

UNDOUBTEDLY the exodus to the various beach and mountain resorts has begun in earnest, accounting for the dearth of social happenings, which is in such marked contrast to the week previous. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth were distinguished visitors on Tuesday, who spent but a few hours in Portland, so consequently there was no attempt at entertaining. It was the original intention of Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, to travel to Honolulu, but thus far they have been able to escape the cordially disposed public. On the same day Vice-President Fairbanks arrived and was immediately made the guest at a successful banquet given by the Portland Press Club, following that at Seaside with the Astoria Commercial Club as hosts. The latter function marked the first appearance of Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer since her prolonged indisposition, who, after much persuasion, consented to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner," and was personally congratulated by the Vice-President for the brilliant manner in which it was sung. An unofficial engagement on the Vice-President's list for this month is a reunion in July of the Fairbanks family, comprising 5000 families, all claiming descent from Jonathan Fairbanks, who arrived in this country in 1833 and settled in Dedham, Mass. The celebration is held annually at the old Dedham homestead. Mrs. Fairbanks has been ordered by her physician to a complete rest on the Atlantic Coast after her strenuous season in Washington.

MISS LOUISE AND KATHERINE BALDWIN OF OTTAWA, CANADA NIECES OF MR. ROBERT SMITH WHO ARE SPENDING THE SUMMER HERE

MISS HELEN LADD DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. J. WESLEY LADD

MISS NAN RUSSELL, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. GEORGE T. RUSSELL IN HER PAGE COSTUME

Mrs. Lee Hoffman was hostess on Thursday evening at a smart dancing party for the younger set, which was in compliment to her niece, the Misses Gertrude and Alice Robbins, and for Miss Theodora Beach, of Boston. About 50 guests of Miss Marjorie and Mr. Hawley Hoffman were asked. The music and drawing-rooms were used for dancing and the lawn enclosed with canvas and strung with gaily-colored lanterns. The gallery served as a rendezvous during dances.

Mrs. M. E. Guerin, little Miss Mary Guerin and Miss Helen Guerin are to return to Portland this week from a trip abroad. Mrs. Guerin and her little daughter are to again occupy apartments at the Portland Hotel, while Miss Helen Guerin and her father are to tour the Orient. Their recent European trip, though brief, has been pleasant, the greater portion of their stay being spent in Paris and with friends in Germany. On their former visit here the Guerin were extended many attentions. Miss Guerin is a handsome girl, with excellent taste in gowning.

Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Miss Sallie Lewis and Miss Carrie Flanders, after a delightful sojourn at Bannock and at Lake Louise, a beautiful spot near the springs, sailed on the 10th for Alaska. Apropos of Lake Louise, Mr. Rodney Gilman was another Portland visitor at that place, where he went as a delegate for the Canadian mountain-climbing meet.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kollock were dinner hosts on Friday evening, having Miss Edna Houghton, Miss Helen Osborne, Miss Claire Houghton, Marion Dolph, John Carson and Walter Beebe.

Mr. Frank Dekum is to leave the early portion of the week for New York to commence rehearsals for "The Spider's Web," and is to be accompanied East by Franklin Jones, who has spent the entire winter here, where he has proven popular. Mr. Jones is also gifted historically and until his visit here met with flattering success. This coming season he is to have the leading juvenile role with Max Fisman in "The Man on the Box."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and their two cunning sons have gone to the seashore for the Summer months. Mrs. Edward Cookingham, her two sons, Preston and Holt and her niece, Miss Patience Hostetter, are occupying a cottage at the beach. Mrs. Hostetter is a daughter of Mr. Hostetter, of Boston, who will be pleasantly remembered as Miss May Whitehouse.

has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Minott at Mrs. Rodney Gilman's residence, left last week with Mrs. Minott for an Alaskan trip. Upon their return from the North Mrs. Brewer will continue her visit for a short time.

