he was determined to destroy it all at once. He therefore with astonishing energy rolled the barrels one by one off the car, and the 700 litres of wine poured out on to the ground. Taken before the police commissary, M. Vitall explained that he was an anti-drink advocate and that every time "I have a chance to practice what I preach I do so and deal a blow at the fiend alcohol. I would rather see them smashed and poured on the ground than have my fellow-creatures besot themselves with the stuff."

LEAGUE WILL ASK HARRIMAN'S HELP

Memorial Urges Wall Street Magnate to Build Railroads in Oregon.

ALL MEMBERS WILL SIGN

Representatives of Development Organization Will Also Seek Personal Interviews—Discuss Government Reclamation Work.

A personal interview with E. H. Harriman is desired by the members of the Oregon Development League, should the railroad magnate carry out his plan to visit the Pacific Coast. Yesterday at the concluding session of the League this was voted the most direct means of bringing to the attention of Mr. Harriman the need of extending railroad construction in this state, not only for assistance in developing the state, but as a judicious investment for the railroad magnate and his associates.

At yesterday's meeting of the Development League, L. Smith, of Hood River, vice-president of the League, put through a motion directing the president and secretary to prepare a memorial to Mr. Harriman setting forth the natural resources and the undeveloped areas of Southeastern and Southwestern Oregon, and the extreme necessity for a speedy extension of railroads into those sections. The memorial is to be signed by the officers and representatives of the 72 organizations of the League.

This action, suggested by Mr. Smith, is to be followed up by a personal interview by the members of the different commercial bodies with Mr. Harriman when he visits the Coast.

Vice-President Smith said the coming meeting of the National Irrigation Congress at Sacramento will be most important, particularly to Oregon. He referred to unsuccessful attempts to divert the large fund which has been secured from the semi-arid states for other purposes and suggested that a strong protest should be made before the Congress against any measure looking to diverting any portion of the Reclamation Fund for any other purpose than the reclamation of arid lands. He also declared that an appeal should be made through the press of the state and all commercial bodies urging that as large a delegation as possible be sent from Oregon to the Sacramento Congress.

A committee consisting of E. L. Smith, of Hood River; A. Bennett, Irrigum; M. Thielens, Salem; M. F. Eggleston, Ashland, and J. H. Blower, Falls City, was named to prepare a suitable resolution embodying the points raised by Mr. Smith. This committee reported the following resolution which was adopted unanimously:

Whereas the coming meeting of the National Irrigation Congress, to be held at Sacramento, California, in September, and of which the Governor of Oregon is president, is an event of paramount importance to the State of Oregon, and whereas this state contributes more to the Reclamation Fund than any other state in the Union, and is for that and other reasons more deeply interested in the subject of irrigation than any other state, be it Resolved, That the Oregon Development League, embracing 72 commercial and industrial bodies, appropriae a suitable resolution embodying the points raised by Mr. Smith. This committee reported the following resolution which was adopted unanimously:

The importance of a thorough exploitation of the colonist rates during September and October was fully discussed, and a motion by Mr. Thielens, of Salem, was adopted, directing Secretary Richardson to draft a suitable resolution to be placed before the schools, the churches, the newspapers and the people generally, urging the extensive advertising of the rates.

A vote of thanks was tendered the management of the Marquam Theater for the use of the building as a place of meeting, and to the newspapers of the state for their assistance in furthering the work of the league. Mr. Thielens, delegate from the Capital City, said that no other meeting of the Development League had been of so much benefit to him. The talks on practical advertising and the interchange of ideas, he said, had been most instructive. Salem, he explained, had been undecided as to the best methods of advertising, but since attending the convention he felt that he had obtained a good idea as to how to proceed with his future work.

W. W. Wiley, Mayor of Tillamook, spoke of the benefit he had derived from the convention, and detailed the method pursued by his city and county in advertising the resources of Tillamook. He explained that the most effective work in this direction had been done by the public schools of Spruce, where every child had been furnished with Oregon Development League letterheads and also with Tillamook Development League stationery, on which to write to acquaintances in other states. As a result, he said, the school population had been doubled in the last few months, eight new families having located in the district as a direct consequence of the correspondence of the pupils.

Delegates from all sections of the state heartily endorsed the movement in Portland for organizing a permanent livestock association.

How Ashland Advertises. Captain M. F. Eggleston, president of the Ashland Commercial Club, outlined Ashland's way of advertising, dwelling especially on the exhibit that
