

Keep Your Teeth in Such Condition

That Your Smile Is a Joy Looked For and Appreciated

DR. B. E. WRIGHT.

The greatest of all charms—perfect teeth—can be kept perfect for life with just a little care.

All teeth are not perfect, but we can work wonders with very imperfect teeth and make them strong and presentable.

A nicely-fitted bridge will remove that hollow from the cheek and prove as serviceable as natural teeth.

Crown and bridge work, inlays that it is hardly possible to detect from the natural tooth structure; perfect-fitting plates, and all work known to the dental profession, performed with skill and gentleness.

Mattresses From the Maker

We maintain a workshop, not because we can make mattresses cheaper than we can buy them, but because the mattresses which we can buy do not generally give satisfaction, as they are too cheaply made.
We have a large mattress machine and would be pleased to show it in operation to anyone.
Most of our mattresses are made to order because mattresses carried in stock and piled up in large quantities flatten out and lose their springy qualities.
Prices range from $1.50 to $30.00.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO BE REMODELED

EDIFICE AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN ALTERATIONS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED.
Extensive alterations, practically amounting to the building of a new edifice, are soon to be made on the First United Presbyterian Church at the southwest corner of Sixth and Montgomery streets. A large addition to the church is to be built, for which estimates are already being made and which will cost $15,000. The accompanying illustration is a perspective sketch of the building as it will look when the alterations are completed. The present church will form the small wing at the left. The addition will contain the main auditorium and will seat 400 people, several restrooms and a kitchen. The present church will be divided into Sunday school and classrooms. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy November 1. The plans have been drawn by Joseph Jacobberger.

C. E. S. Wood Finds a Champion.

PORTLAND, July 13.—(To the Editor.)—In yesterday's issue of the Oregonian, H. H. Abbott has a reply to a recent letter of C. E. S. Wood on "Nature and Race."
I take no exception to the reply. It proves nothing, therefore, it is for me to disprove nothing. But what seems to me to be a matter of concern is the general attitude of meaningless talk indulged in by people on problems of philosophical nature. When Mr. Wood says: "It is ideas, not personalities, that we ought to concern ourselves about," Mr. Abbott replies: "That ideas emanate from persons"—a startling discovery, no doubt, but which, however, has nothing to do with Mr. Wood's statement.
I do not wish to defend Mr. Wood. First, because there is no defense needed; and second, even if it were, Mr. Wood could do it better than I can. It is more his business than mine, but what, on earth, Mr. Abbott means to prove by suppositively contradicting Mr. Wood, I with my 48 ounces of brain matter, fail to see. "Words, words, words." Such attempts at settlement of fundamental problems are apt to bring more heat than light into the discussion and ought invariably to be avoided.