Little Miss Helen Ladd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, who recently returned from an interesting trip to the Orient, kept while there a diary, which, characteristic of a child of tender years, is delightfully naive. Following are a few excerpts showing her roseate views of life:

Sunday, April 14—Left Portland at 2 o'clock Sunday to go to Japan. When we got on the train we had a lovely time until at 3 o'clock, when the tragedy was heard that the train had knocked into a woman. She was 18 years of age. Of course they stopped the train and a number of people got off. She had struck the car with her head, for she was dead and dim.

Monday—I woke up this morning and went down to breakfast at the Savoy Hotel and had a nice breakfast. We had a scare at breakfast, for mother read in the paper that the Empress of Japan left this morning. Of course father went out and telephoned to see sure, but for the paper was wrong.

Tuesday—Vancouver Hotel. We had a nice breakfast in the Vancouver Hotel and after that we went for a drive around the park and all through nature scenery. We went on board the Empress, where we have two very comfortable rooms.

Wednesday—When we got on board we found that we had a quarantined train. We went to Williams Head, where the doctor vaccinated us all. Everything had to be fumigated, ourselves included. All of the officers are lovely to me, Mr. D. especially. There is a dear pussy on board which I play with, and the nice part is he has taken a liking to me. The name of the cabin boy is Abdul, and he is very nice. The officers and some other men played hockey this afternoon and it was very interesting.

Thursday—We are to pick up some passengers today at Victoria. Every morning on the steamer we have bouillon at 11 and tea at 4, which I both revel in. Today I am as usual, as we had a bad storm today.

Tuesday—It snowed today quite a little and we saw the Alaskan Islands. Today I talked to the sailors on our deck. I knew them a long while, but I never had an interview with them. Their names are Albert and Sidney, and they are ever so nice.

Monday—We had our bath too early today on account of the library clock. They forgot to set it back 30 minutes. These are the types of officers and in order how I like them. Mr. D. handsome and my favorite. Dr. X, good-looking and nice. Mr. H, good-looking and nice. Mr. H, good-looking and nice.

Wednesday—This morning on deck mother came up to me and told me, very softly, that two more Chinamen had broken out with smallpox. So they sent for the doctor, who came and gave us the decision. He said that we could get off tonight, but that we had to be fumigated, so everybody had to put on old clothes because the fumigating would ruin them. So mother put on her blue wrapper, but I kept on my own dress, but changed my shoes to bedroom slippers. Two other ladies wrapped up in blankets of their beds. If there was ever a funny procession, I would like to see it. I laughed till I fell down. I was very happy, but a little sad, because I knew that I was going to leave Mr. D. and Doctor C. and all the other dear officers. It was the most beautiful place that I ever saw. Quarantine Island. Soon we were called for our bath, and after it they gave us kimonos. I had cherry blossoms in my hair, so I did look like a Japanese. Soon it was time to get off, and I nearly cried when I said good-bye to Mr. D. We got in another little launch to go to Yokohama. We had our first ride in a jinrikisha. It was very nice.

Wednesday—We are going shopping this morning to see how close we are to diamonds. We have felt very uneasy today for the officers on board the Empress. After we went up the hundred steps we had tea in a dear little tea house. We had to take off our shoes and sit on little cushions Japanese fashion. There were four little Japanese girls and they were so nice. They examined mother's hat and my things, too. One of them, the prettiest, could speak English, German and French. Then we went home.

Thursday—Today I do not feel quite so lonesome, but I would love to see any of the officers. We took a drive through the park of Yokohama; it was beautiful. In Tokyo we saw the Emperor and Empress. They are very dignified-looking people. Today we went through a lot of temples and saw Japanese girls dance. We also saw the sacred pine tree, which is 3000 years old. We saw the Crown Prince's palace, which is more beautiful and richer than the Emperor's. The ceiling was inlaid with gold with five polished beams put together with masses of bronze.

Saturday—We enjoyed a very pleasant trip from Kobe to Omouchi, where we slept on the floor in Japanese fashion. A woman today gave me a dish of wheat to feed some pigeons and I put it on my hat and seven or eight dear little pigeons came and ate it. There is a sacred fire burning on the mountain which has never been allowed to go out. There is a strange custom on this island—neither birth nor death is allowed to take place on it.

Saturday, May 25—We saw the palace where the Shogun lived 300 years ago. We went into some temples where the floor was red and black lacquer and wood carved all over the walls. Father and I had to pay seven yen to get in, but it was worth it. We took chairs to Kifuri waterfall. In the afternoon mother, father and I saw a Japanese juggler. We went to a sacred procession that is held annually every year. We went to a Japanese theater, which was very nice, but odd. They are very great people (to my ideas) to eat and drink between the acts. Queer-looking boys in blue bring tea, rice, etc.

Thursday—We were morning for Miyanosita and a lovely place it is. The carved bronze and ivory are my delight.

Friday—On our way to Hakone we passed some sulphur springs. We saw a wrestling match. It was very fine. The largest men I ever saw, and they had their hair done up as ladies wear it. The champion, Kwanon, weighed 300 pounds.

Wednesday, June 12, Yokohama—We went shopping to many stores and bought many things.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Fleischer, Miss Fleischer are at Seaside for a period of five weeks.

Miss Katherine Brown, of San Francisco, who has been the guest for a fortnight of Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, is at present a house guest of Mrs. Walter Burrell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sherwood, of San Francisco, visited here the early portion of the week en route to California from Cambridge, Mass., where Mr. Sherwood attended the 35th anniversary of his class at Harvard.

Invitations are out for a tea to be given on Wednesday afternoon by the Misses Catherine and Louise Emmons for their cousins, the Misses Emmons, of Detroit. On Friday Misses Catherine and Louise Emmons were hostesses at a prettily appointed luncheon in honor of their visitor, Mrs. E. E. Emmons. Miss Marguerite Hume, Miss Maida Hart, Miss Vida Reed, Miss Belle Ogilvie, of Berkeley, and Miss Louise Carey.

Mrs. A. A. Wright and children are domiciled at the North Beach cottage. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bowers frequently visit them over the week end.

Pictures appear on today's page of Miss Katherine and Miss Louise Baldwin, of Ottawa, Canada, nieces of Mr. Robert Smith. Both of the girls have already proven popular, they are exceedingly attractive and have the additional charm of cleverness, both possessing splendid voices.

Miss Harriet Lane, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Harry Lane, has returned from the University of Oregon.

Miss Florence Pappello, of Fort Bliss, Texas, who is a guest of the Misses Wright, has had a most considerable entertaining of an informal nature. Miss Pappello is an army girl, a daughter of Major Pappello, of the Twenty-fifth Infantry.

Miss Edna Shean, of San Francisco, is spending a month the guest of Miss Alice Sanbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Simon, who for many years have resided at the Hotel Portland, are at present visiting in Salt Lake City. Upon their return they will occupy the residence of Mrs. Leroy Parker, on King street, who leaves this Fall for Europe.

Mrs. Edwards, of Hay Creek, the attractive English matron who has been a guest of Mrs. Walter Burrell, is now visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smith, as is Mr. Edwards, who arrived last week.

Miss Edna Irvine, of Corvallis, Or., who for the past year has appeared in the production of "The Other Girl," Miss Irvine is well known here, having visited on several occasions. Mrs. George Wentworth, of Miss Irvine's son, Miss Irvine is said to be most talented in her profession, and her chosen career is being watched with interest by her many friends.

A few girls were asked by Mrs. Herbert Nichols on Tuesday to come informally to tea and meet Miss Isabella Bryan, of Virginia, her sister. During the Lewis and Clark Exposition, Miss Isabella Bryan, Nichols, then Miss Fatsy Bryan, spent a year here with their uncle, Mr. Wirt Minor, returning to Virginia for Mrs. Nichols' wedding. Those asked to tea were Miss Leslie Knapp, Miss Leslie Smith, Miss Mildred Nichols, Miss Veda Houghton, Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Margaret Morrison, Miss Dorothy Morrison, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Margaret Walter, Miss Ruth Cranston, Miss Matguerie Osborne, Miss Carolyn Burns, Miss Helen Bates, Miss Helen Osborne, Miss Alice Smith, Miss Marguerite Labbe and Miss Frances Wilson.

The engagement of Mr. Lansing Stout to Miss Antoinette Walden, of Oregon City, is announced. The wedding will take place Wednesday, July 31.

Mr. Edward Dekum, who is visiting Mr. Adolph Dekum, to leave later for a trip to Europe. Mr. Dekum has for some years lived in Honolulu, where he has extended many hospitalities to all Portland visitors. His last visit was during the Fair, and his trip this year was taken to be with his brother, Mr. Frank Dekum, whom he has not seen for some time.

Judge and Mrs. O'Day have a charming guest in the person of Miss Vergilia Vogue, who is to be with them for some weeks, as is her brother, Mr. Malcolm Vogue, of New York City. Miss Vogue is the daughter of a noted engineer who is at present engaged in building the road from San Francisco to Salt Lake. She is a tall and striking brunette who has inherited the intellectuality of her father and, having lived many years abroad, is consequently a brilliant linguist and is talented musically.

Mrs. S. Penoyer, wife of the late Governor Penoyer, has recently purchased a bungalow near that of her daughter's residence, Mrs. George F. Russell, on Broadway street. On today's page appears a picture of little Miss Nan Russell, who appeared at the King's page in the recent production of the "House That Jack Built."

Mrs. George Good, Miss Frances Lewis and her guest, Miss Gogswell, spent a few days last week just past at Oak Bay Hotel, Victoria.

Miss Lisa Wood, who is constantly being entertained at country homes, is at present a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Drake at their attractive country home at Bend, Oregon.

Dr. Henrietta E. Moore, of the University of Idaho, is a guest of her sister, Miss Bertha Moore, at the Hill Hotel.

A jolly party composed of Mrs. John Gill, Miss Edna Gill, Miss Marion Jackson, Miss Cora Jackson, Mr. Franklin Jones and Mr. Frank Dekum, Tuesday took a horseback ride from Seaside to Elk Creek, going there for a picnic luncheon.

Mrs. Fred Jacobs, of San Francisco and Portland, has as her house guests, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Adams, of Kansas City and her brother, Mr. William Henry.

Miss Fannie Winans, of Walla Walla, who has been the guest of Miss Clara Reed, the bride elect, is now visiting with Mrs. D. W. Adams, at their Riverside Drive residence. Miss Winans was a former St. Helen's Hall girl.

Mrs. J. G. Gauld and Miss Isabella Gauld, who are visiting in Yamhill County, are to remain for another fortnight.

T. T. Strain was host at a luncheon last week at the Hotel Moore, Seaside, having as his guests Miss Marion Jackson, Mrs. Cora Jackson, Mr. Franklin Jones, Mr. Frank Dekum, Captain Hopkins of the Charleston and Lieutenant Winston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Judge have anchored their houseboat, Tic-Tac, for the Summer months adjoining the Rock Island Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nickerson are entertaining Theodore Nickerson, of Boston. Mrs. Nickerson will remain a few weeks, going later to visit her daughter in Philadelphia.

Dr. Beatrice Granier and Miss Adele Granier have returned from the Puget Sound cities and Victoria, where they visited with their sister, Mrs. J. A. Hewitt.

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Pantan are contemplating a trip abroad. As yet they have not definitely settled the day for sailing but the tour is to be an extended one lasting over a year and will combine both pleasure and business as Dr. Pantan is to continue his medical studies, while Mrs.

Miss May Anderson, of Minneapolis, is

Advertisement for H. B. LITT featuring 'CLOSING OUT PRICES' and 'Great Mid-Summer Sale Special-Cloak and Suit Dept.' with various clothing items and prices.

Being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, Jr., at their country home at Dallas. A wedding of interest to Oregonians celebrated July 16 in Fairfield, Iowa, was that of Miss Nell Israel Junkin to Dr. John Archibald Stewart. Dr. Stewart has lived here for some years where he is both prominent socially and as a physician. After September the 15th, Dr. Stewart and his bride will reside in their attractive new home on East Twenty-first street.

Advertisement for H. B. LITT featuring 'Monday and Tuesday Entire Stock of Linen Suits Half Price' and 'Former Prices $7.50 to $75.00'.